Salesmanship, a Lecture Faint and Low in Wall St. He Might Kill Some One Wanted, More U. S. Prisons

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE

A BIG word in American business is "SALESMANSHIP."

Salesmanship distributes goods, creates a demand for more. Advertising is good salesmanship. Convincing conversation that knows when to STOP is good salesmanship.

Recently Henry Ford described Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company, in few words, as a "good salesman."

After luncheon with W. R. Hearst at the inauguration of the new Hearst newspaper building in Detroit, Mr. Ford took Mr. Hearst through the Ford factory and salesmanship was discussed.

"Swope, head of the General Electric Company is a great salesman," said Henry Ford. "That company has two wonderful men in Owen D. Young and Gerard Swope.

"Swope came here and in less than 15 minutes sold me a 140,000 horsepower turbine engine, convincing me that his company could build it for me better than I could build it myself."

TO BE a good salesman, the first thing is LISTEN.

The second thing is to TALK CONVINCINGLY.

The third and most important is to know when to STOP TALKING.

THE pulse of speculation beats faint and low in Wall Street; only 2,284,250 shares sold yesterday. Much of that selling done to "take losses" and deduct them from income tax.

This selling for income tax deduction, causing a drop in government's expected receipts, will present a problem to Secretary Mellon with his cut of $160,000,000 in taxes.

However he is used to problems and to solving them.

GONE from Wall Street for the moment is the hope of regular "10,000,000 share days," and gone the hope of stock exchange seats worth $1,000,000.

The street had one 16,000,000 share day, and sorrow. But what goes up comes down, and what goes down comes up. Brokers who keep their seats will see them worth $1,000,000.

Investors that buy stocks representing good United States properties will see prices come back and go higher.

Gamblers will suffer as gamblers always do.

CARNERA, the Italian giant, weighing 269 pounds, 6 feet 10 inches tall, is forbidden to box again, in England. They like the good natured Italian, but are afraid he might kill some man in the ring, and hurt the "noble sport."

WHAT an advertisement that will be for the Italian prize-fighting giant when he arrives in America.

Here, if you knock a man down on the sidewalk, with no gate receipts, that's a crime.

If you knock a man down and even kill him in the prize ring, with big gate receipts, and a rakeoff for the right politicians, that's "sport," and perfectly legal.

MR. MITCHELL, President Hoover's Democratic attorney general, wants $7,000,000 to build new prisons for the United States. He says the problem of prisons is the major one before the Department of Justice.

IN GREAT BRITAIN they are closing prisons, renting prison buildings for other purposes, because crime is diminishing.

It was hoped prohibition would produce such results here, only on a bigger scale. Thus far the hope is not realized.

GERMANY says Clarence Dillon, of New York, refuses to lend $100,000,000, money needed for Germany's December obligations. Germany's finance minister, Helferding, is expected to resign, and the whole cabinet with him.

UNPLEASANT for Germany, not bad news for American investors.

There are many opportunities for good investment in America now, and plenty of opportunities to spend 100,000,000 of American dollars here on work that would give employment.

We should like, of course, to oblige our German friends, but the United States comes first.

NEW YORK doesn't mean to lag behind in interesting modern crime.

Two New Yorkers were picked up yesterday, riddled with bullets, having been "taken for a ride."

"HONOR among thieves" was lacking in one case. A young Brooklynite, arrested with a partner while holding up a gasoline station, told detectives that he and another man killed one of the dead "riders" after he had won their money at dice.

After the "ride" and killing the two young murderers, according to the confession, "continued robbing taxi drivers, milk men, stores and filling stations, until caught."

FIVE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Congressman Flying Holiday Gifts to Family, Clarion County Pilot Among Dead

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Congressman William K. Kaynor (Rep.), of Massachusetts, two army fliers and two other civilians were killed today when an airplane—its cabin filled with Christmas presents the Congressman was taking home to his children in Springfield—crashed just after its takeoff from Bolling Field.

All the occupants were killed instantly. The plane, a giant trimotored Fokker, was totally demolished and the bodies buried in the twisted mass of wood, fabric and metal.

The other dead were Capt. Harry A. Dinger, of Mayport, Clarion County, Pa., the pilot; Private Waldimir Kuzna, of the Army Air Corps; Stanley V. Lowe, secretary to Kaynor, and Arthur A. McGill, of Boston, a close personal friend of the dead congressman.

It was the first airplane ride for Kaynor and Lowe.

McGill was on his way home to be married.

DAVIDSON'S OWN PLANE

The wrecked plane was one reserved for F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war in charge of aviation.

When Kaynor, a member of the House Military Committee, met Davison last night, he told of his coming trip home. Davison said he then offered to lend Kaynor his plane for the journey and the congressman accepted, inviting Lowe and McGill to accompany him.

Davison hurried to the field when informed of the crash and made a personal investigation of the wreckage.

FALLS AT TAKE-OFF

The big plane had just taken off from the field and had reached a height of about 400 feet when it seemed to hesitate and then turned downward, striking the ground with a tremendous crash.

Some of those at the field said Capt. Dinger apparently decided to make a landing while still at a

CANAL PLAN OPPOSED HERE

Senator Reed's Bill to Permit Dead-End Channel Into Youngstown Arouses Ire

Plans sponsored by Mahoning valley industrialists to build a "dead-end" canal from the Ohio River to Youngstown, O., which it is declared would put that area in competition with the Pittsburgh manufacturing district without giving this region an outlet to the lakes, have stirred intense opposition here.

Senator David A. Reed introduced a bill in the Senate calling upon the Army Board of Engineers to make a survey of the Beaver, Shenango and Mahoning rivers "with a view of securing channels to meet the demands of present and prospective commerce."

The new project would traverse the route of the Lake Erie and Ohio Canal to Youngstown and leave "up in the air" the important link between the Mahoning River and Lake Erie, according to Pittsburgh manufacturers, shippers and the local river interests.

CALLED "ONE-LEGGED"

"It is a one-legged proposition," said William H. Stevenson, chairman of the Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal Board. "It is a good leg so far as it goes, but the state of Pennsylvania cannot advocate it when we are pledged in our traditional co-operation with Ohio and the federal government to work for a canal system that will link up the Ohio and its tributaries with the lakes and the international route via the St. Lawrence River.

"A 'dead-end' canal leaves out the important terminals in the joint project which the people of Pennsylvania and Ohio have been working on for more than 30 years. The report on the feasibility and the engineering

MERGER PLAN AIDS P. R. R.

Pittsburgh's new trunk line from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic seaboard, to be formed with the Pittsburgh and West Virginia as a nucleus, will be established under the railroad consolidation plan of the Interstate Commerce Commission, details of which were forecast today by Dow, Jones & Co.

The extension of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia to Connellsville, now under construction, makes the plan physically possible.

The Western Maryland, dominated by the Baltimore and Ohio, and the Wheeling and Lake Erie, dominated by the Van Sweringen interests, and the Pittsburgh and West Virginia are alloted to the Wabash. Under the plan that system will be able to take the proposed Taplin trunk line over in its entirety and to incorporate it in its own system.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has control of the Wabash so that, unless this affiliation is broken up by the commission, the Pennsylvania will be greatly strengthened in this district.

Details of rail consolidation plan as reported worked out by Interstate Commerce Commission will be found on Page 49.

COUNTY GRANTS TAX HEARING

Citizens girded today for a new effort to keep taxes down. These were among the outstanding developments:

1—Joseph G. Armstrong, chairman of the board of county commissioners, wrote the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board and the Building Owners' and Managers' Association that a hearing would be granted next Monday at 1:30 p. m. to citizens wishing to discuss the tax situation.

2—The Real Estate Board arranged to be represented at the hearing by an imposing committee reinforced by officers of many of the trust companies of the county. The building owners will be represented by their board of directors. The BRISTOL, Pa., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—What is planned to be the largest public reception ever given a citizen of Bucks County is being prepared here by friends of United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy. It is expected to take place during the Christmas holidays. The senator is expected to return from Washington today. A luncheon was tendered Senator Grundy at Washington yesterday by Congressman Henry W. Watson, of Langhorne.

G. T. Byrne, Politician, Missing

A wide search was started today for George T. (Nipper) Byrne, 50, of 3929 Sewickley road, a well-known politician and for many years a prominent downtown saloonkeeper, who has been mysteriously missing from his home since November 22.

Michael Feeney, in charge of the Missing Persons Bureau, is personally conducting the search. The missing man's wife, Mrs. Emma Byrne, reported Mr. Byrne had several thousand dollars on his person at the time of his disappearance.

Byrne has the refreshment concessions at the county's North and South Parks. For many years he conducted a saloon at Liberty avenue and Ferry street.

MERCURY HERE GOING TO 10

Ice-covered trains from western points were straggling into Pittsburgh today from one to five hours late, after battling with cold and snow. Except in the immediate Pittsburgh district, weather conditions still were hampering both rail and highway traffic.

Traffic congestion in the Pennsylvania yards as a result of Western trains running late held up many local trains.

Likelihood that there would be a drop to 10 today and that the cold weather would remain over the week-end was expressed by W. S. Brotzman, meteorologist, as the mercury dropped to 13 degrees above zero. He indicated that it would continue downward during the day and night. A 20-mile-an-hour wind intensified the

Mrs. Louise S. McCutcheon, 26, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Suydam, of 5416 Darlington road, was granted a divorce in Common Pleas Court by Judge Frank P. Patterson today from her husband, Thomas G. McCutcheon, 33, of the Schenley Apartments, a stock broker. She charged him with desertion and also testified that he struck her at various times.

They were married April 19, 1924, at her parents' home by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor of Shadyside Presbyterian Church. McCutcheon was a bond salesman then.

They lived on Kinsmar road for three and a half years. On October 1, 1927, Mrs. McCutcheon said, her husband left her.

More Dolls Arrive for Waiting Girls

By THE DOLL LADY

Thank Goodness! Another carload of singing dolls came in yesterday and I won't have to disappoint any of my new-found girl friends of Pittsburgh and vicinity.

Now I have plenty on hand to carry over Christmas, and when I say plenty, I mean there are sufficient to fully meet the Christmas demand.

Doll Lady

However, I wouldn't have had so many if the doll-makers hadn't worked overtime for me—and a lot of overtime at that. Pittsburgh surprised me. I knew that I was going to give away a lot of my marvelous singing dolls here, but I never dreamed that I'd be snowed under by the demands of little girls.

NO DISAPPOINTMENTS

Snowed under doesn't describe it. I'm just buried, but there's a lot of satisfaction in knowing that I won't have to disappoint a single child.

You know Santa Claus doesn't carry dolls like mine. They're altogether too big for his pack—he couldn't carry enough to go very far around. You know, they are almost life size. Then again, they'd be liable to make too much noise coming down the chimney if they started singing "Rock-a-bye Baby" or started reciting "Little Bo-Peep" or "Little Boy Blue," and that wouldn't do at all be-

Near-Panic as Gas Bomb Lets Go in P. R. R. Station

Several hundred patrons of the Pennsylvania Railroad were driven from the Union Station, downtown, early today when a tear gas bomb, carried in a suitcase by an unidentified bank messenger, exploded when he dropped the bag on the train shed floor.

Within a few seconds fumes oozed from the bag and employes and patrons, with the single thought of getting into the fresh air, rushed through the narrow doors from the train shed, stampeded through the main waiting room and onto the sidewalks in front of the station.

Station police and plainclothesmen were powerless to stop the onrush.

When they attempted to restore order they too became victims of the gas fumes.

No one was injured, according to Lieut. Frazier, of the Pennsylvania police.

The messenger was lost in the crowd.

Several women standing in the shed believed a bomb was about to explode when they saw the gas leaking from the bag. Others suspected a holdup attempt.

The crowded condition of the waiting room and shed, due to demoralization of train schedules by the mid-west blizzard, added to seriousness of the situation, according to railroad officials.

SENATE DRY CHIEFS SPLIT ON PROHIBITION PROBE REPORT

JONES HALTS ACTION ON MOTION

'Five and Ten' Law Author Blocks Resolution Asking Findings of Commission

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—A sharp division in the ranks of the Senate's dry leaders was revealed today when Senator Jones (Rep.), of Washington, blocked action on the Harris resoluion, calling on President Hoover's law enforcement commission for an immediate report on the progress of its inquiry into prohibition conditions.

Senator Harris (Dem.), of Georgia, who once sponsored a $50,000,000 appropriation for prohibition enforcement, denounced the action of the President's commission in holding its sessions behind locked doors. He declared he would sponsor a move next year to hold up the commission's appropriation unless it terminated its policy of secrecy.

BLOCKS RESOLUTION

Jones, author of the famous "five and ten" law, blocked Harris' resolution on the ground that it carried a "rebuke" to President Hoover.

Senator Glass (Dem.), of Virginia, another dry leader, joined in assailing the commission's inactivity. He, too, announced he would "insist that before this commission gets another dollar from Congress it make a report to Congress."

For the first time since President Hoover named his investigating commission it came under fire from the drys.

Harris not only criticised the commission's secret session and its delays, but he flayed former Attorney General George W. Wickersham, chairman of the commission. Harris said the drys were convinced that Wickersham would prevent a report on prohibition conditions as long as he could.

AIR CRASH KILLS CONGRESSMAN

height of 150 feet, but that the plane became unmanageable.

The crash occurred, they said, when Dinger attempted to bank his plane with the wind. It seemed to come down as if such a maneuver was intended and then it failed to rise at the proper time.

The cause of the crash may never be determined, although it presumably was due to either one or two of the big motors failing.

Mechanics at the field said the plane's Wasp motors warmed up perfectly.

The machine was not fully loaded and Army officers believed it could have continued on two motors if only one had failed.

Bolling Field officers immediately closed sources of information, pending an inquiry, but news of the accident reached the Capitol first from a woman who made the trip by automobile. She was in a hysterical state and could not immediately identify any of those who were killed.

Officers commanding the field became so panic-stricken that they seemed to completely lose their heads. Within a few minutes after the crash, the gates of the field were closed, and even the police were denied admittance. The officers declined to give out any information and the field was demoralized.

Reports then spread like wildfire over the city, highly exaggerated in most instances, some of them placing the number of congressional victims as high as five. Representative Ketcham, of Michigan, was first listed with the dead, but his office quickly disposed of this erroneous report.

The House of Representatives adjourned today in tribute of Kaynor.

DINGER FINE PILOT

Capt. Dinger was considered one of the most expert aviators in the Army. He personally piloted Chairman James, of the House Military Committee, recently on a trip of 20,000 miles over the country for inspection purposes.

Representative Kaynor was serving his first term in Congress, having been elected in November a year ago. He was born in Sanborn, Ia., in 1884, was a graduate of Yale in 1912 and was manager of the football team there. Prior to his election to Congress he had served as postmaster at Springfield, Mass., for six years, and formerly was chairman of the Republican City Committee.

He was a Mason, Elk and Eagle, a member of the American Legion, having seen war service, July to November, 1918, at the Officers' Training School at Camp Lee, Va.

His wife, Mrs. Alice Chapin Reed Kaynor, and six children, five boys and one girl, survive him.

The death of Representative Kaynor was the second of a member of Congress in an airplane accident. A year or more ago Representative Thaddeus Sweet was in a fatal crash in New York state.

WON LIFE ON COIN TOSS

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—A flip of a coin, which gave Lieut. Henry R. Angel, of Birmingham, Ala., the pilot's seat in a tri-motored Fokker returning from Middletown, near here, to Bolling Field, less than a year ago probably then saved the life of Capt. H. A. Dinger, killed today in a crash at Bolling Field.

On the morning of January 11, 1929, Capt. Dinger piloted the tri-motored plane to Middletown, where it was overhauled and made ready for a return flight with seven Army fliers. To decide who would take the controls for the flight to Bolling Field, Capt. Dinger and Lieut. Angell tossed a coin. The former lost and returned to Bolling Field in another ship.

Arriving at the Washington field, Capt. Dinger learned that the tri-motored ship had crashed at Royalton, 15 miles from Middletown, when the motor failed. Lieut. Angell and his seven companions were either instantly killed or fatally injured.

Income Tax Reduces Government Deficit

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The deficit in government funds which on December 17 amounted to $156,078,292 was cut $154,948,000 on the next day due to continued increase in income taxes paid as the fourth quarter's installments of the 1928 tax.

On December 18 government expenditures for the fiscal year aggregated $1,859,382,131, while receipts from all sources had reached $1,858,252,808, leaving a deficit of only $1,129,323. The government's income for the fiscal year on that day had exceeded that for the same period last year by $273,655,540.

OPPOSE REED'S CANAL PLAN

features of the route from the Ohio to Lake Erie is under consideration by the Board of Army Engineers. The surveys and working plans for a canal on this route were made 20 years ago at a cost of more than $300,000.

NO AID TO PITTSBURGH

"Pennsylvania and especially the Pittsburgh district cannot advocate under any circumstances a waterway that would not connect the Ohio valley with the Great Lakes. A canal 37 miles in length to the Mahoning basin would be of no material benefit to the Pittsburgh district. We would still be unable to get the low all-water rate on raw materials from the lakes and would be deprived of the competitive water rate on coal to the populous states of the Northwest.

"A canal from the Ohio to Youngstown would give that territory all the benefits of competition with Pittsburgh. Anything less than a route to Lake Erie also deprives Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and the Ohio valley with a connection with the St. Lawrence river system advocated by President Hoover."

FOLLOWS STEEL MERGER

The project for a canal to Youngstown only was developed following the merger of Youngstown and Ohio steel interests in the formation of the new $350,000,000 Republic Steel Company, it is pointed out. This combination, composed of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, the Central Alloy Steel Company, Bourne-Fullner, the Donner Steel Company, Inc., and other concerns centering largely in the Youngstown and Cleveland areas, is declared to seek first of all a cheap rate on fuel.

The rail rate on coal from the Pennsylvania-West Virginia line is $1.42 a ton to Youngstown.

WOULD CUT COAL PRICE

With a deep channel in the Beaver and Mahoning rivers from the Ohio the same coal could be laid down at Youngstown district plants for less than 25c a ton, according to figures now in possession of the Army Board of Engineers.

There is an added factor in favor of Youngstown in that navigation facilities to the Ohio River would permit through water transportation to the Gulf of Mexico, an advantage now accruing only to Pittsburgh. Youngstown would enjoy low fuel rates and would be placed on equality with Pittsburgh shippers in sending products to the Southwest and the Gulf with the added advantage of lower rates on raw materials from the Great Lakes basin and better facilities for obtaining those necessities for its manufactures.

The Youngstown canal project came as a surprise to Pittsburgh interests and in many quarters here is regarded as a movement to defeat the purpose of Pennsylvania's long nurtured plan of a waterway from the Ohio to the lakes. After building the canal to Youngstown, it is declared by Chairman Stevenson and Pittsburgh manufacturers it would be difficult to have the link to the lakes finished since it would be an Ohio project and within that state would be opposed by varied interests.

Reed's bill has the solid support of powerful interests in the Mahoning Valley district and he is pushing the measure vigorously.

A dispatch to the Sun-Telegraph from Washington today states:

"Senator Reed is prepared to press for an authorization of the survey of the Beaver, Shenango and Mahoning Rivers without further delay. Plans are now well advanced for passing a new general rivers and harbors bill at this session, and the Pittsburgh Senator will have his measure attached to the port bill when it reaches the Senate for final action. It is his purpose to see that sufficient funds are provided to make the necessary survey and examination."

curred, she told the following incident:

MADE MYSTERY TRIP

On leaving the house one day, her husband said he would not be home that evening, as he was going to the Rolling Rock Country Club for dinner. He did not come home at all that night, Mrs. McCutcheon testified, and when she telephoned Rolling Rock the next morning she was informed he had not been at the club. When he finally came home, and she asked him for an explanation, she said, he refused to explain.

In the fall of 1917, she said, he announced he was going to Europe.

REFUSED TRIP TO EUROPE

She assumed she would accompany him, but he said, according to her testimony, he did not want her—he would rather go alone.

About this time McCutcheon left the house one day to go somewhere. Mrs. McCutcheon asked him not to go, she testified, and told him if he persisted in his intention he would not find her at home when he returned.

He left, nevertheless, and she went to her parents' home, where she has since resided.

9TH DELAY WON, HANSON DENIED NEW TRIAL

Brother-in-Law of Forney Cites 'Christmas Spirit' In Plea Through Counsel

For the ninth time William Hanson, alleged slot machine racketeer, former brother-in-law of the erstwhile fugitive, Alfred W. Forney, today won a delay in hearing sentence pronounced on himself for maintaining gambling devices.

He was refused a new trial.

The approach of Christmas won this latest postponement for the man who described himself as a chicken farmer, of Library, Pa.

In refusing the new trial for which the defendant had asked, Judge Darr said that the three judges had been unanimous in their opinion that Hanson didn't deserve one.

Hanson was convicted last April of maintaining slot machines in the Moose Club at 128 Ormsby avenue. Not one witness was called in his defense, and there were two prosecution witnesses who testified that he split the machines' receipts "50-50."

"CHRISTMAS SPIRIT"

After Visiting Judge William T. Darr had refused Hanson a new trial today, Judge Josiah Cohen said to Hanson's attorney, Edward G. Coll:

"Do you know any reason why sentence should not be pronounced now?"

Coll suggested that the pronouncement be delayed until after Christmas.

"It might be well," added Coll's colleague, Charles B. Prichard, "to pronounce sentence while the Christmas spirit is in your heart."

Judge Thomas J. Ford, sitting with Judges Cohen and Darr, then ordered a postponement to January 6, but decreed that bail should be raised from $1,500 to $2,500.

PAROLE EXPECTED

Before the postponement was ordered Coll reminded the court that others found guilty of operating slot-machines had been fined and paroled, but the reminder failed to move the court to reply.

In fact, observers pointed out that this latest postponement indicates that Hanson will not be paroled on January 6.

Judge Ford evinced interest in Hanson's activities.

"Do you," he asked, "have any business besides your poultry farm?"

"Yes, I have a butcher shop at 5625 Penn avenue," Hanson replied.

"Do you have any children?"

"No."

Later, when it was discovered that Hanson's original bail was $2,000, not $1,500, the court agreed to let that bond stand.

Hanson stood hopefully before the court during the exchange. In a rear row sat his wife, a young, attractive woman, dressed in a fur-trimmed coat. They had entered the courtroom together.

Little Terriers Outlive Bulldogs

NEW YORK.—There is not a great difference in the ages to which dogs can attain. One veterinarian has observed that terriers seem to live longer than bulldogs, and in general that large dogs outlive small ones. Most dogs which escape automobiles, poison and other such hazards of a dog's life die at from 9 to 14 years of age. But occasionally representatives of practically all breeds survive until past 20.

COUNTY GRANTS TAX HEARING

Allegheny County League of Building and Loan Associations announced it would also be represented. The Chamber of Commerce and a number of real estate boards from outside the city will send delegates.

BOND ISSUE FAVORDED

3—It was proposed as a step that may help to avert the proposed increase of one mill in the county tax that voting machines be paid for through a bond issue instead of out of current funds.

4—It was announced that the Legislature will be asked at its next session to permit the real estate owned by the public utilities to be taxed for city and county purposes. Such property is now taxed only by the state.

5—A law will also be requested, it was announced, providing for the publication of city and county budgets well in advance of the fixing of the levy, so that citizens may have ample time in which to discuss the matter with the tax-fixing authorities.

SUGGESTIONS READY

6—The committee representing the Building Owners and the Real Estate Board, asked by City Council to give advice as to how the City-County Building can be more efficiently and economically managed and how the stalls in the city market house can be rented to best advantage, wrote Council that it was ready to go ahead and asked for instructions as to when and where to proceed.

Armstrong said the date for the hearing was subject to change, depending on the condition of his health. He has been ill at home several weeks.

"We were under the impression," said E. F. Daume, chairman of the taxation committee of the Real Estate Board, "that the hearing would not be held until after the first of the year. Consequently, we have prepared no definite program as yet. This rushes us, but I think we can be ready."

WORK ON CITY BUDGET

While citizens were preparing to ask the County Commissioners not to raise the tax rate, City Council was struggling with the problem of keeping next year's appropriations within the amount that will be raised by the 1930 city tax levy of 26 mills on land and 13 on buildings—a rate which compares with 25 mills on land and 12½ on buildings this year.

With a view to saving the $31,000 now paid annually to the South Pittsburgh Water Company for water for the city home at Mayview, Council authorized the drilling of test holes at a cost of $2,500 as a preliminary to the drilling of six water wells at Mayview. It is estimated that the six wells, with pumps, will cost $35,000 and will make the institution independent of the water company.

Dr. J. S. Hammers, superintendent of Mayview, today submitted a revised estimate of the wages that will have to be paid next year, reducing the amount from $54,158 to $35,800, principally by eliminating some of the labor at the coal mine.

Mayor Charles H. Kline, in transmitting the Mayview estimates, recommended that a proposed appropriation of $510,000 be cut to $465,000, but did not specify what items should be cut. Council today requested him to explain how, in his opinion, the reduction could best be effected.

SUGAR LOBBY FACING QUIZ BY ARMY

Inquiry Promised on Crowder Information; Tariff Group Flayed in Senate Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20. (AP.)—A scathing arraignment of the activities of J. A. Arnold, manager of the Southern Tariff Association, was made today in a report to the Senate by its lobby committee, while questioning of witnesses continued in the committee room and the War Department promised an inquiry into testimony that Gen. Enoch Crowder, retired, had given interests working for a lower sugar tariff information on war plans of the Army General Staff.

Arnold, in the report presented by Chairman Caraway, of the committee, was described as being without veracity and as apparently having no sense of "self-respect." Arnold, who is also manager of the American Taxpayers' League, was said by the report to have collected a million dollars during the last few years and it was asserted that he used most of this money for the benefit of himself and a small group connected with him in the organizations.

PITTSBURGHERS ON LIST

Questioned nine days by the committee, Arnold was said in the report to have no connections that would enable him to influence legislation and surprise was expressed that business men and organizations should contribute to the organization.

Some of the more liberal contributors to the league were listed as follows: Stone and Webster, Inc., Boston, $2,000; Armour & Co., Chicago, $1,500; Henry Veeder, Chicago, $1,500; Insull properties, Chicago, $1,500; Otis & Co., Cleveland, $1,250.

The following were listed as having contributed $1,000 each: W. L. Mellon, Pittsburgh; Westinghouse Air Brake Company, Pittsburgh; O. P. and M. J. Sweringen, Cleveland; George S. Davison, Pittsburgh; William Wrigley, Jr., Company, Chicago; estate of P. A. B. Widener, Philadelphia; Crane Company, Chicago; Byllesby Engineering and Management Corporation, Chicago; Colgate - Palmolive - Peet Company, Chicago; Continental Illinois Bank Trust Company, Chicago; H. B. Rust, Pittsburgh; Armstrong Cork Company, Pittsburgh; Yount-Lee Oil Company, Beaumont, Tex., and W. P. H. McFadden, Beaumont.

ACTIVITIES DENOUNCED

Arnold's activities were described as reprehensible and legislation against them was recommended.

John Henry Kirby, of Houston, Tex., president of the Tariff Association, was also criticized in the report, his statement that he contributed $2,000 yearly to the support of the organization being described as untrue, "although he very modestly admitted he was worth $30,000,000."

W. L. Petrekin, of the Great Western Sugar Company, was on the witness stand today in the committee room, but a letter that had a bearing on testimony given yesterday by Edwin P. Shattuck was introduced. It was written by H. C. Lakin, president of the Cuba Company, and said that Shattuck had conferred with President Hoover on the sugar tariff. This was emphatically denied by Shattuck, an attorney hired to work for lower sugar rates, in his testimony yesterday.

ARMY MEN RETICENT

Petrekin was only on the stand for a brief period, being followed by Junior Owens, secretary of the American Association of Carbonated Beverages. He said he worked in Washington for a lower sugar tariff and had expended about $25,000.

Whether any action will come out of the inquiry the War Department will make into the testimony concerning Gen. Crowder was problematical today. Army officials being reticent beyond saying that they proposed an investigation.

H. C. Lakin in a letter said that Crowder had given Cuban sugar interests the information that in the event of war the general staff did not plan to attempt to keep the line of traffic open to the Philippines.

Mother Out of Funds, Son Turns Hold-Up Man

In a chilly cell in West View's jail today Jack Naatz, 17, fumbles nervously with his cigaret holder that looks like an automatic pistol.

Jack started out this morning, police say, to be a bold, bad, holdup man. He left his home at 1420 Gerst way, North Side, at 8 o'clock. He hated to tell his mother, with the holiday on, that he had lost his job last week. She needed money for Christmas. Or perhaps she just needed the money.

He made his way to West View. How cold it was on the Martsolf Bridge. His head was down, his hands in his pockets. He saw a well dressed woman standing on the bridge—a lonesome spot even in daylight. There was no street car coming. He asked her if she didn't think the wind was cutting, the mercury low. They talked. She was a mature woman; he—just a cold, forlorn looking kid.

He pulled out the "automatic." She shuddered, but somehow didn't fear the boy much.

She told him a sad story. He demanded her purse. She said she had been hurt in a street car accident the week before. She had to pay doctor bills. She was going to see one now. She needed the money.

Head down, pistol back in pocket, he slunk away.

To a confectioner down the street the woman, Mrs. Joseph B. Johnson, Negro, of West View, told the story. Police Chief William D. Kaesmeier motorcycled around West View. He found the slinking, chilled, bad, bad boy on Park avenue. Searching the lad, he found the cigaret case that looked like an automatic. The boy told the story.

Helen's Chum to Follow Tennis Star to Altar

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Harriet Walker and Helen Wills were presented to their Britannic majesties at the same time at the Court of Saint James last May. And although the fair Helen is going to be first at the matrimonial altar, her friend will soon follow.

Miss Wills' wedding was announced yesterday to take place next Monday, and yesterday Miss Walker's engagement was announced. She will marry Wellington Smith Henderson, son of former United States Senator and Mrs. Charles B. Henderson, of Nevada.

Miss Walker is a sister of Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Jr., and a granddaughter of the late Thomas B. Walker, of Minneapolis.

While the little St. Clement's chapel in Claremont, Berkeley, was being prepared for the simple wedding ceremony that will unite Miss Wills and Frederick S. Moody, Jr., an inquisitive world had traced a relationship by marriage between the bride-groom-to-be and President Herbert Hoover.

MOTHER OF HELEN'S FIANCE

Mrs. Frederick Moody, Sr., questioned about the relationship, said it was so remote that there really was "no relationship at all."

Only immediate members of both families will attend the ceremony at which the Rev. L. H. Miller will officiate.

POPE SETS FOOT IN ITALY, FIRST IN 60 YEARS

Pontiff Travels in Secret To Observe Golden Jubilee At Church of Ordination

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL,
International News Service.

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 20.—Celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of his priesthood, Pope Pius XI today emerged from his Holy City for the first time since he became supreme pontiff of the Catholic Church and visited the St. John Lateran Basilica, where he was ordained a priest on December 20, 1879.

His Holiness left the gates of St. Peter's square in a motor car at 6:30 o'clock this morning, traveling incognito.

None witnessed his departure, because of the early hour, and the Pope crossed all of Rome and returned entirely unnoticed.

COMPLETES ACCORD

It was the first time any Pope had trod the soil of the Italian government since the breach between the church and the state in 1870.

It was the final act consummating the complete accord of church and state effected through the signing of the Lateran treaties this year, which were followed by the visit of King Victor Emmanuel, Queen Elena and Crown Prince Humbert to the Pope.

The purpose of the Pope's visit to the St. John Lateran Basilica was to celebrate mass. The service was not open to the public, as the famous old church's doors were closed immediately after the Pope and those with him entered.

The Pope was accompanied by Monsignor Caccia and other high dignitaries of the church.

TWO-HOUR JOURNEY

Only Monsignor Caccia rode in the heavily curtained automobile which bore the Pope to the scene of the first step in his notable career. The car was one of American make recently presented to the Pope.

His Holiness was dressed in a white robe covered by a red mantle. The monsignors followed the pontiff's automobile in five other cars.

The entire journey from Vatican City to the St. John Lateran Basilica lasted only two hours, as the holy party returned to the Vatican at 9:30 a. m.

His Holiness was welcomed at the basilica by Cardinal Pompili, archpriest of St. John Lateran. The cardinal is an old friend of the Pope, having attended the Lombardi Seminary at which the Pontiff also studied.

The prelates in the papal party had been sworn to secrecy regarding the visit. They were the monsignors who usually assist the Pope at mass.

Not even Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, had been informed of the intentions of the Holy Father.

PONTIFF IN TEARS

By performing the mass in the basilica, the Pope thus took possession of what was really his own parish for the first time since the days when the popes were the archbishops of Rome and St. John Lateran was the seat of Catholicism.

After the mass His Holiness visited the adjoining Lateran Museum, formerly the residence of the popes. He paid special attention to the missionary museum, which he founded himself.

During the ceremony, the Pope was frequently moved to tears. Upon its conclusion, he sat on the bishopric chair and received the obeisance of all present, who kissed his hand and his foot.

The basilica had been purposely kept empty. Early worshippers who came there to attend mass were surprised when they were asked to seek another place of worship.

Scenting that something important was to occur, they congregated about the edifice. But their numbers were few and most of them had already left when the Pope arrived, so virtually no one saw him enter.

Tomorrow is the anniversary of the occasion when the Pope first said mass at the St. John Lateran Basilica. Many met there this morning to commemorate the Pope's ordination.

The unexpected visit of the Pope followed an eventful day in which he had bestowed the red hat upon six newly created cardinals and had issued an encyclical in which he called upon the Roman Catholic world to indulge in contemplation and prayer as the only remedy for the evils of modern life.

SNOOK'S STAY EXTENDED TO JANUARY 31

Case May Go to Supreme Court if Ohio Tribunal Rejects Appeal in Murder

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Dr. James H. Snook, convicted slayer of Thora K. Hix, his co-ed sweetheart, was granted further respite from death in the electric chair when the State Supreme Court continued his stay of execution until January 31, to permit more time for consideration of his appeal.

The court's action followed an announcement by Warden P. E. Thomas, of Ohio Penitentiary, that he was legally authorized to proceed with the execution of the former Ohio State veterinerary professor any time after last midnight, when the original stay of execution was to expire.

Dr. Snook's appeal is before the high tribunal on two motions, one seeking a review of his case and the other raising a constitutional question which will permit of an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States if the decision of the Ohio court is adverse.

Attorney E. O. Ricketts, member of defense counsel, went to Dr. Snook's cell in death row at Ohio Penitentiary and informed him of the respite that had been granted.

Should the Ohio Supreme Court refuse to review, Ricketts said he will follow the procedure of asking the chief justice for a writ of error and if this is not granted defense counsel will go before the United States Supreme Court on its own motion.

UNDER-RIVER TUBE PANIC HURTS 80

Passengers Trampled in Rush As Choking Mob Battles Perilous Path to Exits

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Caught in a subway train during the rush hour, in a tunnel under the East River, while great clouds of smoke, caused by a short-circuited third rail, rolled up around them, several hundred men and women today trampled each other in their excitement and smashed the windows with their fists.

Police estimated that 80 were injured, many of them cut and bruised, and all suffering from smoke inhalation.

Thirty-five were taken to St. John's Hospital in Long Island City, where it was said that they all had acute bronchitis from the smoke.

THIRD RAIL MENACE

Many of them, heedless of the danger of stepping on the third rail, had stumbled through the smoke and darkness half a mile to Queens Plaza station, Long Island City.

The accident occurred as a Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit train, in charge of Motorman John Zapphis and Conductor Alfred Stillwell, was speeding through the tunnel from Queens to Manhattan.

About 1,000 feet from the emergency exit up to Welfare Island, approximately half way through the tunnel, the water dripping had worn through the insulation on a third rail conduit. A crew at work on the insulation dropped back as the train approached. There was a short circuit, a blaze, and thick, heavy smoke.

ALARM SPREADS

Motorman Zapphis brought the train to a stop some distance from the fire. The train was packed with persons en route to their work. As it jolted to a stop, they looked at each other in alarm. Then, as they saw smoke rolling up outside the windows and drifting in around the doors, they became excited.

While the guards shouted, "Keep cool," and tried vainly to quiet them down, the passengers began to shove and push and trampled each other. Then they began to break the windows, letting in the smoke.

The guards opened the doors and managed to lead some of the passengers to the Welfare Island emergency exit. Others were placed aboard another train, headed toward Long Island City, that drew up just as they were scrambling out.

Many others plunged along back on foot to the Queens Plaza station. After they had gone some distance, power was turned off and they were marshaled into order by a traffic patrolman who had been a passenger on the train.

PRISON GUARD HERO

About 40 persons made their way out through the Welfare Island exit.

Assistant Keeper John Sweeting, of the city prison on Welfare Island, was guarding a crew of prisoners when he saw a man's face in the barred gate protecting the subway emergency exit. The gate is kept locked to prevent prisoners from escaping through the tunnel.

Sweeting summoned firemen and keepers who battered down the gate and assisted the passengers up the 200-foot ladders from the tunnel to the island.

SHIP ICEBOUND, 30 RESCUED

SANDUSKY, O., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Walking precariously through the dusk and snowfall for nearly a mile over cracking ice, 30 persons, including eight women and two babies, were saved here last night after the passenger vessel, the Tourist, was caught in an ice jam just outside Sandusky bay.

They were picked up by the passenger boat Messenger, which stood by. The Tourist, a 78-foot oil burner, owned by the captain, Frank Hamilton, of Sandusky, had put out for Kelleys Island from Sandusky with a cargo of steel and the passengers, who had been doing their Christmas shopping in Sandusky and were returning home.

The Tourist, reputed to be one of the best ice breakers in this region, was caught in the ice.

It was a four-hour battle in which the ice won. It crawled up the sides of the boat and arose as high as the pilot house, according to passengers.

When Capt. Hamilton observed that he could not wrench the vessel free, he ordered the passengers off, according to Charles Martin, one of them. The ice was rough and chopped and it was difficult for the passengers to retain a footing.

Mrs. Martin, with her husband, wheeled their 10-weeks-old baby, Elaine, to the Messenger. The other infant, 7-months-old, belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elfers.

It was reported that none of the passengers had suffered from the cold, although the temperature was around 14 degrees above zero.

This was the second rescue in 10 days by the Messenger. The first occurred after the Mascot, a 65-foot oil burner, sunk off Kelleys Island after ice had rammed it. Five men, including a crew of three, were picked up from the water.

VALLEE FACING BALM SUIT

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—Rudy Vallee, who croons love songs from the stage and over the radio, crooned love messages into her ear last July and promised to marry her in November, Agnes O'Loughlin, former Ziegfeld showgirl, charged in a breach-of-promise notice served on the orchestra leader.

Miss O'Loughlin seeks $200,000 damages.

Rudy issued a statement from his offices in which he admitted he knew the girl, but said he considered her a "good friend" and was "greatly surprised at her action."

The complaint of the brunet Agnes contains six charges, it was revealed.

She charges first that "in the month of July, 1929, the defendant (that's Rudy) requested the plaintiff (that's Agnes) to marry him, and the plaintiff agreed to do so in November."

Count two says that "relying on this request she remained single."

Count three contains charges involving the love making of the crooning singer and count four makes the statement "the defendant now neglects and refuses to marry her."

Agnes "sustained great mental shock and physical injuries and humiliation and injury to her future prospects" according to count five and count six asks as a result of all this that Rudy pay Miss O'Loughlin $200,000 and the costs of the action.

While it was admitted that the papers had been served, Julius Kendler, attorney for Miss O'Loughlin, declared that no complaint had been filed.

ALLIANCE, O., Dec. 20.—Mrs. Vercie Drummer was provoked last night when her husband, Charles Drummer, came home in an intoxicated condition. She used an iron poker, police claim.

Drummer is in the city hospital with a four-inch gash on his right cheek while his wife is in jail.

'GHOST' MURDER JURY FREES 4

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark., Dec. 20.—(INS.)—Connie Franklin today was further assured that he is not a corpse.

After 18 hours of deliberation a jury late yesterday reached the decision that Connie Franklin still lives and thereupon acquitted four men who were charged with murdering Franklin last March 9.

The 12 jurymen found it necessary to decide whether the man who appeared suddenly from a neighboring community to become the star witness for the defense was really Connie Franklin, supposedly murdered, or someone else.

Joseph White and William Younger, two of the defendants, were allowed to go free, but the other two, Herman Greenway and Hubert Hester, were made to furnish bonds of $2,000 each. They are charged with attacking 17-year-old Tillar Ruminer, state's witness, who swore that the four defendants killed her sweetheart as the couple were on their way to get married.

Taking the stand the girl testified that the four men set upon her and Franklin on a lonely road and beat him with stones until he died. Two of them then attacked her, according to the testimony. The girl swore she had never known this Franklin before.

Although Tillar swore that this was not Franklin, a number of citizens identified him as the same Connie Franklin who at first was reported murdered.

Law to Suppress Newspapers Upheld

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Minnesota's newspaper suppression law was upheld today for the second time, when the State Supreme Court ruled the statute constitutional. The court reaffirmed its first decision on the appeal of the Saturday Press, a Minneapolis publication, from a permanent writ of injunction.

The law, the court decided, does not violate the state's constitutional provision for the freedom of the press and does not violate the due process of law guaranty contained in the state and federal constitutions.

Goose, Indignant At Yule Crowd, Bites Woman

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—When a goose bites a Christmas shopper, it is also news.

A live goose was carried along a street in a paper sack, only its neck and head protruding.

A woman shopper brushed against it. The goose, indignant at such behavior in the season of good cheer, hissed and retaliated with a snap of its long beak. The victim screamed and looked around to see who had pinched her.

"You goose!" she remarked to the woman carrying the sack.

"Yes, my goose," the owner admitted, pointing to the fowl.

COLLEGE GIRLS 'SINK' CHORINES

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Offhand it would seem that beautiful college girls are not so dumb as chorus girls.

In an intelligence test six Hunter College undergraduates beat six chorus girls 64 to 60. But it developed that the chorus team consisted of college graduates.

The 50 questions included such things as the critique of pure reason and the originator of many Shakespearean plots.

Sunday self-constituted judges voted that the contest was a tie in charm.

Flier in Tiny Plane Hops for Australia

LONDON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—F. C. Chichester, a wealthy New Zealander, climbed into the cockpit of a tiny Moth airplane at Croydon today and told his friends: "Cheerio; I'm off to Australia." He flew toward the continent. Officials believed he hoped to beat Bert Hinkler's record of 15 days between England and Australia, established in February, 1928.

Chichester has only been flying for a short time and kept preparations for his trip, in a specially built plane, secret. He landed this afternoon at Lyons, France, refuelled and left for Tunis.

BURKE ELUDES POLICE NET

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—Fred Burke, sought throughout the Middle West for the massacre of seven Bugs Moran gangsters here and for numerous murders, kidnapings and bank robberies in other cities, is still at liberty today despite an intensive search for him.

Police officials directing the search here are still of the opinion that Burke has sought refuge in the gangland haunts of "Scarface" Al Capone.

Gangdom credits Burke with having engineered some of the Capone gang's choicest reprisals, among them the slaying of Frankie Uale, Brooklyn desperado, and the seven Moran henchmen who were mowed down here last Valentine's Day.

As detectives searched his old haunts here it was said that there is good reason to expect his apprehension soon. A total reward of $100,000 awaits his captor.

Booklet on Child Control Brings Big Demand

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Main street and Wall street are linked in a common interest — how to cure the "temper tantrums" of children. So discovered Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the Children's Bureau.

For the popularity of the bureau pamphlet, "Child Management," dealing with "temper tantrums," disobedience and deceit, is increasing by leaps and bounds.

From fathers as well as mothers, from great financial houses as well as country homes, have come the parental requests for this booklet, increasing its circulation 71 per cent, from 48,573 in 1928, to 83,072 in 1929.

SHOW GIRL BACK WITH MATE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Helen Lee Worthing, former New York stage beauty, has resumed her place as mistress of her home in the Negro section of Los Angeles after effecting a reconciliation with her husband, Dr. Eugene C. Nelson, from whom she had separated because of a "jealous spat."

The reconciliation followed a meeting yesterday in an attorney's office. Both the former actress and her husband said their differences had followed a dispute over another woman, and that "all has been forgiven and forgotten."

The airing of Dr. and Mrs. Nelson's marital troubles not only explained the disappearance two years ago of Miss Worthing, but also brought the first intimation to friends here that Dr. Nelson is not entirely of Caucasian blood.

BOTH IN LOVE

"To me he is not what the world would call a Negro," Miss Worthing said of her husband. "He is not black in skin or black in heart. I believe he loves me better than anything else in the world, and I know that I do him. No social or racial barrier can separate us."

The former Ziegfeld Follies girl, who dropped from sight in 1927, said she was married to Dr. Nelson in Tia Juana in June of that year. For a time they lived in an exclusive Hollywood neighborhood, but later moved to the Negro section of Los Angeles, where Dr. Nelson has an extensive practice.

NO RACIAL BARRIER

"Friends intimated to me before our marriage that Dr. Nelson was of colored blood," Miss Worthing said, "but I did not care and do not care now. I have never been conscious of any racial barrier. I love him with all my heart, and the greatest happiness I have ever known has been since our marriage."

Miss Worthing, besides being a member of the Ziegfeld Follies cast has worked in motion pictures and appeared with John Barrymore and Adolphe Menjou.

New York Girl Scores Hit In Chicago Opera Debut

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Hallie Stiles, New York girl, sang the unhappy role of Elsa last night and was happy. It was her American debut in grand opera.

In a magnificent new building of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, in addition to the thousands attracted by "Lohengrin," were her parents, a sister, a brother and many friends who traveled from Syracuse and New York City to hear Miss Stiles crown the operatic career that began three years ago in Paris.

When she made her Paris debut, Miss Stiles found $1,000 worth of flowers in her dressing room. She borrowed three francs to get a cup of coffee and a roll. Then her performance as Mimi in "La Boheme" made her the American darling of the Opera Comique.

It was as a student at Vassar that she gained knowledge of the power in her voice. She quickly forsook academic pursuits to study music in New York, and later abroad.

Her parents are Dr. and Mrs. Henry Stiles. Dr. Stiles is a professor at Syracuse University. Among others in the audience from New York and Syracuse were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey D. Carter, James J. Hoey, Joseph A. Flynn and Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Coward.

There also were letters from such well-wishers as Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and United States Senators Royal S. Copeland and Robert F. Wagner.

Bishop Cannon Enraged By News Photographers

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20. — (AP.) — Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Virginia, here to aid his son and daughter-in-law in financial and other difficulties encountered by them in the operation of a military academy, engaged in a lively set-to with news photographers outside of Justice Court in Montrose, a suburb.

Bishop Cannon, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, came here last Tuesday.

The gray haired divine leaped into action when photographers clicked their cameras as he stepped from the court during a recess in hearings involving Richard M. Cannon and Mrs. Margaret Cannon.

"What right have you to take my picture?" he demanded, grappling with one cameraman, while other cameras clicked.

Observing that pictures of himself in action were being made, Dr. Cannon calmed himself quickly and consented to pose and also to be interviewed, until a reporter asked about recent reports of the failure of a New York stock brokerage house, records of which contained his name.

"That's my business," he said, "and I certainly consider it a very indelicate question, quite without the province of a newspaper reporter's scope."

He returned at once to the courtroom.

Charges of unsanitary conditions and unpaid labor checks at the Cannon Military Academy, filed against the younger Cannon and his wife by the county health department, and state labor commission, were dismissed when it was shown the checks had been paid and other conditions were being remedied.

JAPANESE SEES ARMS PARLEY SUCCESS

Former Nippon Premier Says His Country Will Give Its Best Efforts; Sail Tonight

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Pledging the best efforts of Japan for the success of the forthcoming London naval conference, former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki, of Japan, today declared the conference "will not fail to produce good results."

This auspicious international note was sounded in an address by Wakatsuki at a luncheon given by Consul General Sawada, of Japan, to the Japanese naval disarmament delegates, fresh from an exchange of attitudes with President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson. The delegation sail tonight for London aboard the liner Olympic.

"MUTUAL TRUST"

"Between nations where there exist mutual trust and good understanding, disarmament ceases to be any longer too difficult a problem," said Wakatsuki.

"As far as Japan is concerned, while she shall have to maintain sufficient naval strength for her defensive needs, she stands ready to exert her best efforts for the success of this conference.

"I can assure you that she will collaborate with other powers, as she has in all past conference, whole-heartedly and loyally with the same enthusiasm and in the same spirit of frankness and conciliation."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—American delegates to the London naval conference will enter that notable gathering in a very strategic position—in marked contrast to the manner in which they have gone into other international conferences.

Always before—at Washington in 1921, and at Geneva on several occasions—the American delegates have had to confront major opposition to their policies from Great Britain and Japan. It was a hard fight at Washington to overcome the Anglo-Japanese alliance and to persuade Great Britain on battleship parity; at Geneva the conference was thrown on the rocks by Anglo-American cruiser differences.

NEXT TO BE DIFFERENT

In London next month it promises to be different.

The Hoover-MacDonald conferences here in October sealed and disposed of the controversial parity issue in all classes of naval armament and there remains only details of the cruiser agreement to be worked out.

The Stimson-Wakatsuki conferences here this week similarly disposed of most of the questions between the United States and Japan and disclosed the policies of both countries to be running along parallel lines.

There are, of course, a multitude of details to be worked out with both Great Britain and Japan, but the significant fact was emphasized today that for the first time in the history of such conferences there is no outstanding major controversy to overcome.

The calm of approaching Yuletide apparently has settled over the State Department, which has been highly wrought up for days over the rumors that filled Washington of dissension among the American delegates, and covert charges that the secretary of the navy, Charles Francis Adams, was being "ignored" in the Stimson-Wakatsuki conferences.

CLASH WITH NEWSPAPER

These rumors and charges culminated in the Washington Post editorially suggesting to Secretary Stimson that Secretary Adams be declared in on the conferences to speak for the Navy, and Stimson responded with one of the most remarkable statements ever emanating from a secretary of state. He flatly accused the Post of trying to create discord in the American delegation, and of trying to scuttle the London conference ship before it sailed.

To this blast, the Post came back today with the statement that it was "sorry if its high praise of Secretary Adams has caused acute pain and humiliation to the secretary of state," but declared it was "unable to withdraw the opinion that Secretary Adams knows more about the Navy than any other delegate."

"NO GERMAN OBSERVER"

LONDON, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—There is no foundation for the report that Germany will be represented by an observer at the forthcoming five-power naval disarmament conference here, it was stated in authoritative circles today.

Old Gray Mare, Rescued, Rescues Rescuers

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The old gray mare played "Androcles and the lion" here. She rescued her rescuers.

The flivver squad, cruising through the blizzard, found her snowbound and deserted in a drift. She stood almost unnoticed in the swelling dune of snow.

The squad hitched their car to the old gray mare and hauled her from the drift.

A few blocks from the station the flivver eased into a drift and stalled, the cart before the horse. The old gray mare took her turn at the lifeline and hauled the stranded coppers out. Now she has a nice warm berth at the police garage.

SPLIT VERDICT RETURNED

of the jury Judge Gibson said: "I see that you did not reach a verdict as to all of the defendants as I had hoped."

The court directed the jurors to return to their task and, if at all possible, to reach a verdict that would include all. If unable, eventually, to do so, Judge Gibson said the verdict would be received.

"I have not been well for a week," said Louis V. Sattelle, of 6735 Stanton avenue, one of the jurors, addressing the court. "I do not want to stay here another night."

REPEATS INSTRUCTIONS

"I do not wish to cause the jury the hardship of remaining here another night under the wretched conditions which exist here for your comfort," Judge Gibson informed him. He would call them in later to learn what progress they were making, he said.

Miller J. Lehman, of Ebensburg, foreman, requested additional instructions regarding witnesses who had perjured themselves at the former McKeesport rum ring trial.

Judge Gibson repeated part of his instructions of yesterday, in which he stated that the testimony of witnesses known to have perjured themselves should be scrutinized and weighed carefully. The jury then retired.

The fate of the defendants was placed in the hands of the jury at 3:35 p. m. yesterday, following a trial lasting 10 days.

CHIEF INVOLVED

Among the defendants are John F. Brennan, former chief of the McKeesport police department; Lieut. James H. H. Gray, and eight policemen in the McKeesport police department; Charles L. Bergstedt, former chief of the Versailles police department; Justice of the Peace Charles E. Reinhard of Versailles Township; William Englert, McKeesport milk inspector, and Robert Prosser, former county detective. The others are Sam Katz, Harry Uskovitz, Ben Frank, Sam Crown, Louis Davidson, Nathan Friedman, and Martin Firestone.

MAN SLAIN ON WARING FARM

HARRISBURG, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—William Shutter, of Rexmont, Lebanon County, was shot and killed by a state policeman early today on the farm of Fran Waring, father of Tom and Fred Waring, of the orchestra of that name, near here.

The victim was identified through fingerprints in police records.

He had served a sentence in the Eastern Penitentiary for breaking and entering in Dauphin County, state police announced. The fatal shot was fired by Henry Wellen, state officer, who had been sent to the farm in Susquehanna Township to arrest a prowler who had committed a series of robberies at the Waring farm.

The man was shot in the back when he refused to obey the officer's command to halt.

Insane Mother Slew Child, Inquest Finds

LONACONING, Md., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Mrs. Marian Izat, 34, was found today to have caused the death of her 5-week-old daughter by throwing the child into an abandoned iron ore furnace just outside the town yesterday. Police who found the baby on a pile of junk at the bottom of a 40-foot drop declared poverty and ill-health had deranged the mother's mind.

A coroner's jury found the woman temporarily insane and on the jurors' recommendation she was taken to a Cumberland institution.

LEAGUE COURT BOOSTERS HIT BY JOHNSON

Scores Effort to Put U. S. Under Foreign Judges; Urges Delay During Parley

By WILLIAM H. JORDAN.
Universal Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson, who arrived from Washington, D. C., to spend the holidays with his family here, had a few words to say about the permanent court of international justice of the League of Nations.

Senator Johnson expressed the hope, with some feeling, that those favoring the League Court shall not bring the Root treaty before the Senate while the naval disarmament conference is on in London.

SEES LEAGUE LINK

"Of course there will be a contest in the Senate on the World Court treaty," declared Senator Johnson. "We hope it will not come to the Senate while the disarmament conference is in progress. Some of us feel keenly on this matter of the World Court. We feel keenly on the endeavor to put us into a foreign court with a foreign judiciary with 12 foreign judges.

"There are those that are making an effort to make us believe that the court is not connected with the League of Nations. It is an error. We believe that Mr. Root went to Geneva with one thing and came back with another.

"Are we not entitled to be a bit skeptical when we realize that the gentlemen most earnestly urging the World Court now are those who just 10 years ago demanded we enter the League of Nations? And they all say today they were wrong then. Are we not justified in questioning their judgment a bit at this time?"

INSISTS ON PARITY

The Senator from California also had this to say about the naval disarmament:

"In common with everybody I hope for naval limitation and maybe naval reduction. But I insist upon that parity which was definitely conceded by Ramsay MacDonald in his speech before the United States Senate. Things are different from what they were in 1922. The Labor government of Great Britain wants to accomplish something. In 1922 we got infinitely the worst of it. We are hoping for a happy and successful consummation of the conference."

COLD GRIPS NATION
Associated Press.

America was knee-deep in winter today save only California and Florida.

Fog along the Atlantic Coast, sleet-slashed communication lines in Ontario, sub-zero cold in the Northwest, and snow robing entire tiers of Middle Western States—these represented the weather's vagaries.

A complete list of deaths for which the storm, snow, cold and ice were to blame was not possible with many sections cut off from the world by drifts in highways and broken telephone and telegraph wires; but nearly two score had been reported, more than half of them in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Weather Conditions.

The storm that produced the rainy condition over this section the past few days is now central over the upper St. Lawrence valley. It is causing cloudy weather generally over the Northeast and there are scattered cloud areas over the Ohio Valley states and the lake region. Over the Plains states the skies are mostly clear, as a result of high pressure which covers that section, with its crest over Montana. There is also a center of high barometer over the Gulf states. There was a decided drop in temperature over the entire East and the cold weather continues over the West. The cold weather swept far into the South. At Mobile the temperature is 22 this morning and at Jacksonville 26.

Wales Receives Soviet Envoy, Breach Healed

LONDON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Full resumption of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Soviet Russia neared completion today as Gregori Sokolnikov, the new Soviet ambassador, presented his official credentials to the Prince of Wales.

Sokolnikov, accompanied by his staff, drove to St. James palace in two state carriages from the Royal Mews with scarlet cloaked coachmen and outriders.

Behind them rode a detachment of scarlet-uniformed horseguards on their way to the changing of the guard at Whitehall.

At the ceremony the prince wore the full dress uniform of a colonel of the Welsh guards, while the Russians were in diplomatic uniform. As the diplomats were presented, the prince shook hands with each and received from Sokolnikov his letters of credence.

Ten minutes later the Russians returned to their carriage and drove to the hotel.

After changing into ordinary dress, Ambassador Sokolnikov accompanied by M. Bogomolov, counselor, proceeded to the foreign office, where he saw Foreign Secretary Henderson and notes were exchanged between the two governments concerning propaganda.

It was understood that the main notes were concerned with undertakings between the United Kingdom and the Soviet union. It also was believed that supplementary notes gave similar assurances regarding the dominions.

TIME LIMIT ON VETS' CLAIMS ATTACKED

Many Ill and Maimed Soldiers Do Not Know of Federal Benefits, Johnson States

By WILLIAM S. NEAL.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—A grateful government has spent billions for disabled veterans of the World War since it ended more than 11 years ago, but thousands of sick and wounded veterans never have heard of it Representative Royal C. Johnson (Rep.), of South Dakota, chairman of the House Veterans' Committee, said today in announcing plans for a revision of the Veterans' Bureau act.

The remedy proposed for this class of veterans is to wipe out the time limit for filing disability claims. Under the present law it expires next April 6.

"It is an amazing thing that there are men in the United States who don't know that the government will provide for disabled veterans," said Johnson.

UNAWARE OF OFFER

"Last year we discovered a boy living in Maryland, within 10 miles of the capital, who was ignorant of the willingness of the government to care for its disabled soldiers.

"I know of other cases in other parts of the country, where the veteran never had heard of the Veterans' Bureau act, passed in 1924, or the legislation which preceded it. This is true in spite of the efforts of the American Legion and other agencies to reach the needy veterans."

Many other changes will be proposed in the Veterans' act early in the new year by the House Committee, Johnson said.

Liberalizing of terms of World War risk insurance is provided in the proposed omnibus bill. Permission to sue the Veterans' Bureau in claims for refund of premiums and definite provision for payment of benefits to dependent fathers and mothers is contained in the bill. Additional time for reinstatement of insurance also is provided in the case of disappearance or unbalanced mental condition of the insured veteran.

WILL FIGHT CASH BONUS

Amendments to the omnibus bill may come after the committee completes hearings on 47 veterans' bills already introduced in the House.

Johnson announced that he will fight the plan of Senator Brookhart (Rep.), of Iowa, and Representative Patman (Dem.), of Texas, to pay the bonus in cash.

"The adjusted compensation was made payable in paid-up life insurance policies both because of the cost involved and because Congress believed it was to the best interest of the veterans," said Johnson.

"To immediately convert the insurance policies into cash would cost the government more than three billions of dollars. This in itself would be an effective bar against any further legislation for the relief of disabled veterans.

President Hoover is expected to sign the $15,000,000 hospital bill, passage of which was completed yesterday, as a part of the present congressional program for veterans' relief.

Ambridge Squire Guilty of Attack

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 20.—William J. Cassidy, Ambridge justice of the peace, was found guilty of assualt and battery, but was acquitted of extortion. He must pay the costs in the latter case, however. Raymond Erwin, South Heights youth, was prosecuting witness.

James Dixon, Ambridge, was convicted of conducting an employment agency without a license. Witnesses testified he procured them jobs for $10 at a local plant and they were discharged after working two to four days.

James' Attorney To Write Biography

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—Col. Robert J. Haire, veteran criminal lawyer, today was ready to begin work upon a biography of Jesse James, gangster of the '80's, whom he defended in Missouri courts.

Col. Haire, who was disbarred in 1916, was released yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus sustained in Supreme Court, from Wards Island, where he was a patient in Manhattan Hospital for the insane.

Jailed Russian Claims to Be Czarevitch

BAGDAD, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—A young Russian, arrested by the Irak police on a charge of entering this country without a passport, has caused much excitement among Russians here by claiming to be the Czarevitch who supposedly was killed by bolsheviks with the rest of the Russian imperial family in 1918.

He told his tale after he had been released on the passport charge. He said he had escaped to Russia from a Siberian prison.

Countrymen of the youth say his likeness to the last heir to the Russian throne is startling, but others say that he is obviously younger than the Czarevitch would be if the latter had escaped the bullets and bayonets that killed his father, mother and sisters at Ekaterinburg.

2 PILOTS START EIELSON HUNT

NOME, Alaska, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Pilots Joe Crosson and Harold Fillam hopped off from Teller, Alaska, for Siberia, in the search for Pilot Carl Ben Eielson and Mechanic Earl Borland, lost since November 9 somewhere in the vicinity of North Cape. They were last seen speeding across Bering Strait and it was believed they had reached the mainland.

Crosson and Fillam were in sight for an hour and a half after they took off and their planes seemed to be functioning well. There were fog banks over the strait far out from shore.

Pilots Ed Young and Barnhill are to follow tomorrow, if weather permits, with two planes carrying gasoline and supplies for the fliers who have preceded them.

North Cape, where Eielson and Borland are believed to have been forced down, is 500 miles from Teller.

AVALON ERECTS YULE TREE

Avalon's community Christmas tree, a gift of Paul Lee, service station proprietor, was erected yesterday in front of the borough school, California avenue and School street. It will be decorated and lighted with 250 electric bulbs.

The committee in charge includes Capt. J. N. Arthur, borough manager; Burgess Grant Ritchie, Mrs. W. E. Michel, Mrs. Johnson McKean, Mrs. Wilfred Little and Mrs. Howard White, of the Avalon Civic Club; Mrs. R. H. Schaffer, Mrs. T. H. Wilson and Mrs. George C. Jenkins, of the Avalon Woman's Club.

Liggett Proposes Buying Owl Stores

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Negotiations for acquisition of the Owl Drug Company, of San Francisco, by the Louis K. Liggett Company are reported near completion. By acquiring the Owl Company, known as the principal drug chain on the Pacific Coast, the Liggett company would have 669 units in operation, reaching virtually every city in the United States.

TIRE BUSINESS SATISFACTORY

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 20.—"We look for a reasonably normal year in the rubber business in 1930," President Paul W. Litchfield, of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, advised, addressing Youngstown business men.

"The main branch of the rubber business, tires, moves more or less in sympathy with automobile industry," he said, "and we expect a reduction in tires for original equipment. On the other hand, with an increased registration, we are looking forward to somewhat of an increase in number of tires needed for replacement. The year 1929 was marked by a rush during first half, followed by a slack in last half, but in 1930 we anticipate more uniform production.

"Dislocation of security values which took place some weeks ago, has created a situation, in part psychological, of uncertainty in the buying public."

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Award to Commander Richard E. Byrd of the David Livingstone centenary medal was announced last night by the National Geographic Society.

The Hispanic Society of America founded the decoration in 1913 with the proviso that it could be given only for "exceptionally important achievement in the field of geography of the Southern Hemisphere."

Others who have received it include Sir Douglas Mawson, leader of the Australian-Antarctic expedition of 1911-1914; Col. Theodore Roosevelt, for his discovery and exploration of the "River of Doubt," now known as Rio Roosevelt, and Col. Rondon, for exploration of the Brazilian interior.

M'DONALD SAFE BY SLIM VOTE

LONDON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Ramsay MacDonald, prime minister, today retained the confidence of the British House of Commons on an important measure, but by the slim margin of eight votes. The Commons last night voted the coal mines bill its second reading, 281 to 273.

Since the voting was almost strictly along party lines, with the Liberals voting with the opposition, it appeared that the government staved off defeat on a major issue only because 32 Conservatives were absent from their seats. The government forces did not disguise their disappointment at scanty victory.

Cheers came from the Labor section when the result of the division was certain, but these were drowned with cries of "Resign now," when official figures revealed just how slim was the government majority.

The vote actually was on a Conservative amendment rejecting in toto the coal mines bill, which was one of the chief projects of the government, and was framed to meet campaign promises.

The prime minister agreed to consider objections of the Liberal party, without support of which the government cannot survive, in the committee of the whole House of Parliament. Despite this concession Lloyd George and all but two of his followers voted with the opposition.

Between now and January 21, when Parliament reassembles after the holidays, the government will negotiate with the various political and economic interests that have registered disapproval of the bill in whole or in part, hoping by this means to placate enemies of the measure.

NAVY BASE BILL APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—A naval shore construction bill calling for an expenditure of $10,077,500 for improvements at naval stations along the continental coasts, in Hawaii and the Panama Canal Zone was approved by the House Naval Committee.

The committee also made public the Naval General Board's recommendations that Camp Kearney, Cal., be selected in preference to Sunnyvale, Cal., as the site for the West Coast airship base; where the Navy plans to house one of its giant dirigibles being built at Akron, O.

SPONSORED BY ADAMS

The naval construction bill was sponsored by Secretary Adams, who also approved the general board's recommendations on Camp Kearney. The construction bill has been before the committee since last Congress and has been revised in many particulars.

The general board considered Camp Kearney "decidedly superior" to Sunnyvale for strategic purposes and for "contact and cooperation with the fleet" in time of peace and war. It added that both sites were suitable for airship bases in all characteristics other than strategic.

The general board overrode the majority report of the special West Coast air base board which recommended Sunnyvale, and approved the minority report filed by Rear Admiral William Reeves.

Under the construction measure Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, would be allotted $1,700,000 for water front and channel improvements; $390,000 for buildings at the submarine base; $249,000 for torpedo storage at the Naval Air Station.

ALLOTMENTS LISTED

San Diego Station would be allotted $425,000 for a floating dry dock; $550,000 for naval air station; $421,500 for training station.

Navy Yard, Mare Island, Cal., $435,000.

Navy Yard, Puget Sound, Wash., $1,535,000.

Canal Zone, air station, $210,000; naval base, $93,000; submarine base, $240,000.

Lakehurst, N. J., air station, $540,000; Marine barracks, Quantico, Va., $1,950,000; Navy Yard, Norfolk, Va., $65,000; air station, Anacostia, D. C., $300,000; air and training stations at Hampton Roads, Va., $800,000, and Navy Yard, Philadelphia, $10,000.

The Secretary of the Navy would be authorized by the measure to transfer to San Diego, Cal., about 10 acres of land on the submarine base, in order to acquire additional water frontage. He also would be authorized to acquire a site for a naval air station at Guam, and dispose of a radio station at Marshfield Ore.

MURDERS WIFE IN HOSPITAL

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—While police were seeking W. Ross Keith, Jr., after two alleged attempts by him to kill his wife, the man walked into a hospital room where his wife lay on a cot and shot her three times in the left breast. She died a short time later.

Keith then turned the pistol on himself, receiving a wound in the left side. Physicians at the hospital said his condition was serious and that he resisted their efforts to treat him, saying he wanted to die.

According to hospital attaches, Keith had been drinking when he appeared yesterday and asked to see his wife. He was taken to her room and soon afterward W. W. Whitefield, hospital bookkeeper, heard them engaging in a heated argument. Whitefield told police he went into the room but left again when Keith promised to go away. Whitefield said he had gone only a short distance down the corridor when he heard the shots, and returned to find both wounded.

QUIZ THREE IN ATTACK

MIDLAND, Pa., Dec. 20—Grilled by State police and county detectives concerning the attack on P. E. Toole, Pittsburgh, Ralph Johnston, 25, Smith's Ferry, Pa., and James Davis, 28, East Liverpool, O., declared they knew nothing about the affair. Police refused to state if Johnston and Davis were the men who brought Mrs. Ila Walker home from Canton, O.

Mrs. Walker, attracted by the groans of Toole, as he lay partly submerged in the waters of Upper Dry Run, clad only in a thin undershirt, summoned help. Toole was removed to the home of Mrs. Walker's mother, Mrs. Jennie Duncan, nearby. State police say Toole has been in a semi-conscious condition since the attack and they have so far been unable to get details of his story.

Marks on Toole's automobile show the tires were cut by being driven between rails and protruding bricks.

Piano School Entry Blanks

PIANO LESSONS HELP GIRL, 11

Mrs. Charles Woolslayer, Beaver Falls, is deeply interested in the Sun-Telegraph's offer of free piano lessons to all Pittsburgh.

For some time, she says, little Geraldine Woolslayer, 11, her daughter, has been taking piano lessons. Mrs. Woolslayer has been paying good prices for the lessons, from a good teacher, she says. Geraldine claims that she really wants to know how to play the piano. But she is having a hard time of it. The keyboard, the scales, the chords, bother her.

Geraldine's teacher is not enjoying the experience, either, it is said.

Mrs. Woolslayer feels that the new method in use at the Wurlitzer Music Foundation Piano School is easier, more efficient. The scales are ommitted from the course. The keys are learned as the student learns simple melodies. The course, unlike usual lessons, costs nothing.

Anyone who obtains one 26-week subscription to the Sun-Telegraph from someone who has not subscribed for 30 days is eligible to register for the lessons and be assigned to classes. The student is then allowed until the day of his first class to secure the other two new 26-week orders required before the necessary materials will be issued for him and before he will be admitted to class.

It is not necessary for the student to make any collections. The carrier will do that, every month.

The lessons to which the student subscriptions entitle him take his time once a week for three months. Practice periods at home are, of course, necessary. Unlike the old type of lessons, no piano is needed, for an artificial keyboard is used.

The keyboard and necessary sheet music become the property of the pupil. For them he will pay $2.50. This is the only payment of any kind which he needs to make while he takes the course and until he is ready to pay for more advanced lessons from a private teacher, after finishing his course at the Wurlitzer Foundation Music School.

ENVOY IS URGED FOR PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Dr. Enrique Olaya, Minister of Colombia, announced here that he had been asked to become the candidate of the Liberal party for the presidency of Colombia in the election next February.

In a formal statement the minister said that he "would not hesitate to accept the post of responsibility" provided his name was "backed by public opinion without regard to party." He stipulated, also, that the movement he would head must look toward a genuinely national and progressive government, capable of strengthening the economic condition of Colombia and solving its international problems.

The presidential election in Colombia is regarded here as of great importance to American capital, which now has invested there more than $220,000,000. Dr. Olaya has been minister of his country in Washington since 1922 and is looked upon as an exponent of friendship with the United States.

PRISON PUZZLE UP IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Justice Department plans for strengthening Federal prison system and construction of additional penitentiaries were discussed before the House Judiciary Committee by Attorney General Mitchell.

The attorney general said the system was "grossly inadequate and the situation brought about by over-crowding and idleness of inmates is desperate."

The program calls for an outlay of about $7,000,000. It would provide for construction of a penitentiary in one of the northeastern states for confinement of long term male prisoners, and for an industrial reformatory for males west of the Mississippi river and a hospital for defective delinquents.

HELD MAJOR PROBLEM

The plan also provides for reorganization of the administration of the prisons, authority for the attorney general to contract for their care, diversification of employment of prisoners and a single board of parole.

The committee will consider the measure to provide for the program at an executive meeting today.

Mitchell said the prison situation presented a major problem to his department, and that experts had spent months preparing the program. The only criticism that could be directed toward the construction program, he said, was that it probably was too conservative.

The capacity of all Federal prisons was 6,778, he said, while 11,387 prisoners were actually housed. Nearly 10,000 Federal prisoners are in state institutions, he added.

ASKS SIX MORE PRISONS

Representative LaGuardia, (Rep.), New York, asked the attorney general whether he thought repeal of some statutes would reduce the prison population. Chairman Graham, of the committee, interrupted to say the question was not germane. The New Yorker expressed resentment and Graham relented.

Mitchell said he was not prepared to answer the question.

Sanford Bates, superintendent of Federal prisons, said the recent outbreaks in prisons resulted from congested conditions. He contended that six additional prisons would not be too many and suggested that the population of any one should not exceed 1,000. He said that the larger the prison, the more discontented were the prisoners, because large institutions limited their privileges and decreased their comforts.

BURKE LINKED IN HOLDUP

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Dec. 20.—Fred Burke, alias Dane, may have been the third of the trio of bandits, which on October 24, 1919, held up the State Bank of Beaver Falls here, killed Vincent Sakraida a director; wounded his brother, John G. Sakraida, cashier, and escaped with $9,000.

John G. Sakraida said a published picture of Burke resembles the bandit who killed his brother and wounded him. Edward O. Brown, bank policeman, who encountered the bandit trio after the murder and robbery, declared Fred Burke was one of the men. George Burke, who bears a resemblance to Fred Burke, and Fred Haas were arrested in Pittsburgh a year following the robbery. They were tried in the Beaver County courts and convicted of first degree murder. Later they were granted a new trial and acquitted. During the trials the mysterious third man was mentioned as having a strong resemblance to George Burke and was described as heavier and taller.

Charges Election Board Passed Candy

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 20.—"Have one on Tillie" is the slogan which W. E. Hutchison, of Boyers, Marion Township, believes led to his defeat for tax collector. He charges members of the election board passed out cigars and candy in the interests of Miss Tillie Gormley, his successful opponent.

Alderman Carl G. Phillips held the members of the election board for investigation.

FARNUM TRIAL CONTINUED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Superior Court ordered a continuance to January 2, of the trial of a suit for separate maintenance brought by Mrs. Olive Ann Farnum against William Farnum, noted actor, because of failure of her counsel to give formal notification of the proceedings to Mrs. Isabella Major of New York.

Farnum was accused of misconduct with Mrs. Major and the court ruled she should have an opportunity to "protect her name."

The court previously had ordered a delay to allow Mrs. Major's counsel to prepare counter arguments and announced that unless it could be shown that Mrs. Major was served with the complaint, a continuance would be granted the defense until Mrs. Major has received the papers.

Mrs. Farnum in her brief appearance on the witness stand testified that she was "more than 50 years old," and had been only a house wife since her marriage on December 2, 1906, at Sag Harbor, Long Island, N. Y.

"The last time I saw my husband," she testified, "was when I kissed him goodby at the railroad station here on May 23, 1928. I next saw him when we went into the house at Sag Harbor at 3:30 a. m. on last June 18." At this point defense counsel interposed and asked for a dismissal of the action or a continuance because of the alleged failure to serve Mrs. Major with the complaint.

In her suit Mrs. Farnum alleges that she was accompanied to the Long Island home by Harry H. Chamberlain, her counsel, and his wife, and that they found Mrs. Major in the house with Farnum.

STATE TELETYPE SYSTEM READY

HARRISBURG, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The new teletype wire system linking the police authorities of 95 cities in Pennsylvania will be formally opened next Monday in the presence of Gov. Fisher, Maj. Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of state police, and other state officials.

The officials will witness the sending of the first official message on the telegraph-typewriter machine from the headquarters of the state police at the Capitol. In some sections of the state, where they were first installed, the machines have been in use for several days.

Headquarters of the State Constabulary, which originally sponsored the plan, will serve as the central point on the system. Zone centers will also be established at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Wyoming, where other sending units have been set up.

Cost of installing the machines and their leasing for the first two years of operation was provided in an appropriation of more than $250,000 passed by the last Legislature.

5 MEN HELD IN DRY BEATING

LEWISBURG, Pa., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—A constable and four other men of Mount Carmel were given a hearing before United States Commissioner Marsh, of Lewisburg, on charges of having beaten, robbed and locked in the Atlas jail, Mount Carmel Township, Prohibition Agent Francis Flood, who was making an investigation at that place.

They are: Constable John Bogozelski, alias Zenis; Pete Swatski, Angelo Corona, alias Peachie; Anthony Drige, alias Kutzie, and Dominic Reag I, alias Pumpkin. Bogozelski was released under an $8,000 bond while the other four men were placed under $8,000 bail each and committed to jail until January 20 when federal court will open at Lewisburg.

Peasant Arrested After Finding Turk Gold

JERUSALEM, Dec. 20.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency.)—An Arab peasant ploughing at Alkura in Transjordania, discovered a number of sealed cases in the field. Believing them to contain fire-arms, he notified a local Arab official who sent for troops.

They found that the four cases contained 10,000 Turkish gold pounds. The cases were confiscated and the peasant who found them was arrested on a charge of concealing other cases.

TWO FILE SUIT FOR REWARD

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The dispute over the $10,000 reward once offered by the City of Los Angeles for the capture of William Edward Hickman, slayer of 12-year-old Marion Parker, was projected into the courts with the filing of a suit for $10,000 against the city by T. B. Gurdane and C. L. Lieuallen, Oregon police officers.

The officers, who captured Hickman near Pendleton, Ore., in the fall of 1927 following the brutal murder of the girl here, said they filed a claim for the reward in February, 1928, but that the city apparently has taken no cognizance of their act and they never have received the money. Hickman was hanged for the crime.

ZERBEY PAPERS KEEP POLICY

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Incorporation of the J. H. Zerbey Newspapers, Inc., announced at Harrisburg, will bring about no change in the active management and control of the Pottsville Evening Republican and the Pottsville Morning Paper, J. H. Zerbey said.

"There is no thought," he said, "of taking in new capital or management. The incorporation is intended to provide for future continuation of publication and continuing employment of old employes. It will be the same active management and control, only in the form of a company."

Zerbey, a veteran publisher known throughout the country, has rounded out more than 50 years of active administration of his properties. In the past quarter of a century, he said, his newspapers have shown a constant annual increase in business.

Last Horse-Drawn Fire Engine Sold

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The last of the old horse-drawn fire engines that were once the glory of the New York Fire Department was sold at auction—to a junk man for $105.

Fifteen years ago when it went thundering down the street on its first trip, drawn by three powerful, plunging horses, it was worth between $7,000 and $8,000.

HOOVER ORDERS HOME LIFE SURVEY

Names Commission to Determine Changes in American Social Status

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20. —(AP.)— To determine the striking changes that modern influences have wrought in American life, President Hoover has appointed a committee of noted sociologists and given to it the task of conducting an exhaustive survey.

Such questions as the effect of city life upon mental and physical health, changes in family life, problems arising from increased leisure and a host of kindred subjects will furnish material for a minute scientific research that is expected to require two or three years for completion.

The purpose of the survey is the production of "a body of systematic fact about social problems, hitherto inaccessible, that will be of fundamental and permanent value to all students and workers in the field of social science."

NAMES BOARD

At the head of the survey the President has placed Wesley C. Mitchell, of Columbia University. Other members of the committee are Charles E. Merriam, political science professor at the University of Chicago; William F. Ogburn, professor of sociology in the University of Chicago; Howard W. Odum, professor of sociology at the University of North Carolina, and Shelby M. Harrison, of the Russell Sage Foundation.

The cost of the investigation will be borne by the Rockefeller Foundation. In announcing the appointment of the committee, the White House said that important preliminary work had been done by the Social Science Research Council.

SCOPE OUTLINED

The scope of the survey was outlined as follows:

"Such subjects will be studied as the improvement of national health and vitality, its bearing upon increased number of persons of old age and other results; the changes in maladjusted, such as insane, feebleminded, etc.; the effect of urban life upon mental and physical health; the institutional development to meet these changes; the problems arising from increased leisure; changes in recreation and the provision for it; the changes in occupations; occupations likely to continue to diminish in importance; those likely to increase; the changes in family life; the housing; in education; the effect of inventions upon the life of the people, and many others which may indicate trends which are of importance."

MOTHER OF 4 GETS DRY TERM

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Mrs. Pauline Parobenski, of Rextown, near Slatington, mother of four young children, was sent to the Mercer County jail, Trenton, N. She will be allowed to spend Christmas with her family, the court deferring the imprisonment until December 27.

When prohibition agents raided her home last October they confiscated 114 pints of beer and a gallon of whisky.

In imposing sentence Judge Thompson said he believed the woman's husband was the real offender, and was "hiding behind his wife's skirts."

MORE AUBURN GUARDS ASKED

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Col. George F. Chandler, declaring in his report on the riot at Auburn prison last week that "a veritable reign of terror has obtained in this prison through the machinations of the criminals in control of the Mutual Welfare League," has recommended to Gov. Roosevelt the abolishment of that organization.

The report, made public by Gov. Roosevelt, also recommended the employment of at least 50 more guards, immediate relief of over-crowding, segregation of incorrigible prisoners, withdrawal of special privileges, increase of allowance for prison food, and the employment of a sufficient civilian staff to handle lines of communication from the institution to the outside world.

This report was based on an intensive investigation by the organizer of the state police into all circumstances attending the outbreak. It was made at the request of Gov. Roosevelt.

Cells at Auburn were described by the colonel as "antiquated, damp, dark and cold," and as "simply flies in which human beings are stored away."

GUARDS SCORNED

Prisoners there, he asserted, "are poorly and inadequately clothed."

"Since the riot in July there has been a great feeling of unrest in the prison," he continued, "and some desperate characters have obtained control of the Welfare League and have held responsible positions in the league. This has given them freedom and they have gone about the yard, throughout the corridors and have used their league room at any and all times, even well into the night.

"Prisoners have cat-called at the guards and have used vile and abusive language to them, defied their authority and when put in the cells by the guards have been let out through the league officials immediately to laugh at the guards.

"League members have taken prisoners out of the line as they were marching and have ordered them into the league room and here the league members themselves have, behind closed doors, beaten up prisoners so that they had to be taken to the hospital. In fact, a veritable reign of terror has obtained in this prison through the machinations of the criminals in control of the league.

"The league members have threatened guards and have been powerful enough to have them transferred from their posts. It is inconceivable such a condition could exist in a penal institution in the state of New York and is without doubt the cause of the riots."

EMPLOYMENT URGED

Prisoners are used on the' phone switchboards, and handle the mail and act as clerks in the office, "due to a lack of an appropriation by the state for civilian help."

The arsenal at the prison was described as "a thin sheet metal cabinet on legs." The prison keys "are kept in a cupboard in the guard room behind a thin wooden door."

In the recommendations section of the report, Col. Chandler said selection of guards by civil service should be abolished and this choosing done by the Department of Correction. It was suggested that some building, either privately or publicly owned, should be acquired and rapidly put into shape and industry started to occupy the prisoners' time. Part time use of the Syracuse Fair Grounds buildings was suggested.

Three Pen Fugitives Still Not Located

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Dec. 20.—Warden A. C. Scroggins, of the state prison said that no trace of the three long-time convicts who escaped had been found. STIMSON SCANS LAREDO CASE

AUSTIN, Tex., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson has notified Gov. Dan Moody that his department was "taking steps to see what, if anything, can be done toward adjusting differences between the Mexican government and the city of Laredo.

He added, however, that the closing of the Laredo consulate seemed to be "in no sense a retaliation" for the latest attempts of District Attorney John A. Valls to arrest former President Calles, but rather "they feel that from several incidents extending over a period of time Laredo is not a safe point for their public servants to pass through in traveling."

The Mexican government apparently also feels, Stimson said, that traffic can be diverted to some other border point without great difficulty.

"The Mexican government finds it hard to understand," the message said, "why you (Moody) have not found it possible either by your authority or advice to ameliorate the conduct of the public officers of Webb County.

"I am not sure what can be done effectively, but perhaps it would help if we try to make it clear that the idea which the Mexicans seem to entertain—that Laredo is not a safe place for its public citizens—is erroneous."

Enrique Santibanez, Mexican consul [illegible] San Antonio, said that unless District Attorney Valls resigns or the charges of conspiracy to murder against Calles be dropped, the embargo against the port of Laredo will stand.

The consulate at Laredo was closed after Valls threatened to arrest Calles while the latter was in this country recently. The district attorney charges that Calles was implicated in the kidnaping and murder of two Mexican army officers here in 1922 as the outgrowth of revolutionary activity.

DRY INFORMER BEATEN, TALKS

COEUR D'ALENE, Ida., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—William Barrens, a miner, testified in the trial of officials of Mullan, Ida., and others on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, that Sheriff R. E. Weniger, of Shoshone County, allowed him to be beaten up in the jail because he aided federal dry agents at Mullan. Sheriff Weniger is one of the 27 defendants.

Barrens said he bought liquor from several "joints" at Mullan, then told Prohibition Officers Sam Webb and Julius Johnson, who made several arrests. Their prisoners were placed in the county jail. Then, said Barrens, he was arrested by Mullan officers on an assault charge, and the sheriff permitted the other prisoners to assault him for "squealing."

He testified that Weniger told Johnson, "I got your federal stool pigeon," and said to Webb, "I wish you would stay out of my county. I can run it better without you here."

The government alleges the Mullan City Council sold licenses to bootleggers and vice resorts, using the proceeds for city improvements.

Barrens continued his testimony, saying Charles Horning, county attorney, of Wallace, prepared a paper for him to sign, Weniger telling the prisoner that if he signed he would escape with a $10 fine, but that otherwise the sheriff would railroad him to the state prison.

Barrens said he was "too sick" to know what he signed. Then Johnson took the stand and confirmed the miner's statements about Weniger's remarks to federal agents.

AUTO DEALERS MEET

There is every reason to be optimistic over the business outlook for next year, W. B. Sawyer, assistant general sales manager, Oakland Motor Car Company, told 250 Oakland-Pontiac dealers of the Pittsburgh zone in convention here today. The convention was called by J. S. Calhoun, Pittsburgh zone manager, to discuss selling plans for 1930. A series of special demonstrations and a talk by H. F. Ball, also of the Oakland Motor Car Company, were other features of the program.

In his address, Mr. Sawyer said: "In approaching our sales program for next year, we have every reason to believe that 1930 will be a good year for business. Business authorities assure us that general conditions are sound, industry and agriculture are in a healthy position and there is no reason to fear a depression.

"We are not making any rash predictions regarding increases in automobile sales next year, but intend to build according to the demand as reflected by our dealers' forecasts. There will be no crowding or forcing of cars on our dealers except as they themselves order more cars than they can actually use."

RAIL EXPANSION RECOMMENDED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—If recommendations of Examiner Thomas F. Sullivan are approved the Interstate Commerce Commission shortly will authorize plans of the St. Louis, San Francisco and Texas, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific and the Clinton-Oklahoma-Western railroads to expand their facilities in Texas.

Sullivan's tentative report made the following recommendations:

St. Louis, San Francisco and Texas: To construct a line in Wilbarger and Baylor counties, and that road to operate, under trackage rights over the Rock Island in Jack, Wise and Tarrant counties.

St. Louis, San Francisco: To acquire control, by purchase of capital stock, of the Gulf, Texas and Western.

St. Louis, San Francisco and Texas: To operate, under trackage rights, over the proposed line of the Rock Island in Hardeman and Wilbarger counties.

The Rock Island to construct a line in Wheeler, Collingsworth, Childress, Hardeman, Foard and Wilbarger counties.

Sullivan further recommended that the application of the Fort Worth and Denver Northern for authority to construct a line in Childress, Collingsworth, Wheeler and Gray counties, be denied as not being in the public interest.

QUICK TRIAL FOR SLAYER OF 3

KEYSER, W. Va., Dec. 20.—(AP.) — Indications were that Walter Crabtree, 35-year-old Romney man who Wednesday killed three persons he blamed for his imprisonment on a liquor charge, would go on trial for the slayings at the Hampshire County Court term opening January 8.

Lionel K. Thompson, Hampshire County prosecutor, said Crabtree undoubtedly would be indicted at the next regular session of the Hampshire County Grand Jury in Romney January 7. If a true bill is returned, he said, Crabtree will be placed on trial the following day.

Justice of the Peace H. C. Inskeep, 50; Ben R. Hillerm, county jailer, and Ed Wolford, 20, were killed and three women wounded when Crabtree began a tour of Romney with his shotgun, a list of those he blamed for his incarceration in his possession. Witnesses said the man apparently was intoxicated at the time.

Crabtree still was being held in solitary confinement in the Mineral Springs County jail here today. Thompson said Crabtree probably would be kept here until his case is brought to trial, because of the feeling against the prisoner in Romney.

Mrs. Rhett Goode, D. A. R. Leader, Succumbs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Mrs. Rhett Goode, national president of the Children of the American Revolution and president of the National Officers Club of the Daughters of the American Revolution, died yesterday of heart disease at the club of the Colonial Dames. She had been an active member of the D. A. R. for 28 years.

Mrs. Goode's home was in Mobile, Ala., but her later years were spent in Washington. Carrying out one of her last expressed thoughts, that no greater honor could come to a woman than to be buried from Memorial Continental Hall, Mrs. Goode's body will rest in state in the hall today, and services will be held there. Interment will be in Mobile.

RUSS RELIGIOUS BAN SCORED

LONDON, Dec. 20. — (AP.) — Nearly 5,000 religionists, most of them women, gathered in Albert Hall last night to protest against "the persecution of religion in Russia." The meeting was arranged by the Christian Protest Committee which has the Earl of Glasgow and Viscount Brentford as joint chairmen.

There were heated speeches denouncing what was described as Russian interference with religious liberty. The meeting then adopted a resolution which said in part:

"The persistent and cruel persecution of our fellow worshipers in Russia calls upon all believers in God and lovers of liberty throughout the world to pray and work unceasingly for the religious freedom of the people in that country.

"The British government is urged to make the strongest possible representations to the Soviet government to bring this persecution to an end.

"Copies of this resolution shall be forwarded to the heads of all civilized governments."

GUARD BLAMED AS 15 DIE

BARCELONA, Spain, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—A sleepy crossing watchman was blamed by civil authorities for a collision in which 15 persons were killed and 16 injured when a passenger train hit an auto bus yesterday at a grade crossing between Santa Sadurni de Nova and Gelida.

Every passenger in the bus was a casualty. Their vehicle was smashed to pieces. The locomtive was damaged but no one on the train was hurt.

The crossing where the accident occurred is "blind." Witnesses said that both the train and the bus were running at high speed when they came together. The road vehicle was dragged 300 yards down the track.

After an investigation, the police arrested the crossing watchman, charging he was asleep as the bus approached the crossing.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Two officers of the Columbia Finance Corporation, with offices in Seventh avenue, were arrested last night charged with misappropriating $300,000. They are Solomon Cruso, 31, and Samuel Shuckman, 30.

David Wohl, deputy state attorney general, was the complainant. He said he had received complaints that investors in the corporation had had difficulty in getting their money.

After three days of investigation, Wohl decided to prefer the complaint.

SLAYER OF BOY LOSES APPEAL

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Judge Charles Egan, who sentenced Peter Kudzinowski to death for the murder of a young boy, refused a plea by counsel for the slayer for a stay of the execution.

Unless there is some unexpected intervention, Kudzinowski will go to the electric chair in Trenton this week. Gov. Morgan F. Larson has refused to intercede.

Louis Steisel, of counsel for the condemned man, said he would ask the Federal Court for a stay on the grounds that his client had been illegally sentenced.

Kudzinowski was convicted of the murder of seven-year-old Joseph Storelli on the Jersey City meadows.

YOUTH ACCUSED IN GIRL'S DEATH

ROANOKE, Va., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—R. T. Hubbard, commonwealth's attorney, lodged a formal charge of murder against Buren Harman, in the slaying of Freeda Bolt, Willis High School senior, last week. The youth's indictment will be sought at a special session of the Roanoke County grand jury January 6, he said.

Harman, held since Sunday in Floyd County on a warrant sworn out by the girl's father after her disappearance last Thursday, is now in Roanoke City Jail.

Negro Arraigned In Woman's Death

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 20.—William Clark McCoy, 28, Negro, sought as the slayer of Mrs. Martha Jacobs, 33, Negro, on the night of November 6 last, was arrested at Clarksville where he had been working in a mine. He was brought to jail and arraigned on a charge of murder. McCoy is said to have killed the woman because she refused to accept his attentions.

STATE TO SUE IN FORGERY CASE

HARRISBURG, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The Department of Justice has taken steps preparatory to bringing suit against banks and other indorsers of checks involved in the $129,000 cattle indemnity fraud, which have refused to make good the amount of the checks to the state.

Acting on behalf of the Department, William A. Schnader, special deputy attorney general, returned a number of the forged checks to several of the state's eight active depository banks. The banks, Schnader said, will be given one more opportunity to credit the state funds of which they have custody, with the amounts of of the checks.

Unless restitution is made, said Schnader, the state will institute actions in court for the collection of the money. He declined to reveal the number of checks returned or their value.

The checks represent a portion of the whole number of more than 500 figuring in the swindle which were originally turned back to the depositories by the State Treasury for collection from correspondent banks and individuals who cashed them.

Several of the depository banks credited their state accounts with the full amounts of their share of the loss. Others declined to do so when the original indorsers refused to suffer the loss, claiming the Department of Agriculture, where the fraud occurred, was lax in its administration of the cattle payments and therefore the state should stand the loss.

Those which refused payment sent the checks back to the treasury, which in turn forwarded them to the Department of Justice for collection.

Ends Coughs!

"Each cough made me more anxious...more frightened!"

"It was eleven o'clock on a bitter winter night—my little daughter Jane woke up—coughing. My husband ran to the drug store and got a bottle of Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup. With the very first swallow of the syrup her cough began to calm down. We gave her a little bit every hour and finally, around two o'clock in the morning, she fell asleep again. How relieved I was! In the morning Jane felt much better—and in two days she was all well again."

MRS. J. K. VILA, New York City

Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup ends coughs so quickly because it has Triple Action: (1) it soothes, (2) is mildly laxative, (3) clears air passages.

EXPRESSING YULETIDE JOY IN DALCROZE

MISS HELEN MURRAY AND HER KINDERGARTEN CLASS AT BELMAR SCHOOL IN THEIR CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION

Girls Impersonate King With Dance, Songs

By PENELOPE REDD

"We are three kings led by the star" sang three little girls dancing towards their crimson and gold and green and silver Christmas tree.

Those three little girls at the Belmar School's Christmas celebration yesterday mimed three kings, not by the artificial habiliments of scenery and costume, but by music improvised to express their Christmas carols in dance as well as song.

Penelope Redd

Miss Helen Murray, the only kindergarten teacher from Pittsburgh and one of the few from the United States to study with Dalcroze, has adapted his theories to kindergarten games.

The theories of Jacques Dalcroze, of Geneva, Switzerland, are at work everywhere in the world. Dalcroze, working on the theory that the singing of his improvisations would teach music students to apprehend tone and rhythm, found that the students naturally beat time. Then he wrote a series of "gesture songs." Later he extended the idea to a method for training the body in such a way as to make movement not merely an accompaniment of music, but a means of expressing it. About 25 years ago he applied his methods of teaching to children.

Miss Murray's adaptation of the Dalcroze theories co-ordinates all of the child's natural impulsive rhythm and regulates it into a dance that is not formalized. Her 5-year-old students are capable of doing the difficult "plastic counterpoint" of the Dalcroze idea, which means that the time of the music is expressed by the movements of the arms, while the tone duration is communicated by the movements of the feet and body.

The children's work is improvised not only for festivals, but even commonplace games are rendered rhythmically. The growth of trees, the movements of clouds and birds and boats, the blossoming of flowers, and other poetical subjects are so described. There is none of the vague flowing movement of the Isadora Duncan imitators. It is spontaneous, descriptive singing and dancing, controlled by the discipline of rhythm that makes for order and for art.

Grove City Woman Injured

GROVE CITY, Pa., Dec. 20.—Mrs. Barbara Hassell, 90, one of the community's oldest residents, is in a critical condition following a fall in her home.

Girl Bride Taken Home By Father

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 20.—Helen Panning, 14, wife of Martin Kristyak, Jr., Springfield Township, was taken in charge by her father, Martin Penning, of Youngstown, O., and returned to the Ohio city. It is alleged that the girl ran away from her home two months ago and married Kristyak, in New Castle. The license was obtained by giving her age as 18 years.

SLAYER OF TWO WOMEN GUILTY

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 20.—John Dewey Seevers, 38, of Cleveland, O., was found guilty of murder in the first degree with a recommendation of life imprisonment for the shooting to death of his wife by a jury in Criminal Court here this morning.

The verdict was read at the opening of court before Judge R. L. Hildebrand. The jury retired at 9:22 o'clock last night and reached a verdict at 2 a. m. today.

Seevers was on trial for a week for the slaying of his wife last July 25. Seevers also fatally shot Mrs. Catherine Rodgers and wounded her son, Walter, 10, while they were on an automobile trip. He was not tried for the murder of Mrs. Rodgers.

Insanity was Seevers' defense.

Much of the time in rebuttal was spent in arguing objections to the testimony of Dr. Loyal W. Wilson, a member of the lunacy commission, which investigated the mental condition of Seevers and held that he was sane.

Dr. H. E. Zerner, who examined Seevers, and Dr. C. C. Dickey, who was present when the examination was made, testified that Seevers was insane. Charles E. Allen, a newspaperman, was called to tell what he had learned on the day of the shooting from Mrs. G. E. Hess, of Beechwood Inn, and said that Mrs. Hess told him that Seevers had raged and cursed.

Frank Powers, of Cleveland, O., a brother of Mrs. Seevers, testified to having known Seevers for many years and classified him as a normal man.

Carl Teis, former liveryman of Cleveland, testified he had been in Seevers home and known him in the past two years and that he had seen nothing to indicate that Seevers was of unsound mind.

Lake Passenger Steamship Safe

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The passenger ship Alabama was safe in Grand Haven, Mich., last night after battling her way back to port through high seas and poor visibility, according to word received by Capt. A. Franklin of the Goodrich Steamship Line.

Capt. Franklin said the ship arrived at Grand Haven safely at 10:11 o'clock.

WAR VETERAN BURIED

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Dec. 20.—Funeral services were held here yesterday for Maj. G. L. Gordon, Spanish-American and World War veteran, whose death occurred last week in Tonopah, Nev., after he had been beaten unconscious on a Tonopah street.

Before retiring from service in the Pennsylvania National Guard, Gordon attained the rank of major in the old "Fighting Tenth." He served as first lieutenant in Company K, during that command's service in the Spanish-American War. During the World War he was in the aviation service.

Military honors were accorded him at the funeral. Former companions who served with Gordon in Company K in the Spanish-American War were pallbearers. A firing squad from the old command also accompanied his body to the grave.

$450,000 Verdict Given in Heart Balm Suit

DETROIT, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—A jury here awarded Bertha Cleavenger $450,000 in her breach of promise suit against John H. Castle, millionaire real estate operator.

The jury's award was considered by local attorneys to be the largest in the legal history of the country. The largest previous award was in the O'Brien vs. Manning case in New York when a verdict of $225,000 was awarded. The judge, however, cut the verdict down to $125,000.

"I was certainly satisfied with the verdict," Miss Cleavenger declared. "I would have been good enough sport to accept gracefully any verdict the jury might have returned."

FLYING CLINIC ORGANIZED

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—A flying clinic that will visit 11 Central and South American countries to treat patients and instruct medical men has been organized by the Pan-American Medical Association in connection with its second congress and exposition at Panama City, in February, 1930.

Plans call for six physicians and surgeons to leave Miami, January 24, in a Sikorsky amphibian plane, for the flight of some 6,808 miles.

Club Gives $80 To Needy Families

BROWNSTILLE, Pa., Dec. 20.—The Redstone Italo-American Citizen club has given $80 toward helping four needy families. Tony DeCarlo, Frank Durinzi and Phillip Rossi are in charge of the committee investigating needy cases in that district.

45 PIANOS LOANED FREE

Forty-five Pianos (Grands, Players and Uprights, both new and used instruments) will be placed in homes of Pittsburgh and vicinity and they may be used until we need them—which will be an indefinite time. We have discontinued eight of our large branch stores, and are placing these instruments in our "Frederick's Annex," located at 915 Liberty Avenue. Instead of storing and holding these pianos for the regular price, we are going to slaughter the prices and take our loss now. If you have ever thought of buying a piano, now is the time. We do not wish to place our instruments in storage and all Pianos not sold outright will be placed in the homes of families who are interested in owning a piano in the immediate future, and for the valuable advertising we will receive by having good families use them. We reserve the right to select the homes in which these pianos are to be placed.

Positively No Charge For Anything

No cartage, no rent or any expense whatever. You must call at the store to make your selection. There are no strings to this offer, which comes but once in a lifetime.

THREE HELD AFTER JAIL DELIVERY

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

UNDER the head of unfinished stories comes this one. Two men walked into the William Penn Hotel Wednesday night and sought out Albert, the maitre d'hotel. They explained they had driven in from West Virginia to satisfy the dying wish of a friend. The friend, on his deathbed, wanted a piece of watermelon. The two men hadn't been able to find a watermelon in any nearby West Virginia towns, so they drove to Pittsburgh.

They left with the watermelon. Who they were Albert doesn't know. Whether they reached the bedside before death we don't know. Why the dying man wanted watermelon we don't know.

They won't let Santa Claus rest. This year Eddie Harlow, the telegrapher, announces his company will send telegrams direct from Santa to the good little boys and girls. In one, to be sent a few days before Christmas, Santa warns all the boys and girls to be good little boys and girls so that Santa may reward them properly. In another, for use after Christmas, Santa asks the boys and girls to be good little boys and girls so that, come next Christmas, he may pile gifts upon gifts. The time is not far distant, we warn you, when the old boy will be called into service for the Fourth of July, or even the Fifth of July.

Theater ushers are unusual persons. They must learn to be military, polite and efficient. They aren't allowed to look toward the screen for fear they'll lose sight of the customers in favor of the third reel. Oftentimes they have instructions to direct patrons to one section of the house rather than another.

There is Eugene Connelly's true story of the Pittsburgh usher who was escorting a couple to their chairs.

"Seats in the rear," the usher saluted, "seats in the rear."

"May we," the gentleman asked politely, "have seats down front?"

"How the h— do I know?" the usher sotto-voced. "Seats in the rear, please."

AT THE breeding farm of Dr. Ogden Edwards in Lexington, Ky., Dr. Thomas Arbuthnot was sympathizing with the Negro hand who had lost money on the ponies.

"I'm afraid," the doctor offered, "if I had lost $100 on a horse I'd be sick."

"Boss," the Negro replied, "you ain't looking at a healthy man."

Will Rogers Says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 20.—There is only one form of employment in our country that I can think of, but what has its bright spots, and that's coal mining. There is generally an over-production and they are out of work.

If not that, it's a strike. Then, when they do go to work, the mine blows up. Then, if none of these three things happen, they still have the worst job in the world.

Now it's Christmas everywhere but McAlester, Okla. There 60 families are receiving the father's mangled body from the earth on Christmas eve, to see it returned on Christmas Day. Now if you can find somebody more deserving than that to remember on Christmas, I am wrong.

The Red Cross handles it there That means that your donation will be well spent.

MORE WONDER DOLLS ARRIVE

cause every little girl would jump right out of bed and know what it was all about. Santa Claus would save me a lot of work if he carried these dolls, but he just can't do it.

The parade of the singing dolls was bigger than ever yesterday. From early in the morning until six o'clock last night there was a steady stream of little girls and their mothers coming out of the Sun-Telegraph Doll Lady headquarters with great big boxes under their arms. In every box there was one of my wonder dolls.

HAS BANNER DAY

Yesterday was the banner day to date. In fact, I gave away more dolls yesterday than I have in any three days of the two weeks I have been here. Among the little girls who came in and claimed the dollies they had reserved were Mary McMillen, 315 Omega street, East Liberty; Lois Doelfil, 3909 Winterburn street, Squirrel Hill; Ruth Fleckenstein, 1108 Crucible street, Elliott; Ada Virginia Buey, 914 Malvern road, Avalon.

Just to be absolutely sure that every little girl who has done just what I asked her to do will get her beautiful dolly before Christmas, I am going to keep my headquarters in the Sun-Telegraph Building open until 9 o'clock tomorrow and Saturday nights, and also Monday and Tuesday nights.

In the meantime, I am still giving away a dandy little present to the girls who come in and reserve their dolls. I am putting these dolls away with the little girls' names on them. So if you have started to do just what I asked you to do, come in and select your doll. Bring your mama and your daddy with you—if you want to. And if you have not called at any of my headquarters, don't wait another day.

Come in and I'll tell you how you can get this big singing doll without a cent of cost to you. If you can't come in, clip the coupon in another part of today's Sun-Telegraph (in the Doll Lady advertisement) and I'll write you a letter telling you all about it.

Goodby for today! Hope I'll see you tomorrow!

Girls! Don't Wait! See the Doll Lady Right Away!

For your convenience, the Doll Lady has opened headquarters throughout Pittsburgh and the various suburbs where she has her wonderful, big singing dolls on display and where she'll tell you just how you can get one for yourself. Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: Do you think New Year's resolutions are adhered to by most people?

WALTER HAMMER, treasurer, Downtown: "I think New Year's resolutions are the bunk and they are all made to be broken. Hardly any one ever keeps them up more than a week or two In my estimation the only one who can't make a New Year's resolution at all is the person who is in love!"

Walter Hammer

JACK MULKERIN, assistant manager, Downtown: "In line with practically everyone else, I make a lot of New Year's resolutions, but I know that when I'm making them, they are to be broken. New Year's resolutions are a joke anyhow. The average mortal doesn't give them as much serious thought as he used to."

Jack Mulkerin

LOUIS E. SNYDER, entertainer, Squirrel Hill: "New Year's resolutions don't mean a thing any more. Perhaps a few years ago they did but the public is becoming educated to the fact that the idea is all a lot of bunk. What New Year's Eve means to most people is a time for making plenty 'whoopee' and having a real good time."

Louise Snyder

JEWEL TULLY, Southside: "I think I'm like most other people of the present day and age. They don't give New Year's resolutions any thought at all, except in a spirit of humor and fun. If one wants to make a lot of resolutions one can make them at any time of the year, let alone waiting for a special occasion."

Jewel Tully

PETE KING, dancer, Roosevelt Hotel: "Most people make New Year's resolutions every time Old Father Time rolls around. However, the rub, if any, is that they don't pay any attention to their ideals after the new plans are made. Personally I think such things are purely simple and silly. We refuse to delude ourselves any longer."

Pete King

RUTH KUHURT, Downtown: "I used to make a lot of resolutions every January 1 when I was younger but I don't any more because I know I won't keep them. If resolutions could be kept they would be o. k. The average human being is too active and as a result he forgets in a few days all the good things he was going to deprive himself of. It's a good thing though, if the resolutions could be really kept.

CHIEF JAILED, PRISONER FREED

Armed Pair Enter Wilmerding Lockup, Throw Officer in Cell, Release Theft Suspect

Three men were being held in Wilmerding today in connection with the jail delivery effected last night by two armed bandits, who entered the Wilmerding lockup and locked Police Chief J. B. Maguire in a cellroom after releasing ing Steve Mocham, of Patton Township.

Because they were being held for questioning as to the identity of the pair who seized Chief Maguire, police refused to give their names.

TAKEN FOR ROBBERY

Mocham was arrested yesterday with Thomas Mixer, of Watkins avenue, Wilmerding, by Capt. Moody Champ, of Wilmerding, and Constable R. L. Brown, of Turtle Creek, in connection with a series of robberies in the Turtle Creek valley.

He was lodged in the Wilmerding lockup while Mixer was taken to the Turtle Creek jail.

Maguire was released half an hour after his imprisonment by Capt. Champ and immediately notified Turtle Creek of the delivery.

Turtle Creek authorities at once took Mixer into hiding and later removed him to the county jail.

Maguire had returned to the station house for his automobile key, which he had left in his desk, when the bandits entered.

MENACED WITH GUN

The chief was dressed in street clothing and had his back to the door, he said. He heard them enter and then heard someone yell, "Stick 'em up!"

He complied when he saw one man pointing a gun at him and a second standing guard over the door with a gun. They took his blackjack and revolver, forced him to open the cell-room, and, having released Mocham, put the chief in the cell.

Champ reported finding radio sets and auto tools, taken in numerous gas station and garage stations in holdups this month, in the Mixer home. He believes that an organized band is responsible for the thefts.

Agent Here Named Consolidation Head

Officials of the Aetna Life Insurance Company have announced that W. B. Thomas has been appointed general agent for the Pittsburgh territory in charge of the recently consolidated life and group division. Mr. Thomas has been general agent of the group division in Pittsburgh for 10 years. Under his direction, Pittsburgh has become one of the leading offices of the company.

Two Youths Loot Church Poor Box

Two youths looted the poor box of the Slavish Catholic Church, West Ninth avenue and Center street, West Tarentum, last night. The pair escaped in a chase by police.

The thieves previously had been frightened away by a small girl of the parish. Their loot on their second try amounted to little, police said.

Mt. Lebanon Class Host to Children

The Amoma class of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church of Dormont will hold a Christmas party for 23 Russian children of a South Side Mission house, Monday afternoon in the church auditorium, Alabama avenue, Dormont.

Eddie Cantor Rises to Say:

BOSTON, Dec. 20.—Jimmy Walker, New York's permanent mayor, just had his salary increased from twenty-five to forty thousand dollars per year. I believe New York got off cheap.

All the other great humorists get paid at the rate of a dollar a word. Mayor Walker gives away more genuine wit and humor in one year than we professionals do in a life time.

To Jimmy the increase means a lot. Eighteen more suits, six overcoats, twelve hats, nine pairs of shoes, six pairs spats, ties, handkerchiefs, canes, a thousand dress shirts and a front and back collar button.

SUN-TELEGRAPH NEWSIES TO SEE TELEVOX AT ALDINE

THEATER PARTY TO BE GREAT TREAT

"Condemned" to be Shown And Westinghouse Will Present Mechanical Man

Ever hear of the "TELEVOX?" Nope! What is it?

Carrier boys who deliver the Sun-Telegraph have a wonderful treat in store for them Monday and Tuesday mornings, when they will be guests of the Aldine Theater management and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

Ronald Colman

By special arrangement with the Westinghouse Company, the famous "TELEVOX" is going to be brought down to the Aldine Theater and operated for the Sun-Telegraph newsies.

The "TELEVOX," you know, or may not know, is just a big man made out of iron and steel, who does just what he is told to do, just like a human being. He works electrically and is instructed to do this or that just by the blast of a whistle.

It's the nearest thing to a human being ever invented, and absolutely the latest marvel of electrical art. "TELEVOX" will be all dressed up in Christmas clothes, and he's going to make all the youngsters sit up and wonder.

It is the first time this marvel has ever been shown to others than adults.

However, "TELEVOX" is not going to be the whole show. The management of the Aldine Theater is going to make a special run of the current picture for the week—Ronald Colman in "Condemned" with Ann Harding—one of the greatest feature pictures ever made and one that will undoubtedly draw unusually large crowds for the holiday week.

District men of the Sun-Telegraph will distribute tickets to the newsboys in their respective districts on Saturday. Admission to the Aldine will be by ticket only.

DEDICATE TREE AT BRENTWOOD

The Rev. S. C. Michelfelder, president of the Lutheran Inner-Mission Society, will direct the community singing Sunday evening. Mrs. S. C. Michelfelder will accompany on the organ both nights.

The large tree, gaily decorated, located at Brownsville and Point View roads, is sponsored by the Brentwood Civic Club, Brentwood Community Association and the Brentwood Volunteer Fire Company.

WRECK VICTIMS ON WAY HOME

Three Pittsburghers who have stories to tell of being shipwrecked were to return home today from New York, where they landed late Wednesday after the steamer Fort Victoria had been rammed off Ambrose Lightship, near New York. They are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Baldwin, honeymooners, of Hutchison avenue, Edgewood, and Miss Ruth McCabe, of 1038 State avenue, Coraopolis.

The Baldwins, married here Tuesday night, were on their way to Burmuda. Miss McCabe, a teacher in the Washington, Pa., High School, was planning to spend Christmas vacation at Bermuda with friends.

SHARON, Pa., Dec. 20.—W. J. Kelly, 52, and Kenneth Kenny, 21, of Buffalo, are being held by police pending investigation into their stories that they were seeking shelter from rain when arrested near the Rosenblum Wholesale Grocery Company building. MILK MAID FOUND, HELD

Elizabeth Belle Lewis, 19, of R. D. 1, Valencia, who disappeared from her home Saturday last, because she was tired of milking the cows and feeding the chickens, has been found.

County detectives discovered her last night, they say, in the home of Mike Deroublias, 47, of the Evergreen road, a former employe of her father. Both she and Deroublias were arrested and charged with misdemeanor by Justice of the Peace James S. McGinley, of Millvale. Both were held.

The Lewis girl told Chief George Murren, of the county detective bureau, she preferred going to Morganza rather than return home. She walked 12 miles to Deroulias' house, the girl said, and remained there until found.

"I'm tired of milking cows and feeding chickens," she exclaimed.

SIMON ATTACK THEORY HIT

McKeesport police today had abandoned the theory that J. A. Simon, 50, of Maynard street, Squirrel Hill, had been attacked by robbers. Police found the man with his throat slashed, lying on a pile of blazing mattresses on the second floor of his store at 905 Fifth avenue, McKeesport, several days ago.

Simon, who at first was believed the victim of a robber's attack, was reported to be improving at the McKeesport Hospital today. After an investigation police discredited the attack angle.

DIVORCE SUIT HELD SPITE

Mrs. Katie Weber, of McKees Rocks, was actuated by spite in seeking a divorce from Andrew Weber after taking frequent legal steps against him, Judge Ambrose B. Reid held in an opinion in Common Pleas Court refusing her a divorce.

Judge Reid found there was practically no corroboration of Mrs. Weber's testimony charging cruelty and indignities and that Weber as a witness appeared credible while the same confidence could not be reposed in her statements.

The Webers were married February 4, 1922, each having been married before. Weber had four children of the prior marriage and Mrs. Weber had an adopted child. Weber's property was placed in her name and later she bought a larger home, from which she locked him out and sold his furniture on August 10, 1927, he charged. Weber has been employed for a number of years in a McKees Rocks steel plant.

Two Bandit Suspects Caught by Police

Two Negroes, who gave their names as William Grant, 25, of 104 Elm street, and Arthur Johnson, 24, of 2212 Forbes street, are being held in connection with the holdup and robbery of the Liberty Lunch, 1214 Wylie avenue, last night. The two men were taken into custody early this morning at 140 Elm street, where police reported finding a revolver and $38.02 in their possession.

The proprietor of the restaurant, Harry Kardias, has identified them as the pair who took $45 from his cash register.

STREET NAMES CHANGED IN OVERBROOK

Council Honors Native Sons in Arrangement; Hold Last Meeting Tonight

Overbrook Council, which will cease to function by the New Year, when that municipality will become a part of the City of Pittsburgh, has honored the borough's native sons and prominent citizens by renaming the principal streets of the borough after them.

This was done last night at council meeting. The streets were renamed for councilmen, former councilmen, ministers, political leaders, borough officials, the borough burgess. Mayor Charles H. Kline, Pittsburgh's chief executive, was also honored.

CHANGES ARE MADE

By a unanimous vote, the following streets were renamed:

Harding boulevard, named for the former President, was changed to Meier boulevard, for Councilman E. P. Meier, a staunch candidate for ward chairman.

Overbrook boulevard was renamed Ernest boulevard for Burgess Ernest E. Meier, a brother of Councilman Meier; Ridge avenue changed to Kline avenue, for Mayor Kline.

Oak road was renamed Herring boulevard, for J. R. Herring, president of council.

Frederick street was renamed Rohm avenue, for Bruce Rohm, councilman.

Robertson avenue was renamed Jewell avenue, for C. D. Jewell, councilman.

Fairview avenue was renamed Zoller drive, for Harry Zoller, councilman.

Lodge avenue was renamed Brown avenue, for the Rev. J. I. Brown, of the Methodist Protestant Church and borough secretary.

Mullooly street was changed to Bauer avenue, for Joseph Bauer, former councilman.

Hampden avenue and Franklin street, which join, were turned into Champion avenue, for Charles Champion, former councilman.

Freeport avenue will be Golden avenue, for Clyde Golden, former councilman.

Tariff street was renamed Glaneman avenue, for Henry Glaneman, former councilman.

Home avenue was renamed Luffy avenue, for Jacob Luffy, former school director.

Grandview avenue will be Friday avenue, after Philip Friday, road commissioner.

Briggs street will be Laughlin boulevard for John E. Laughlin, borough solicitor.

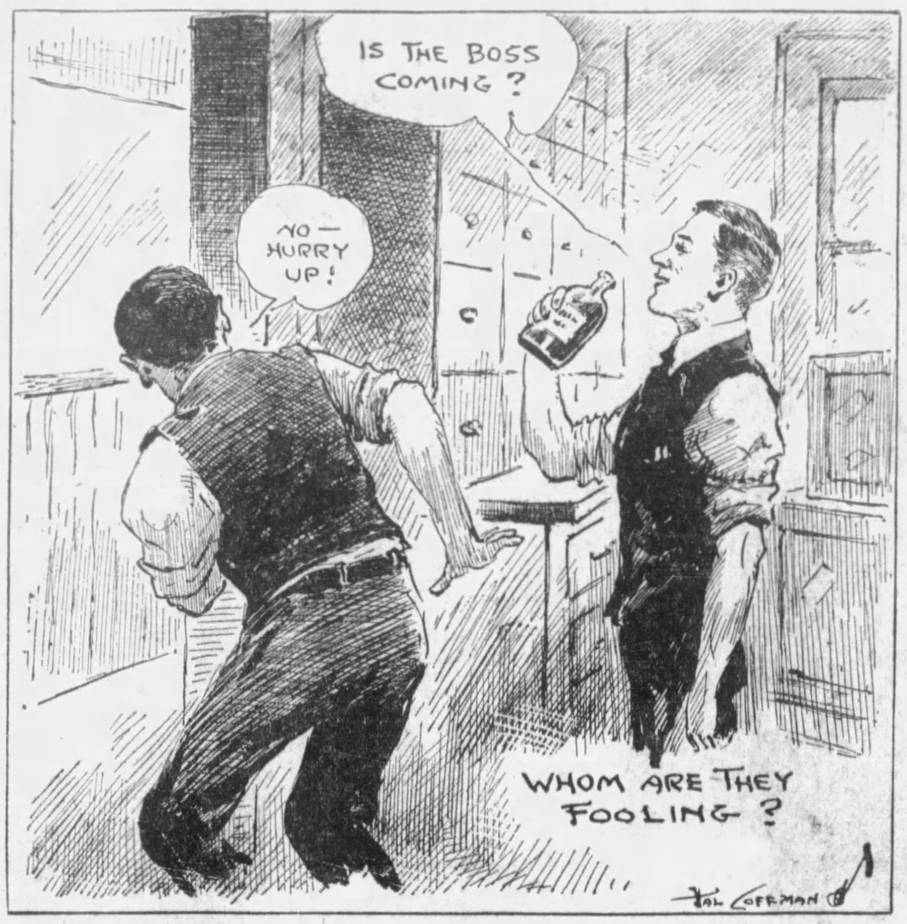
Shannon avenue was renamed Sehm avenue, for J. Sehm, councilman.

Main street will be Criswell avenue for J. Homer Criswell, Overbrook political leader.

MEET AGAIN TONIGHT

Another meeting will be held tonight, when contracts for street improvements amounting to $500,000 probably will be let. The improvements call for the grading, paving and curbing of 22 streets and for the construction of two trunk sewers. Of that amount the cost to the borough will be about $10,000. The abutting property owners will be assessed the balance. The sewer improvement will be paid by the City of Pittsburgh, Freehold and the Brookdale Plan Improvement Company. The city's share will be for the connection to the lower part of Brookline. There are 165 bidders for the 24 items.

THINKING IT OVER :-: By Hal Coffman



Lincoln said, "You can't fool all of the people all of the time."

You can, however, fool YOURSELF all of the time.

This picture shows two young gentlemen busily engaged in that pleasing pursuit.

Whether they are fooling anybody else is a question.

They are quite sure they have the boss fooled.

Very likely they have, if they don't blow their breath in his face.

Is is surprising how long you can bluff others, if you know how.

It is amazing how much LONGER you can bluff yourself.

Some succeed in bluffing themselves until death calls them.

They never learn the immutable law that you can't beat the game.

Always losing, they wonder why.

Mr. Coffman, with a few vigorous strokes of the brush, suggests why.

You, naturally, will profit by the suggestion, perhaps don't even need it.

Pittsburghers are co-operating so well in mailing Christmas matter early that Postmaster George W .Gosser announced today, he has been able to handle more mail than ever before with a decreased force.

Postmaster Gosser said that parcel post packages have shown a daily increase this week of from 10 to 34 per cent over the same dates last year. He asserts that the request of the postal authorities to the public to mail promptly, has brought such efficient results, his department has not needed a large corps of men who had been sworn in ready to help out in the rush.

The fact that the movement of parcel post packages has shown such an increase, is evidence in the opinion of the postmaster that the public is not only shopping early, but buying liberally in their efforts to make others happy.

Dry Raiders Seize Liquor; Nab Man

In a raid on a club on the second floor in the rear of 1903 Beaver avenue, prohibition agents seized five gallons of whisky and arrested Anthony Hart, 27, of 1224 Metropolitan street, last night. Hart's attempt to escape through a window was frustrated by agents stationed in the rear of the place, they said.

Pursue 'Bodies' Downstream; Find Trees

Wagonmen Jacob Gerber and R. F. Wickman, of the Central Police Station hurried to the Manchester Bridge last night when a man informed them that he had seen two bodies floating in the Allegheny River.

They, too, saw the figures, side by side. The wagonmen hustled down to the river bank and commandeered the towboat Darling. The boat raced down the Ohio with another, the Carbon, and at the foot of Franklin street, overtook the "bodies." They were two tree trunks, their limbs extending like arms.

TOYS IN DEMAND AT MISSION

Hoping that none of the children on its lists will be disappointed, officials of the Toy Mission have broadcast for immediate aid.

With a greater demand on the mission than ever before, the officers of the organization have asked the more fortunate children who expect new toys this Christmas to bring their discarded toys to the mission.

George L. Bond, representative of the organization, declared there was a heavy shortage of dolls and toys for older girls and boys.

Volunteer workers are on hand at the mission headquarters, 414 Penn avenue, to repair any toys that are brought in between now and Saturday.

SOCIETY HOST TO CHILDREN

Children attending the open air school at the Tuberculosis League Hospital were to be guests of the Ogontz Society at a Christmas party held in the hospital auditorium this afternoon. The program included a Christmas tree with all the necessary trimmings, a motion picture show, refreshments and gifts for all the youngsters.

The affair is an annual one sponsored by the Ogontz Society. The committee in charge of today's party included Mrs. Robert E. Grove, Mrs. Oliver Smith, Alice Arndt, Lorraine Taylor, Christine Johnson and Dorothy Hardie.

The school is one of the important activities of the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh made possible by the sale of Christmas health seals. This evening the annual Christmas party for the adult patients will be held in the auditorium. As in the past, it is sponsored by the Squirrel Hill Community Club. Mrs. J. V. Clipinger, vice president of the club, heads the committee having charge of the affair.

Motorists, Walkers Asked to Take Care

A plea to motorists and pedestrians to exercise greater care in the use of streets has been issued by the Better Traffic Committee in view of traffic fatalities here. According to Coroner W. J. McGregor, 159 persons have lost their lives in the city during the first 11 months of this year. Of the 159 killed, 39 were children.

COMPANY ASKS COURT BAN ON BRIDGE RAMP

Plan for New Connection Of Allies Boulevard and Liberty Span Attacked

The Pittsburgh Terminal Warehouse and Transfer Company, seeking to prevent construction of the projected ramp connecting the Boulevard of the Allies and the Liberty Bridge approach, filed a bill in equity in Common Pleas court against the city and county and the John F. Casey Company, contractor, and asked an injunction against them in proceeding with the work.

The agreement between the city and county, whereby the county agrees to construct the ramp, bear the cost and damages and maintain it, the ordinances of the city to make it effective and to provide for street work, and the contract awarded November 22 to the Casey Company, are declared in the bill to be unconstitutional and without any authority of law.

The warehouse owns the property bounded by the Liberty bridge approach, Second avenue and the Boulevard of the Allies and Horace street and the Pennsylvania Railroad, comprising 75,641 square feet. About 4,000 square feet of this property will be taken in the construction of the ramp and the property will be irreparably damaged, the bill alleged. It averred the county is without authority to construct and maintain the ramp. The county commissioners, Mayor Charles H. Kline, members of Council, county controller and department heads are made defendants in the bill.

DESERTED WIFE WINS DIVORCE

Mrs. Rose Adelman, 48, of the Morrowfield Apartments, granted a divorce in Common Pleas Court by Judge George V. Moore, testified she supported her husband, Charles Adelman, and his son by a former marriage, until her millinery business went into bankruptcy, when he deserted her.

Mrs. Adelman said he was not employed when she married him, in March, 1924, and that she took him into her millinery business at 1216 Center avenue and provided a home for him and his son on Beeler street. She lost her business, and even her furniture, she testified, and he packed his things and left, August 5, 1926, Mrs. Adelman testified.

STURTZ'S TWO WIVES HEARD AT INQUEST

Verdict Recommends Murder Charge in Mystery Killing With Blame on 'John Doe'

"John Doe" killed David J. Sturtz, a coroner's jury decided today after hearing his two wives and others concerning the slaying of the motor mechanic. The jury recommended that "John Doe" be held for the grand jury on a charge of murder.

Sturtz was slain with a shotgun and his body dropped over a hillside along a Braddock Township highway December 3. The killing revealed to Zelma Sturtz, mother of two children, that she was Wife No. 1, and to 18-year-old Hazel Bastian Stayler that she was Wife No. 2.

DECEPTION KNOWN

Detectives, the wives, Victor Thomas, of 5710 Baum boulevard, the last man to admit having seen Sturtz alive the night of December 3, and a dozen others testified.

It was brought out that wife No. 1, who lived on the Lime Hallow road, Penn township, had been married 13 years; that she knew her husband was living with wife No. 2, and that he came home Saturday and Sunday nights to provide for her and her two children.

Wife No. 2 said she knew no reason why her husband should be shot. The two wives sat side by side.

GETS MARRIAGE PROPOSAL

"I have already had one marriage proposal," the little auburn-haired Hazel Stayler Sturtz said as she left the courtroom.

"It came from an employe of the Ford Motor Company at New Kensington. He said he is 33, earns $7.85 a day and would make me a good home. I did not answer it and received a second letter in which he still pressed for an answer to his letters."

She would not indicate what she intended to do about it, simply adding: "The detectives told me I would probably receive a lot of proposals." Mrs. Stayler Sturtz is not yet 19.

YOUNG BANDITS FOILED, FLEE

"I was too quick on the draw," Louis B. Ricco, owner of a barbecue stand at the intersection of the William Penn Highway and the Monroeville road, said shortly after an alleged attempt to rob his place had been made by two youths late last night. Ricco notified Pitcairn and Turtle Creek police, describing how the bandits ran when he drew a revolver and chased them from his establishment.

A piece of cardboard bearing the license number on the rear of the bandits' car in lieu of the regulation plate gave the police a clue. The automobile was seen in Turtle Creek and was pursued, but escaped Capt. Elmer Williamson, of the Turtle Creek police, and Constable R. L. Brown, of Turtle Creek, in a commandeered machine.

Miss Ruby Murray, of 418 West Lacock street, North Side, testified she saw Malone climb into a machine at Grantham and West Lacock street. The prisoner testified he was a World War veteran and denied he had any knowledge of climbing into the car, pleading he was intoxicated at the time.

TRUCK HAULAGE HERE GAINS

An increase of more than 100 per cent in long-distance motor truck haulage has been made in the Pittsburgh district within the last year, according to figures submitted by local motor freight operators.

D. O. Moore, traffic manager of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, acting as secretary of a joint conference of shippers and operators, stated that the business has grown to practically the capacity of vehicles maintained in operation.

GROWTH IS STEADY

Reports from the motor truck operators showed that the business has grown steadily and that additional machines are being rapidly placed in service. The movement is for larger and speedier trucks and replacements of vehicles are made weekly in order to modernize the equipment to meet the demand for this class of transportation.

Pittsburgh's daily average of long-haul tonnage exceeds 500 tons, and one concern reported that it handled from 100 to 150 tons daily. With new trucks ordered for spring delivery it is declared that another 100 per cent increase in haulage will be noted within six months.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

Attending the conference were D. E. Morgan, of Follansbee Bros. Company, chairman of the motor transportation committee of the shippers' council of the Chamber of Commerce; F. H. Horton, of the Aluminum Company of America; S. R. Hosmer, Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation; J. H. Huggans, McKinney Manufacturing Company; J. L. Kirby, Kirby Transportation Company; M. D. 8 IN BREWERY CASE FREED

T. H. Malley, general manager of the Greensburg Brewing Company, and Frank M. Winters, said to be a distributor for the company, were found not guilty in the United States District Court today of consipracy. They and six others have been on trial on that charge, the accusation being that they manufactured and sold "wort" for the purpose of making beer of illegal alcoholic content.

In the case of the other six a verdict of "not guilty" was returned yesterday under binding instructions given the jury by Judge Nelson McVicar. The company was also acquitted by direction of the court.

The verdict in the case of Malley and Winters was reached last night, but not announced until today.

In addition to Malley and Winters, the defendants were F. A. Maddas, president of the company; J. B. Dietrich, treasurer; E. S. Gerard, secretary; Edwards Roberts, bookkeeper; Charles A. Luebbe, a distributor, and Alois Gruber, an employe of Luebbe.

FOCH BELIEVED IN PRAYER

One day in France when thousands of guns were roaring, an American named Evans went into an old church to examine it. As he stood there with bared head, satisfying his respectful curiosity, a gray man with the stars of a general on the collar of his shabby uniform entered the church. Only an orderly accompanied him; no glittering staff of officers—just an orderly.

The American soldier paid little attention to him at first, but was curious to see him kneel in the church praying. The minutes passed until three-quarters of an hour had gone before the man arose from his knees.

Then Evans followed him down the street and was surprised to see soldiers salute the man in great excitement, while women and children stopped in their tracks with awe-inspired faces.

It was Foch.

IRON CONCERN IN RECEIVERSHIP

Wilfred Wood and the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh today were appointed receivers for the Coshocton Iron Company of Monongahela in an equity suit brought in Federal Court by the Bethlehem Steel Company. The bill of complaint sets forth that the defendant concern has assets greatly in excess of its liabilities, but has not sufficient funds to meet its obligations with certain creditors pressing claims.

The defendant company on October 31 had current liabilities amounting to $560,000, it is pointed out, some obligations being due and payable. The bill of complaints further sets forth that the defendant company owes the plaintiff $3,688.30 for goods bought and delivered and that the defendant's assets include $32,750 in cash, $14,231 in accounts receivable, $280,091 in raw and finished materials and other items totaling $330,399, and has real estate and equipment valued at $1,228,490.86. Attorney Raymond D. Evans, counsel for the defendant, filed an answer to the suit and cited a resolution passed by the board of directors of the Coshocton Iron Company consenting to the suit and appointment of receivers.

ELUDE ALARMS, CRACK SAFE

Cagey safe crackers got $80 from the Vulcanizer and Tire Supply Company, 6120-22 Broad street, early today without even leaving a fingerprint, although the windows and doors were wired with burglar alarms—all except one.

The robbers, gaining entrance to the Model Cash and Carry Tailor Shop next door, at 6124 Broad street, took $6 and two suits from there. Then they broke through a walled window in the partition, unwired, drilled three neat holes in the tire shop safe and got away. The thefts were discovered today by Fred Wissenbach, tire shop owner, and Miss Thelma Heltzel, tailor shop manager.

East Liberty Teacher Contest Nears End

The end of several Pittsburgh teachers' Christmas rainbow is near, according to Patrick Flood of the East Liberty Chamber of Commerce.

The end of the rainbow hides a valuable Philco DeLuxe radio set, Flood reveals. Fifteen of these sets will be awarded to teachers picked by students as the most popular.

The contest is being conducted under the auspices of the East Liberty Chamber of Commerce. Authorized East Liberty merchants give their customers one vote with every 10-cent purchase.

Votes may be cast for any teacher whom the customer wishes to have awarded a radio set. Teachers will not be in competition with teachers of other grades than their own, for one will not be chosen from each grade of the private, parochial and public grade and high schools.

The end of the "rainbow," as Flood calls it, will be reached by these 15 teachers on Christmas Eve, when the contest closes. He warns them, however, that they will not know it until the day after Christmas, when the radios will be given out at an East Liberty theater.

Dynamite Saves Bridges in Mercer

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 20.—The county commissioners spent $500 this year for dynamite which was used in blasting out obstructions in the channels of streams throughout the county to prevent the destruction of bridges during high water. Last year high water caused $18,000 damage to bridges.

As a result of the blasting, this year's damage will be negligible, the commissioners believe.

CONVICTS HELP BURY MINE DEAD

McALESTER, Okla., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Convicts from the state prison here were drafted to dig the graves of 59 m who were killed in an explosion in the Old Town Coal Company mine Tuesday and authorities undertook an investigation to determine the cause of the blast and fix responsibility for it.

At the same time, following a check of the bodies in the morgues, William Duvall, foreman of the mine, asserted that, in all probability, two more bodies lay hidden in the dark passages from which the others were removed by rescue crews, and a search for them was planned. Efforts were made to learn at the miners' homes whether the two men entered the workings on the day of the explosion.

The missing men are Manuel Merino and Harry Allison, a Negro. Duvall said, after viewing all of the bodies, he was convinced that although four were not identified, none were the bodies of the two men.

Two of the funerals were held yesterday, but most of them have been set for Saturday and Sunday. Caskets have been supplied at reduced prices and cemetery lots given by the city of McAlester.

Relief workers were confronted with the problem of providing for the 175 children, 46 wives and other dependents of the dead miners and pleas were renewed for funds. Responses from individuals and organizations were reported to be liberal throughout the state.

Despite the high mortality, comparatively little material damage was done, Miller D. Hay, state mine inspector, estimating that $500 would restore the mine.

FINEST SURVEY BOAT LAUNCHED

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Described as the most completely equipped vessel of her kind ever built, the Hydrographer, Coast and Geodetic Survey boat, was launched here at the plant of the Hampton Roads Shipbuilding Company. Miss Cecil Lester Jones, of Washington, daughter of the late E. L. Jones, former director of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, christened the craft as she slid down the ways into the Elizabeth River.

The Hydrographer, which will be completed and commissioned in May or June, will be the first Diesel-engined and electrically propelled vessel in the Geodetic Survey. She will replace the old Hydrographer and Bache, decommissioned some time ago. By means of an echo sounding apparatus, she will be able to learn in a second the depth of water under her and will be able to detect with her submarine radio apparatus submerged shoals and wreckage many miles from her position.

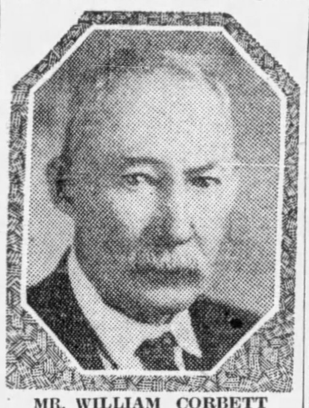
RHEUMATISM IS ROUTED BY NEW KONJOLA!

Pittsburgh Man Thought His Case Hopeless — New Medicine Brings Welcome Relief

Here is good news for those who suffer from rheumatism and who may fear that there is no relief. Every day come reports of Konjola's victories over this dread disease; indorsements filled with cheer and encouragement for all who are seeking the medicine they should have had in the first place.



MR. WILLIAM CORBETT

Konjola, with all its 32 ingredients working together, goes to the very fount and source of the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Konjola cleanses and stimulates the organs of digestion and elimination, and rids the system of accumulated poisons and impurities. But learn all about Konjola from the Konjola Man nearest you. There is a Konjola Man in Pittsburgh. He is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street. Call this man and hear of any number of cases like that of Mr. William Corbett, Rebecca and Penn Avenue, who suffered for years from rheumatism and then found wonderful relief through Konjola. Read now what Mr. Corbett recently said to the Konjola Man:

"If you suffer from rheumatism do not spend any time or money hunting the right medicine, for I can tell you from my own experience that Konjola is what you need. For several years I had severe rheumatic pains across my back and shoulders, and in my ankles, legs and feet. My ankles were so swollen and my legs so stiff and painful that I could not take a step without suffering the most intense pain. This continual pain brought on a nervous condition which caused me many sleepless nights. Morning found me feeling as though I had not been in bed. I felt weak, tired and worn out. I had about given up hope of ever being able to enjoy life again, as medicine after medicine and treatment after treatment failed to give me any relief.

"My attention was attracted to Konjola by indorsements of this new medicine by a number of Pittsburgh people and, even though I had little faith in it or any other medicine, I was eager for relief and decided to take one more chance. Well, I soon learned that I was taking no chance with Konjola, for this new medicine began to show results almost immediately. Day by day the pains became less and less severe. My bowels were regulated and my appetite increased. It only took eight bottles of this remarkable medicine to completely relieve me of all pain and suffering. The swelling is all gone from my ankles and I can walk better than for years, and I am enjoying health I feared I never would have again."

So it goes: the same splendid story of success when Konjola is given a chance to prove why it is the most talked-of medicine in America.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. Konjola is sold also by all Dow Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

SUN-TELEGRAPH

Gus and Louie's Solution Of Radio Love Fails

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

GUS and Louie of Schradertown Band fame decide that they have the solution to the involved love tangles which they plan to unravel tonight by shipping Louie to the wily Widow Biddle as a Christmas gift.

Gus' opinion is that Mrs. Biddle could not refuse nor reject so valuable a gift, done up neatly in a barrel, but both learn more about women when WCAE goes on the air at 9:30 o'clock.

Very appropriate for this season the Philco cast will present "Babes in Toyland" for KDKA at 9:30.

Brown-Bilt Footlites, WJAS at 8, will star the famous comedy team of Moss and Frye.

"Because You're You" and "Moonlight and Roses" will be contributed to the Quakers' concert by Mary Hopple and Lois Bennett, KDKA at 10.

We Now Present

Larry Jacobs, jolly old saint at the Stanley and instigator of the Warner Revue heard over WCAE every Monday, is first to wish the department well at Christmas-tide.

His personal greeting card was followed in the next mail by "What is Worth While," the gift of the Sponsor of Sacred Songs. It's a delightful little book of pleasant, helpful reading—and we know all this because we stole a march on Santa.

SEZ YOU?

Curt Peterson, supervisor of announcers at NBC, is accused of playing the part of Andy in "Amos 'n' Andy."

Like a nice little brownie, Frances C. Owen has garbed a beautiful tree in the WJAS reception room and changed all the curtains in anticipation of a visit from St. Nick.

Studious, temperamental, long hair—adjectives to describe young Anna S. DeLuca, 18, who will give an organ recital over KQV from 11 until midnight, December 26.

OH, DEER!

Herbert W. Irving, studio supervisor at KDKA, has just returned from a successful marathon expedition into the wilds of the northern part of the state. The object of this expedition was to find a living four-legged deer but unfortunately Irving wore a very light, fashionably-cut hat which caused ray reflections in the hemlocks, thus acting as a mirror for the deer who could easily recognize that Mr. Irving was carrying a dangerous weapon.

Because the deer realized that it meant the frying pan for them if they got too close, Mr. Irving had to return from his expedition into the wilds with the same amount of ammunition as when he went in. Next year he will leave his hat at home and go "collegiate."

TODAY'S TID BIT:

"Uncle Bob" Sherwood of Dixie Circus is 72 years old, never wears a hat, seldom wears an overcoat, but still has an "eye" for a pretty girl.

Two Duets

LOIS BENNETT — MARY HOPPLE

The popular duo of Bennett and Hopple will sing twice on the Quakers' program through KDKA at 10 o'clock tonight.

The hopes and ambitious dreams of the beautiful French girl who is known to us today as Mme. de Pompadour were readily understood in France of the Eighteenth Century. The girl of the lower middle class, Jeanne Poisson, grew up with one ambition—to be the favorite of the king.
The story of her first subtle and successful attempts to attract his attention, of her amazing rise in power, and of the ingenious schemes by which she prevented the king from succumbing to his chronic affliction, boredom, will be heard in this sketch.

"Babes in Toyland."
The characters of the operetta are the familiar personages of the nursery rhymes of childhood. The first scene is laid at a country fete in Contrary Mary's Garden near the Widow Piper's home. Uncle Barnaby gives a dance to announce his engagement to Contrary Mary, the sweetheart of Alan. Barnaby seizes the home of Mother Hubbard because of a few shillings debt and he is doused under the village pump. Tom-Tom rescues him from the children. Tom-Tom wishes to marry Barnaby's niece, Jane. Barnaby declares both Alan and Jane are at the bottom of the sea and that he is sole guardian of their fortune.
Captain Gonzorge and Rodrigo, two ruffians, enter and make mysterious references to "survivors from the sea." The Widow Piper tells Rodrigo, the more sentimental of the pair, that her children need a father. Tom Tucker decides to seek the missing Jane, but she and Alan appear just as he starts out. News is given them of Uncle Barnaby's wicked schemes. They leave as Barnaby enters.
He proposes to Mary but is promptly refused. Gonzorge and Rodrigo testify that Alan and Jane are dead and claim their rewards. As they leave, Alan enters. He is greeted coldly by Mary and he says he will go away and become a monk.

Plans to make Christmas a merry one, with their love tangles unraveled once and for all, will be heard when Gus and Louie of Schradertown Band fame decide that the way to win the Widow Biddle back for Louie is to ship him to her in a barrel disguised as a gift. 3 BANDITS ROB DRUG STORES, ESCAPE

Girl Faints in Phone Booth And Robber Loses Nerve as Clerks Seek Cellar Refuge

Police and detectives today were searching for bandits who obtained $623 in five holdups last night.

In Squirrel Hill bandits robbed three drug stores and escaped in an automobile under a barrage of shots fired by a policeman.

The pharmacy of L. E. Cochrane, at Wightman and Hobart streets, was first visited by five robbers all of whom carried revolvers. They looted the cash register of $210, robbed one customer of $55 and another of $13. The names of the patrons were not learned by police.

Fifteen minutes later the same gang, it is believed, entered the Iams Drug Store, at 2333 Beechwood boulevard, forced B. Iams, the proprietor, his clerk, Clifford Hasley, and five customers, including a woman, into a rear room and rifled the cash register of $75.

POLICEMAN FIRES

Patrolman Patrick Lacey was passing the store as the thugs fled. Lacey fired at the machine as it sped up Beechwood boulevard.

The gang next visited the Woodlawn Pharmacy, at 5200 Forbes street, but obtained no loot. Dr. H. Finkelpearl, the proprietor, and his son, Dr. A. Finkelpearl, ran into the basement of the store when the thugs entered with drawn revolvers. Miss Mary Herwood, of 3438 Frazier street, who was in a telephone booth, fainted when she sighted the bandits. One of the robbers went to the cash register, but lost his nerve and dashed out of the store with his accomplice.

TAKES CASH, WALLET

An armed Negro walked into the office of the St. Vincent De Paul Society, at 2005 Fifth avenue, held up the manager, William J. Shields, of 1322 Virginia avenue, and Miss Elizabeth Morrison, a clerk. He relieved Shields of $200 of the society's money and then took his wallet, which contained $20.

H. Kardis, of 1214 Wylie avenue, proprietor of a restaurant was robbed of $50 by two Negroes who entered the place. James Kallest, a customer, whose address was not learned by police, chased the robbers for several squares but halted when the Negroes fired three shots at him, police reported.

Kidnaped on Campus, Student Declares

HERRODSBURG, Ky., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—A story of being abducted from the campus of the Eastern State Teachers' College, Richmond, Ky., and forced, at a pistol point, to drive two men almost continuously for five days and nights, was related here yesterday by Alvin Adkinson, 19, who returned to his home at Cornishville, with his father, Robert Adkinson, and T. L. Whitmer, Herrodsburg. The latter two brought the youth back from Montgomery, W. Va., from which place he communicated with his father, after eluding his captors last Friday, according to the story.

Defeated Chinese Rebels Deserting

LONDON, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—Completely defeated, the "Ironsides," rebel batallion of Gen. Chang Fah-Kwei, is steadily retiring into Kiangsi province, a Hongkong dispatch to the Times declared today. From a menacing force of 50,000, the batallion was reduced to a few thousands in the rebel rout by Nationalist troops at Canton.

An Exchange Telegraph message states Japanese troops have occupied Wuchow, the scene of recent rebel movements, and the situation there now is quiet.

Supreme Court's Oldest Attache Dies At 81

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Richard Nugent, the oldest employe of the Supreme Court of the United States, died at his home here yesterday.

Nugent, a Negro, was 81 and had been with the court for 57 years in various capacities.

As a small boy he was employed in the home of the clerk of the court, and later as a messenger at the War Department. In 1827 he was appointed messenger to Justice Ward Hunt and later to Justice Blanchford and Chief Justice White. Eight years ago he became doorkeeper at the main entrance to the court.

STATE ACCIDENT TOTAL SWELLS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Although more industrial accidents of all kinds occurred in Pennsylvania during the first 11 months of 1929 than in the corresponding period of last year, the number of resultant fatalities dropped more than 4 per cent.

The monthly compilation of accident reports to the Department of Labor and Industry revealed today that there had been 154,324 accidents in Pennsylvania's industries thus far this year, as compared with 141,348 for the same months of 1928. Fatal accidents this year numbered 1,847 against 1,925 last year.

Coal mining showed the biggest decline of fatal accidents with 847 men losing their lives this year and 962 last.

The Mather mine disaster in the bituminous fields in 1928, which took a toll of more than 100 lives, was responsible for the higher total in 1928.

The increase in the total number of accidents was attributed mostly to the increased employment which caused greater exposure. The department said manufacturing industries alone expanded their forces by 7 per cent this year over 1928.

While fewer accidents were reported last month than during October, the total of 165 fatal and 13,910 non-fatal mishaps in November was a material increase over the November, 1928, figures.

GERMAN POLICE BATTLE REDS

BERLIN, Dec. 20. — (AP.) — Demonstrations of the unemployed were staged simultaneously at the behest of Communists in several large German cities last night. Serious clashes with the police resulted and it was reported that two men had been killed in the Berlin riots. Scores of persons were injured.

The demonstrations were held to back up demands for special Christmastide relief from city councils.

The most serious clashes occurred in Berlin. Demonstrations had been widely advertised and the police had issued orders against them. A heavy cordon of officers was thrown around the city hall and repulsed every effort by the demonstrators to reach that building.

The authorities say that shots were fired from one group of the unemployed. The police charged this group and used their blackjacks freely.

At Plauen the demonstrators hurled malodorous bombs into the meeting hall of the city council and forced the members to leave. There were also disorders at Kiel, Stettin and Stuttgart.

Youngstown Wives Leading in Divorce

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 20.—In the last year 657 divorce cases were filed in Mahoning County courts, and 646 were granted, court officials announced. The records show that wives outnumbered husbands three to one in filing cases and that in most instances children were awarded to mothers.

NEW TOY TREND SEEN IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Santa Claus must be a very modern old gentlemen to satisfy the taste of young America this Christmas and at the place where he once slid down the chimmey with one doll, he must deposit a whole family of dolls now, not to mention toy airplanes, trains and yachts.

This more-demanding trend on the part of children was cited by the Department of Commerce in issuing statistics showing that the sale of American toys is mounting steadily both in this country and abroad.

In 1927, the last year for which United States production figures are available, the national toy bill was estimated at a hundred million dollars and exports at $4,000,000. In the two subsequent years, the department said, those who have watched the manufactures in this industry and the use by children of American toys, anticipate a far larger consumption total for 1929.

Changing customs and tastes and the development of construction, transportation and other industries were said by the department to have had their effect on the toy industry and are reflected in the new minds and designs of playthings. Some of the old favorites are holding their own while others are either losing in popularity or are being adapted to meet the present day.

Airplanes, zeppelins, electric trains, trucks and other toys designed to help the child grow mentally as well as physically are finding an increased demand, with most of them cleverly constructed to simulate the real thing even to the most minute detail.

A Saga of Wailing Wall Street
EDDIE CANTOR

"Only one fellow I know got a lucky break in this (stock market) panic. That was my uncle. He died in September, B. C. — Before the Crash.

"Naturally, no right-thinking man will blame Hoover. After all he was only elected to be in the White House for four years. But that's no consolation for the rest of us who'll probably be in the poor house for the rest of our lives.

"I went to one of the larger hotels in New York City and asked the clerk for a room on the nineteenth floor. The clerk looked up at me and asked: 'What for? Sleeping or jumping?'

"Word has flashed about town that Woolworth had taken over all the brokerage houses throughout the country and was going to sell the stocks over the five and ten cent counters."

RESULTS OF THE CRASH

"106,486 speculators drove down to Wall Street in Rolls Royces and returned home in Mack trucks . . . 87,429 married men had to leave their sweethearts and go back to their wives . . . 72,567 duplex apartments became two family houses overnight . . . 53,698,432 radio owners are complaining of a new kind of static. It comes in the form of daily stock market quotations."

"Extracts from Eddie Cantor's "Caught Short" published by Simon and Schuster at $1.

Merry Christmas

Sparton . . . "Radio's Richest Voice", should be in every home this Christmas.

WHEN your gift to your family is music, only the finest will do. The thin line that separates mere good reception from music that inspires and thrills, may seem vague now, but hear a Sparton and the difference becomes amazing.

The first velvet notes will linger in your memory. They will tell you that here . . . in radio . . . is the heart and soul of the artist as you feel it when you hear him in person. Here, truly, is FACE-TO-FACE REALISM.

To give for Christmas this remarkable radio development is to give the cultural influence that exists only in music at its best. It is to give inspiration . . . companionship . . . spiritual uplift . . . as well as entertainment.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Women Open Musicale Season

AT Christmas time when everyone's just rushed with social engagements, and last-minute shopping, and philanthropies, folks seem to be able to do just more and more things.

And the week before Christmas brought the opening morning musicale of the year. You remember, I'm sure, that for several years a group of society women, with Mrs. Taylor Allderdice as leader, has been holding morning musicales at which students and non-professional musicians gave programs.

Yesterday morning the first musicale of the year was held in the home of Mrs. John A. Nelson, Murtland avenue. And, of course, there was Yuletide music. Featuring the program was the singing of all the old-time Christmas carols, under the direction of Mrs. Allderdice.

The remainder of the program was given by Grace McBride, violinist; Dorothy Jubilir, soprano; Mrs. Sula Wing, of Erie, contralto; Miss Elizabeth Storer, Mrs. John Byerly, and Mrs. John E. Nelson, pianists.

There will probably be several more morning musicales during the coming months.

Serving on the floor committee, of which Mrs. W. Edgar Peed is chairman, will be Edward Vose Babcock, Frank F. Brooks, Jr., Thomas Douglass, John Fisher, McCook Miller, McCook Reed and Pierson Wright.

And Mrs. Edward C. Bald, Mrs. Dwight Coble, Mrs. George S. Ebbert, Miss Eleanor T. Grier, Mrs. Frank B. Gordon, Mrs. John P. Hoelzel, Mrs. Gale R. Nutty, Miss Sophie G. McCormick, Mrs. C. L. PRECEDING the ball given for Katherine Collin last evening, another bud, Mary Elizabeth Floyd, daughter of the T. A. McGinley's, of Lincoln avenue, North Side, was honored with a dinner in the Pittsburgh Golf Club given by Miss Edna Woods Sutton, of Fifth avenue. White and silver were used in decorating the club.

The guests are the debs of this season. Miss Sutton, gowned in black transparent velvet, received with Mary, who wore brocaded satin in flesh color with a girdle of deep American beauty velvet. And did you notice her slippers matched the girdle? Her mother wore flame red silk, very long, with a drapery at one side caught with a corsage of poppies.

THEN after the dinner the guests attended the ball that the George Hubbard Clapps, of Edgeworth, gave in the Pittsburgh Club in honor of their debutante granddaughter, Katherine Collin, daughter of the junior William W. Collins, of Sewickley. Katherine wore a lovely gown of white transparent velvet and tulle, very long, with a low decolletage. The clubroom was gayly decked with scarlet Poinsettias and sprays of silver leaves with holly intermingled.

Working Girls Can Pick Mates Best

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—To pick a husband right, girls, get a job.

Women who are earning their own living have a better basis for judging men and choosing husbands than women without business experience."

CHRISTMAS decorations at the Congress of Clubs have again struck a note of orginality and beauty, despite the general belief that nothing new could be thought of or that Congress House could never look more beautiful than it has in the past. In one respect at least a new effect has been attained and that is in the decoration of the archway in the hall. Outlined with arbor vita and hung with a lighted multiple pointed star, a striking effect is obtained. Wreaths are hung on the outside of the Penn avenue windows and two little illuminated fir trees guard the doorsteps.

A great cluster of red leaves, snowy bells and smilax that drapes in festoons down to and around the wall brackets is the original note on the lounge wall between the two fireplaces. Mantels are banked with arbor vita, silver leaves and red berries, while a seven-branch candlestick lights the long mirror at one end of the room. A gorgeous arrangement of silver poinsettias, some of the blossoms with lights in their centers, lends a special beauty to the front dining room where each table has its tiny center tree. Opalescent leaves of silver and green combined with artificial mistletoe and holly have been used in the Rieck dining room. In the auditorium stands the big tree and the mantels have their bankings of greenery and the lights their draping of red leaves.

MEMBERS of the Brighton Women's Club went to the East End yesterday and were guests of Mrs. J. T. Taylor, of Lytton avenue for their meeting a session that furthered their year's study at the same time that it marked the season. "Christmas in Scandinavia" was discussed in an interesting paper by Mrs. F. E. Jamison, who told how the thrifty, kindly people include even the animals in their thought, giving to the cow an extra portion on Christmas Eve and loosening the dog from his chain. She told of the foods, strange to the American taste, which are used at the Christmas feasts, and stated that the celebration lasts from Christmas Eve until mid-January. The religious spirit is emphasized, the family always attending church service, very early in the morning, carrying torches to light them on their way. In Denmark fireworks are a part of the festivities.

A brief biography of Hans Christian Anderson was given and a few of his shorter fairy tales were charmingly read by Mrs. Donald Lorch. Caroling was led by Mrs. H. L. Krause, with Miss Henrietta Gerwig at the piano. During the tea hour Mrs. Taylor was assisted by her three daughters, Mrs. J. H. Overpeck, Mrs. D. C. Franklin, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. J. F. Pigman, who has come on from New Haven to spend the holidays with her mother and sisters.

SMARTNESS OF THE NEW FROCKS COMBINED WITH PRACTICALITY

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Dec. 20.—Some of the new frocks are very capable. They manage to be supremely smart and eminently practical, and to give comfort and warmth without being bulky. This is achieved by means of the detachable cape, that many see as an advance agent for the return of the cape in all its variations next Spring, especially as part of the ensemble. Several of the mid-season collections showed caped dresses, also evening ensembles with capes, an eminently graceful fashion. A cape undoubtedly lends an animated movement and dignity to the figure, a somewhat difficult combination to attain. Even the smart little tweed walking frocks seemed ever so much more smart and sophisticated with their capes, as they were displayed to enthusiastic gatherings at the various ateliers recently.

ONE of the establishments sponsoring the cape is that of the house of Philippe et Gaston. We are sending you a sketch of a neat and striking little cape tweed frock. It is of brown and beige, beautifully tailored, and the little detachable cape is lined with brown. The leather belt is dark brown and there are narrow pipings of white pique along the edge of the surplice collar and cuffs. It is to be hoped that such dresses will be of the mode in the Spring. They should be ideal for the busy American girl who demands that her clothes achieve the acme of smartness without any sacrifice of charm.

MOLYNEUX showed many tweeds in his new collection as did most of the leading houses. Especially smart is the ensemble in this material, shown here in brown lavishly trimmed with nutria. The loosely bloused tunic is of the same practical length as the straight hanging box coat. A pair of box-pleats at the front gives a comfortable width to the trim, straight-line skirt, which it will be observed is a sensible, comfortable length for walking. Ankles may be content with semi-retirement in the evening, but they are entitled to and should receive their freedom during the day.

'JILTED,' SINGER KILLS HERSELF

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—Despondency over loss of her $250,000 breach of promise suit against Capt. Reginald Sheridan Carroll, British war ace, was believed to have prompted Esther Case, one-time European opera singer and more recently a radio singer, to end her life last night by slashing her wrists and inhaling gas.

She was found on her bed, with a tube from a gas jet in her mouth.

Nearby was a note under which was piled letters, jewelry and several small trinkets. The note, unaddressed, read:

"Kindly return these things to Capt. Carroll at Baldwin, L. I."

She had been subject to fits of melancholia since the unfavorable outcome of her suit against the British officer last July.

Miss Case established her reputation as a singer in Europe, where she appeared for 14 years. At one time she was prima donna at the Royal Opera House in Stockholm, Sweden.

In radio programs, which she frequently gave, the song, "Oh Promise Me," was featured until recently, when the ballad, "Forgotten," became her favorite number.

Miss Case was born in California and was 40 years of age. She lived here with her brothers, Lester and Donald.

DR. J. G. PETTIT DIES IN W. VA.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Dr. John Garfield Pettit, 50, superintendent of Hopemont Sanitarium, near Terra Alta and one of the State's leading physicians and surgeons, died here today.

Dr. Pettit was known throughout the state. He was president of the West Virginia Tuberculosis Association, besides being head of the State Tuberculosis Sanitarium at Hopemont. He held clinics all over the state for tubercular sufferers. He also was an authority on mental diseases.

Dr. Pettit died in a hospital following a second operation for gastric ulcer.

A native of Trimble, O., he was appointed superintendent at Hopemont by Gov. Morgan and reappointed by Govs. Gore and Conley. For a time he was in charge of the Weston State Hospital.

Dr. Pettit was prominent in state Masonic circles. He is survived by his widow and three children, who reside at Terra Alta. The widow was Miss Grace Evelyn Starkey, of Spencer.

The body will be removed by motor to Hopemont, where it will lie in state before being taken to Weston for burial at the Masonic Cemetery there.

VOTE CONTEST HEARING SET

A move to have the court quash the contest against C. R. Shiring, winner of the Wilmerding tax collector fight in the last election, was asked by Attorney Oliver K. Eaton in Quarter Sessions Court today. Judge Harry H. Rowand set January 13 as the date for the hearing on the petition.

The election of Shiring, given 1338 votes as of 1211 for his opponent, John F. Richards, was contested by a committee of 50, with George Munro, chairman. The committee charged that 120 votes cast in the Fifth District of Wilmerding and 160 in the Sixth District were illegal.

BROTHERS HELD FOR ARSON

Vito Apollo, 38, and his brother, Frank Apollo, 40, were held for court today on charges of arson, at a hearing in Central Police Station, resulting from an explosion and fire in their confectionery store, 3435 Penn avenue, last Monday.

Two fire insurance adjusters, J. Sherman Campbell and Charles Miller, both members of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, testified that after the fire a quantity of fuses, caps, 25 pounds of gun powder and a mixed portion of gasoline and water were found in the ruins. They said the brothers carried insurance totaling $16,000 on the store.

Rail Head Orders Coal Cars Sifted For Gift Purse

There are many coal cars in the Altoona yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad, but railroad employes will empty them one-by-one until a purse containing $60 is found.

Frank Sibert, an employe of the Beachley Coal Company, lost his purse while loading a coal car.

He had been given the purse and money by his wife as a Christmas gift. The purse was lost two days ago and when Vice President E. W. Smith, of the railroad, heard of the man's loss, he ordered the coal cars searched.

The cars were traced to the Altoona yards, and there they will be emptied.

PAPER MAKER'S SON KILLED

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Warren Moritz Behrend, 20, only son of President and Mrs. E. R. Behrend, of the Hammermill Paper Company, met death at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon near Pleasant Hill, N. C., when his automobile went into a ditch and turned over.

A school companion, Ned Richardson, of California, with Behrend, is in the Weldon (N. C.) Hospital, seriously injured.

Reports say the tragedy occurred when Behrend, in an effort to avoid a collision with a bus, swerved his car into the ditch.

Behrend and his companion were on their way from Washington to Charleston, S. C., to join Mr. and Mrs. Behrend, who were at the seaport town with Mr. Behrend's yacht Amida.

OFFICER FREED IN DRY CASE

Policeman Albert J. Meuser, attached to the Penn avenue police station, was acquitted in Federal Court on a charge of attacking four government prohibition agents and interfering with them while they were conducting a raid November 19 at the store of John M. Gabowski, 2830 Penn avenue.

At the trial before Judge Nelson McVicar, the police officer was accused of striking Agents H. J. Allison and M. M. Micken. The defendant said he believed them to be robbers, and they failed to disclose their identity when he entered the store. The raid occurred late at night.

The officer was exonerated two weeks ago by the Police Trial Board, where the members of the raiding party appeared against him. The jury deliberated one hour.

HEALTH SURVEY IN PORTO RICO

SAN JUAN, P. R., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Governor Theodore Roosevelt has received word from Washington that the National Child Health Association of the United States would make a survey of juvenile conditions in this island.

The project is a result of the appeal which the governor made for the undernourished children of Porto Rico.

Dr. Pedro N. Ortid, commissioner of health, before sailing to give three lectures at Harvard University, said that Porto Rico lacked not only sufficient food for its people, but also that much of the food used here was improper.

The commissioner said that this was having great influence on the basic health conditions of the island

Hoovers Busy Preparing For Christmas Fetes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The bustle and stir known to every American home as Christmas comes 'round was seen in the White House today as President and Mrs. Hoover prepared for an old-fashioned Yuletide season.

Christmas trees were ordered for the close friends of the Chief Executive, one to be placed in the East room and another for the President's private apartment on the second floor.

To compensate for the failure of Herbert Hoover, Jr., to come with his young children to spend Christmas at the White House, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover have arranged for a party at which the youngsters of the men in their immediate official families will participate. Secretary and Mrs. Davis will bring their children for a special Christmas party as will Assistant Secretary Davis, of the War Department, and the President's two private secretaries, George Akerson and Walter Newton.

On Christmas Eve the President and Mrs. Hoover will participate in an open-air party in Sherman square, where a huge community tree will be lighted.

President Hoover will get some travel and mystery books in his Christmas stocking. Mrs. Hoover, who purchases most of the President's reading matter, has ordered several of the two types of books he likes best.

Miss Pat

by ELENORE MEHERIN

Pat Is Unsuccessful in Effort to Escape With Billie

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

THEY meant to kill her; hurl her over this sheer, frightening precipice.

Palsied with the stark image of herself being rushed to the edge of the plateau, being lifted, being flung into the mad chasm, Pat sat before the little stove and lifted bacon from the pan.

Her small companion ate happily. He was going home right after breakfast. Yes, he was! Wouldn't she take him? What's the name of these rocks? Why did we come here?

Pat sat numb in a wild incredulous horror. She'd wander off now—quickly—before they dreamed she suspected—hide herself somewhere. Why did they need to murder her?

Her youth—her storming love of life rose in a fury of resistance. Remain here and be slain; be dashed to an unthinkable death? She would NOT!

She figured on escape. As far as she could see the plateau was barren—a vast, nude table-mountain stretching between mighty perpendicular gorges.

High above them, oh, thousands of feet, and shutting them in a tremendous semi-circle, towered the gigantic, awe-inspiring canyon walls. The morning haze flung over the sheer, titanic walls lovely filaments of lavender, of gold and transparent blue.

It revealed sublime sculptured monuments, pyramids and parthenons and a purple temple with a mile-long columned arch. . . .

Pat could have wept seeing all these lovely forms. The sunlight and softness but intensified her solemn terror. How unbelievable to be flung here in this bleak, uncompromising isolation. In the power of fiends.

The pilot was leaving. Going to find that path out. Then they could get a machine and go through with their deal. They would take Billy with them. They would tear the child from Pat and, even as she screamed in protest, shove her over the cliff.

They didn't look like murderers. This pilot whom the tall, thin one the other called "Ace" would have passed anywhere as a rather captivating fellow. He had thick black hair that went in a wave over a white forehead. He had large, soft brown eyes. Only the mouth, which was indolent, weak and a little cruel, made one uneasy.

The other man, Tom, was somewhat repellant—hard, cold grey eyes, hard, cold, unscrupulous lips. Strangely Pat Feared him the less. He would be ruthless—he it was who pointed to the chasm with that "Easy—shove her over—who'll ever know?" And he could do it. Yet she was glad it was he in whose company she was now left alone.

She took the little boy's hand and walked toward a rock ledge. He pulled back.

"I don't want to be here. I don't like it. You said you'd take me home."

Pat looked into his dark, wistful eyes.

"Why are you looking like that? If you won't take me home, will you tell me a story?"

She thought with pitiful trembling: "What will they do with him? God—don't let him find any path! . . ."

This would be the very least that God might do—let Ace not find any path! Then there would be days of life left her. This, at least.

But if he returned this evening with news of a trail leading out, why this evening—she shut her eyes—would be her last.

She stepped up on the ledge and looked down. Far, far down. She said to herself weakly:

"I don't think they could do it. I don't see how they could!"

But in Willa Cather's great novel of the Southwest, a man had been hurled from a cliff—deliberately—horribly. She recalled the description and wiped chilly moisture from her face.

There was a farm down there on the floor of the canyon. And a white house with a red roof. Miles distant, separated by a whole series of lower cliffs. Yet there must be a way to reach it!

By noontime she was drawing her breath with laborious effort. And by noontime she had walked down there to the slope. And from there she had seen a gully with stunted pines and some underbrush.

She would wander down here—pretend that she went for a walk. As it grew dark she would hide away. All night long she would run through the wilderness. She would escape! And Billy would be with her.

She watched the man who was so inappropriately called "Tom"—such a square, honest name. Not his, she was certain. Once, as they sat before the stove last night, the pilot had called him "Slim." Even in the dark Pat felt a fury of warning. There had come a long, grinding silence. "Slim" was perhaps the name by which he was known.

He was working on the damaged wing. Now and then he went in to the cabin and listened at the radio. He came out once with the faintly triumphant smile on his lips.

What news had he heard? That no one had the remotest notion of the kidnapers' identity?

For half an hour he was blazingly intent on his work. He'd repair that wing—they'd make a getaway—somehow. In this half hour he didn't once glance Pat's way.

And she was growing too panic-stricken to wait for the dusk. Before that, Ace might return. Then it would be too late! Better wander off now—get hidden deep in the thickets.

Carelessly, but her whole body dripping with terror, Pat picked up two of the sandwiches wrapped in wax paper. She stuffed them in the pocket of her sweater.

Then she took the child's hat. She stooped down and whispered:

"We're going off into the woods to find the house of the Three Bears. Don't make a sound. Hush, now!"

And out into the clear, glowing sunlight she moved, the little boy stepping along on tiptoe. The canyon walls threw out a vast pink glare. Their witchery was gone in the bald afternoon light.

Casually she advanced until she came to the slope. Once certain she was hidden from his sight, she grabbed little Billy in her arms. She said softly: "Piggy-back—but quiet now!"

And she ran. She reached the gully. The pines were here, but, oh, how few of them—how wretched, unkindly thin was the brush! Five hundred yards, then it was a clear again—a wide stone table with not a weed poking through crevices.

This barren flat stretched for a thousand yards. Stumbling a little because it was warm and she was faint with apprehension, Pat crossed it.

Here again were trees—a dozen squat trees. She reached them. And turned around. She sank down at the base of a pine, holding the little boy in a sobbing embrace. Slim was flying across the flat. And there was no way to escape him.

She rested her head against the bark. She rushed into the midst of a story:

"Then the big father bear said in a father-bear voice—"

The man was at her side, glowering down at her:

"Yes? Now what?"

"Yes yourself!"

"Running away, are you?"

"Don't mind if I find a shady nook for myself, do you? You've taken me on such a thrilling adventure! Any reason why I should cook in a desert sun as yet? When you're out of food, I shan't be surprised if I'm expected to cook myself for you."

The blood flared in two scarlet patches on her cheek and her voice, for all its brag, came woefully thin.

Without a word Slim reached down and pulled the sandwiches from her pocket.

"Just get yourself back there, little girl. And don't try this again. You won't get away with it."

Pat flung her head up, unaware of the mad, storming appeal in her eyes:

"I'm afraid of you! What can you do to me? I'm not afraid of you or anything! I'm not wandering off! I'm waiting for you to repair that plane and take me HOME again! It's the least you can do. Do you really mind if Billy and I sit here in the comfortable shade? You ought to thank me for being a nurse-maid for you!"

He had hold of her arm and was walking her back. Her heart fluttered wildly, for already now the shadows were coming up from the abyss. In a few hours—

She pulled her arm free and looked up into the man's face. She took her fists and beat them against his chest. She said softly, with a terrible quaver in her throat—yet smiling:

"It's true. I'm not afraid. You nor anything can ever hurt me! Nothing on the wide earth can. I'm not afraid—even of death."

"I'm glad to hear it—glad to hear it."

They reached the plane. Slim tossed the sandwiches back into the box where the provisions were kept. He looked down across the plateau.

Pat followed his glance. There on the crest of the low slope stood Ace.

Worthy Son-in-Law Fills Gap in a Sonless Household, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

SOME parents are disappointed because they have only a family of daughters.

Other parents are disappointed because they have only a family of sons.

Yet time will bring marriage. The girls will bring fine young men into the family. And the boys will bring lovely daughters.

Perhaps Ambassador Morrow, though he adored his three lovely girls, sometimes wished he had a son. Now one of his girls has married the most famous young man in the world, giving her father a son-in-law greater than his own son might have been.

A son must make his own way in the world, but daughters have married to fame, fortune and power and carried their whole family along with them.

So it all works out beautifully.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Phil's Insistent Request to See Madge Worries Her

PHILIP VERITZEN'S suave but insistent request that he see me alone as soon as possible was not unexpected. Ever since I saw his eyes flash to Princess Olina's flushed face as she brought out her half-conscious protesting "No!" at the news of Prince George's betrothal I had know that sooner or later he would come to me for an explanation of the incident. As I reluctantly turned toward him I saw that he was with difficulty concealing wrath and dismay and resigned myself to become the recipient of those time-honored queries of a newspaper lead: "Who? What? When? Where? How?"

But before I answered him my eyes involuntarily went in search of Dickey in the fervent hope that he was not near enough to hear my employer's request. In the preparations for the announcement dinner and the excitement of coping with the spies who purposely had been admitted to the "tiger trap," Dicky's dolor seemed to have departed, and there had been a distinct lessening in the strain of our relations. I knew his aversion to Philip Veritzen, and I dreaded any incident which would rouse his jealous anger against my employer.

I need not have worried. I told myself caustically, as I saw my husband seated in a big chair with Edith Fairfax perched upon the arm of it. She had taken one of the magazines from the reading table, and using it for a desk, was rapidly drawing or writing something in which Dicky apparently was deeply absorbed. I just had time to see her look up at Dicky with a triumphant glance and to see his nod of approval before Mr. Veritzen spoke again.

"I am sorry," he began, with intense displeasure in his voice, but I interrupted him quickly, all my scruples vanishing at the sight of the absorbed conversation in which Dicky and Edith were engaging.

"Forgive me for delaying my answer," I said, smiling at Mr. Veritzen. "I was just wondering where I could talk to you without interruption, as you ask. It is not a particularly easy thing to arrange in this limited space, with so many people as our house guests. But after a little while we are going to play bridge. There are ten of us, and as host and hostess my husband and I had planned to drop out. But if——"

"I loathe bridge," Mr. Veritzen said promptly, and I knew truthfully, for I had heard him voice his dislike for the game before.

"And I also dislike it, though mildly," I returned. "But my husband is a devotee, so he will be only too glad of the chance to play."

"Then everybody will be pleased," Mr. Veritzen said with a flashing smile. "I leave the rest to you."

His deferential little bow conveyed the belief that I was equal to any demand made upon me, and when he had gone back to the smiling but patently uncomfortable "international romantic quartet," to the members of which he had attached himself since dinner, I slipped out into the tiny room where Purnell had arranged the flowers, signalling Lillian to follow me.

"What's eating Phil?" she asked, when a little later she had come into the room and closed the door. "Of course, I know," she hastily amended. "He caught that stifled 'No!' of Olina's on the fly—pity he wouldn't get a bit deaf, he's old enough—and he wants to know what it's all about. But where do you come in? I saw him ladling out a mixture of frouwns and smiles in your direction, and I knew he must be on the warpath for something or other."

"He is," I told her, and recited my employer's request and my plan for granting it.

"That's easy," she said. "The first time I'm dummy I'll grab you and Phil by either arm and under some pretense or other lead you back to this apartment—lucky we've planned to play bridge in ours—and then I'll beat it back again, leaving you to deal with the old bird. How's that for a plan?"

"It's splendid," I told her, but my tone betrayed the worry that was mine, and she clapped me on the shoulder encouragingly.

"I know what you're up against, old dear. Phil Veritzen is about as easy to manage as a temperamental leopard when he is annoyed about anything. But I'm banking on you. If anybody can calm him down you'll be the lady. And see what a chance you'll have to enlarge upon the capriciousness and jealousy of Mary which Olino is displaying, while assuring the old lad that Noel never has cast even a lamb's eye in Mary's direction.

"Any casting director would give me the role of Sapphira by the time I get through with this tangle," I said dolorously, but Lillian only laughed.

"You can't make an omelet—finish it yourself," she adjured, and then we went back to the living room, where Harry Underwood was vociferously demanding when the promised bridge game was to begin. He is an enthusiast over the game, but I knew that his insistence at this time was based upon his desire to lessen the nerve tension of both Prince Georges and Princess Olina.

Under his management it was but a few minutes before the tables were ready in the Underwood apartment.

I saw Dickey arch his eyebrows when Mr. Veritzen excused himself from playing, but he took the vacant place with alacrity. However, I was conscious of his scrutiny when Lillian, with Mr. Veritzen and I on either side of her, went out of the apartment, and I wondered seriously just what his reaction would be when Lillian should return alone.

Cookery Hint

If cookies are rolled the size of a walnut and placed on a buttered cookie sheet, then patted to the right consistency with a flat-bottomed cup, they will require no rolling pin and there will be no "scraps" of cookie dough left over.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Square Ring.

NO woman can see why a man will leave a good exciting fight at home to go to see a poor, half-hearted one at the stadium.

HELEN ROWLAND

A man sometimes uses all his art trying to deceive a woman — and then the woman has to use all HER art in pretending that he has succeeded.

After 10 years of married life, a sensible couple will step as far around a row as they would around a live wire.

It doesn't seem to make a man any happier to succeed in catching the woman he has been pursuing than it makes a kitten to succeed in catching the ball it has been chasing. Both of them would rather go on "playing the game."

A husband without a hobby is like a child without a toy; he has to be amused, watched and diverted every moment, or he'll get into mischief.

Somewhere in the Book of Judgment, Saint Peter must have a whole section reserved for the alibi-artists—there are so many of them!

A woman never realizes that she is past her first youth, and perhaps her second, until she comes upon a pair of lovers locked in fond embrace, and catches herself murmuring, "For heaven's sake! Are they still doing that sort of thing?"

The modern girl has many more love affairs than her mother had; like modern magazine stories they seem to be mostly hectic "atmosphere" with very little plot, no climax, and not much of a hero.

One drawback to a church wedding is that there are so few "exits" for a nervous bachelor.

Some men always win at poker; some always "come out just even"— and a few tell their wives the TRUTH.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Evincing a Gracious Attitude

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please tell me if a lady, when entering an elevator, should acknowledge the respect shown her by a gentleman who removes his hat when she enters? ANXIOUS.

THIS question interests me very much, for it shows in you a particularly gracious attitude toward manners. But, as a matter of fact, we don't make special acknowledgment of this evidence of good manners on the part of a gentleman, for we would, in this case, take for granted his evidence of respect.

Table Hints

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I read your column nightly and find it very interesting and helpful.

1. I wish to know if it is proper when eating a small salad as a main dish to remove part of it onto one's plate or eat it from the bowl.

2. Will you also advise me as to whether it is correct to eat certain parts of chicken with the fingers? T. P.

YOU should take part of the salad from the bowl to your plate. It is not correct to eat it from the bowl.

2. No, it is not correct to take up any part of the chicken in your fingers. It "isn't pretty" to the onlooker! And besides it gets our fingers untidy, and when we wipe our fingers on our napkin, that gets our napkin untidy. And so it is best to use our skill in cutting from the chicken all the meat that we can. And then we leave the rest, although grudgingly.

A Friendly Thought

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I work in an office with a half dozen girls and two men. As Christmas is nearing, I have this worry: Shall I send them each a Christmas card? And shall I send them to the office or to their individual homes? E. M.

YES, it would be friendly and "neighborly" to send a Christmas card to each of your colleagues. And send them to their home address.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, December 21.

WITH Neptune, Uranus and Mercury strongly aspected by Luna, this is sure to be a lively and memorable day, if not a financially profitable one. In fact, under the square aspect of the moon to Jupiter but little is to be expected in this respect, but literary affairs, new affiliations and unusual contacts may mark the day with interest and ultimate satisfaction. Letters may prove an important factor.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate an interesting and gratifying year, although the financial outlook is not all that may be desired. Elderly persons and institutions may figure in the year's activities; and letters and writings may bring stability to the affairs.

A child born on this day may be clever, versatile and industrious, and should succeed through its own diligence, as well as through the assistance or advice of elders.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

PLEURISY—Its Cause and Treatment.

NATURE planned the body so that the heart and lungs might be protected against accident. By placing them deep in the chest cavity and remote from the outer world, these vital organs are rarely involved in an accident. Even in disease they are reached only by troubles which originate in parts of the body fairly remote from the chest cavity.

DR COPELAND

The lungs are suspended within a space surrounded by chest-bone, ribs and backbone. A closely fitting tissue, called the "pleura," covers and protects them. This same material lines the inside of the bony cavity.

But in spite of Nature's every effort the lungs do not escape accident and disease. There is always the liability of trouble. The pleural membrane may be involved. When there is inflammation of this delicate tissue, it is called "pleurisy."

This disease may follow exposure to cold or wet, general weakness and a run-down condition. When it comes on certain symptoms are met. Chief of these is pain. The pain of pleurisy is really very terrible, a stabbing pain or a stitching pain somewhere between the chest-bone and the space under the arm.

But before the pain is noticed, there is likely to be a chill. Indeed, the condition generally begins with a chill

There is a fever, which runs to 101 or 103 degrees, or even more. Other symptoms are difficult breathing and a hard, dry cough. The ailment continues for a week or 10 days.

As I view it, the first essential in caring for the patient is a well-ventilated room with plenty of fresh air and sunshine. The bed should be so placed that the patient has all their beneficial effects without a draft.

The doctor will place the patient in bed on the side which is affected. He is made comfortable by placing pillows at his back and under the painful side, so as to take the strain off his muscles. The position should be changed frequently, as in all other conditions affecting the lungs. Strapping the chest with adhesive plaster relieves the pain to some extent.

In the relief of every illness much depends on the diet. In this trouble liquids or semi-solid food will be acceptable, but should be given as the doctor directs. The usual diet prescribed includes fruit juices, milk, beef juice and plenty of water.

As the patient grows better and begins to sit up, every effort should be made to guard him against exposure and overfatigue. It is well to sit up for only 15 minutes the first day. The next day this may be increased to half an hour. Gradually the strength is restored and the patient goes about his affairs.

It must be remembered that an attack of pleurisy means the victim was below par or that he is susceptible to some unfriendly germ. To guard himself he must avoid everything that lessens his vitality. He must be careful to dress warmly and to take every care in keeping his feet dry. His diet should be simple and nourishing. He must safeguard his health in all ways so that he may not have another set-to with this uncomfortable disease. A friendly talk with the doctor may prevent further trouble.

Cream of Tomato Soup
Roast Goose with Baked Apple. Mashed Potatoes. Buttered Broccoli.
Cocoanut Salad
Nut Bars. Coffee.

IF you've been neglecting your family this week because of Christmas shopping, Sunday dinner will give you special opportunity to make up. And Roast Goose with Baked Apple will surely induce the family to forgive you if you will follow these directions:

One eight-pound goose, 2 cups bread-crumbs, 1 chopped onion, 2 tablespoons fat, 3 sweet potatoes, ¼ teaspoon sage, 1 teaspoon salt, pinch of pepper, 6 to 8 apples, and ¼-cup brown sugar.

Cook the giblets until tender, chop and add to stuffing made by mixing bread-crumbs, onion, fat, sage, salt and pepper.

After cleaning and washing the goose thoroughly, stuff and sew the neck and back. Roast very slowly, about 3 hours. Wash and core 6 to 8 apples; sprinkle with sugar, stuff with mashed, seasoned sweet potatoes. Bake until tender, and serve hot with the goose.

COCOANUT SALAD is a festive one when prepared with ¾ cup celery, diced; ½ cup orange sections, ½ cup shredded cocoanut, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 4 tablespoons orange juice, 4 tablespoons oil, salt, paprika and currant or plum jelly.

Mix the oranges, celery and cocoanut and place on lettuce leaves. Sprinkle with lemon juice and then add a French dressing made of oil, orange juice, salt and paprika. Dot with jelly.

THE nut bars are easily prepared. Just slice a devil's food bar in narrow strips without a crust. Brush each small bar with the white of an egg lightly beaten and diluted with 1 teaspoon water. Sprinkle generously with chopped nut meats (black walnuts are most delicious) and bake in a hot oven 3 minutes.

CRANBERRIES answer the hostess' need for either salad, relish, garnish, sauce, jam, jelly or dessert. They have proved themselves the most versatile of fruits. The appearance of cranberries on the table immediately gives the meal a festive air.

You may want to serve cranberries in a different manner for the family sometime. Either the garnish or salad will prove a satisfactory innovation.

CRANBERRY GELATIN IN ORANGE SHELLS—Boil 2 cups of cranberries in a cupful of water. When the berries are soft and have burst their skins, strain off the liquid. Sweeten to taste, using about 1 cupful of sugar. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. When the sugar is dissolved, remove from the stove and add ½ tablespoon of gelatin which has been softened in ¼ cupful of cold water. Cool and pour into orange shells that have been cut in half. Chill thoroughly. Just before serving, cut each shell in half and garnish a meat platter with these jelly-filled orange quarters.

CRANBERRY, CHEESE AND PEAR SALAD—For this salad use either whole fresh or whole canned pears. Blend cranberry jelly with cream cheese until it is of the consistency of paste. With an apple-corer, core the pears, peeling first if you are using fresh pears. Place the cranberry-cheese mixture in a pastry tube and squeeze it into the center of each pear. Serve with a dressing made by adding cranberry sauce and cream to mayonnaise.

PEAR AND CRANBERRY SALAD—Make a cranberry jelly as follows: Boil 3 cups of cranberries in 1½ cups water until the berries stop popping. Strain through fine seive, add 1½ cups sugar and stir well. Boil rapidly for 8 to 10 minutes, or until a drop jells when dropped on a cold saucer. Add 1 tablespoon gelatin soaked in ¼ cup of cold water for 10 minutes. Stir until gelatin is dissolved.

Drain a can of pears and wipe the pears as dry as possible with a cloth. Fill the center of the pears as full as possible with the cranberry jelly and set to chill until firm in the refrigerator. When the jelly is firm, turn the pear, round side up, on a bed of lettuce. Arrange alternate sections of oranges and green cherries. Top with cherry flavored mayonnaise and a white cherry. This is a surprise salad.

CRANBERRY MUFFINS—Mix ¼ cup sugar with 1 cup cranberries and let stand for one hour. Cream together ¼ cup butter and ¼ of a cup of sugar and add 1 egg. Sift 4 teaspoons baking powder with 1¾ cups flour and ½ teaspoon salt and add alternately with 1 cup milk. Add cranberries and bake 25 minutes at 400 degrees in well greased muffin tins.

CRANBERRY BROWN BETTY—Melt 3 tablespoons butter and add 3 cups soft bread crumbs; mix 1 cup sugar and ¼ teaspoon each of cinnamon and nutmeg. Put ¼ of the crumbs in the bottom of a buttered dish, then 1½ cups cranberries, chopped. Sprinkle with half the sugar and spices, then add another quarter of the crumbs, the remainder of the cranberries and the sugar and spices. Add ¼ cup water and put the rest of the crumbs over the top. Cover closely, cook 30 minutes in a hot over, 425 degrees, uncover and brown.

SPANISH STEAK—Brown in a skillet a thick steak from the shoulder or round. Place it in a baking dish, cover with sliced onions and chopped green peppers. Pour over it a bottle of stuffed Spanish olives with the liquid. Then add a medium can of tomato soup. Bake in a moderate over for 2 hours.

Grapes Are Valuable to Children and Grown-Ups

Iron, mineral salts, natural sugar, vitamins, organic acids—all these elements are to be found in the grape. In addition it is an appetizing and inexpensive food.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
Former Health Commissioner of New York City
United States Senator from New York

GRAPES are favorites today and their history is as old as the story of mankind. Doubtless they were known by Adam and Eve. We find them mentioned in the earliest Hebrew writings, and wine was made in Egypt five or six thousand years ago. Down through the ages grapes have served as one of the most choice foods.

In Colonial times there was an attempt to transplant to this country the well-known grapes of the Old World, but without success. The Concord and the Catawba grapes were the first ones to be grown successfully in New England and they continue to be favorites among the eastern varieties.

At this season, grapes are available for everyone, because never before were they so cheap nor so plentiful. This is particularly true of the California grapes. Some of our best grapes come from that state and their reasonable price, as well as quality, makes them attractive.

From California we have the Tokays, the red and white Malagas, the Emperors and the Ribiers, those large black grapes, similar to the Belgian grapes, and others. These are brought fresh in refrigerator cars to the eastern markets. Likewise, from across the seas comes this fruit of the vine.

EASILY DIGESTED

Grapes are easily digested. Their sugar content has the advantage of being a natural sugar. The first stage of what occurs in digestion is already accomplished.

This fruit is a perfect food for children, as well as for grown-ups. Within it are found iron and other mineral salts, the vitamins, and organic acids which have a stimulating and laxative effect.

Persons with diabetes may include a reasonable quantity of grapes in the diet. They may be used in other troubles of the kidneys. But in such cases the attending physician should add his approval.

For the invalid, grapes are both delicate, refreshing and stimulating. Children like them and they make an appetizing and attractive addition to the school lunch.

HEALTHFUL BEVERAGES

By the use of modern sterilization methods it is possible to preserve grape juice. There has been developed an immense demand for this product, both in its natural state and carbonated. There are invisible spores and bacteria which adhere to the skins of grapes. These organisms induce speedy fermentation in the fresh juice. This can only be overcome by sterilization. Fresh grape juice makes a most refreshing and healthful drink and it is no wonder that it is such a popular beverage.

All sun-ripened fruits are of inestimable value as food. We hear much in these days about "irradiated foods," but sun-ripened foods such as grapes, apples, the citrus fruits and innumerable other foods are "worth their weight in gold."

LEW CODY, LOOKING ELEGANT, TO RESUME FILM WORK IN JANUARY

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 20.

LEW CODY is slated to go to work in a M. G. M. outloud come January. And Lew is looking elegant these days, so 'tis to be expected his initial talky will be Kesker—say at least.

It seems that the Cody household consists—in the order of importance—of James Cody and Lew. James is Lew's valet. He has been with him for seven years. He refuses to be fired. When he is in a genial humor, everything is "we." "We will wear the gray suit today." "But I want the black suit," argues Lew. "But we will wear the gray," gently. And the gray has it.

Lew Cody.

James used "we" long before Lindy headlined to importance. James is also addicted to "I" when he feels severe to Lew. Mr. Cody got annoyed with him one night and fired him. James slept in the garage. The next morning, breakfast awaited Lew as per schedule.

"Where were you last night," grumbled the lord and master.

"In the garage. You didn't need anything."

James hails from the South and his skin is dark but inside he's pretty white. There prevails a charming custom in Hollywood of endeavoring to entice good servants away with the lure of more pay. James has enjoyed such offers frequently. And each time he replies to them:

"I think I shall like that very much, but I will ask Mr. Cody first!"

And he does.

Lowell, Helene Engaged to Wed

I suppose if I read the papers I might have glimpsed the news of Lowell Sherman's engagement to Helene Costello. But then again I don't read very well. It isn't in my contract. Be that as it may, Lowell and Miss Costello are engaged. And word is buffeted around town that the altar trek occurs in March. Now if Helene, being Dolores' sister, is John Barrymore's sister-in-law, what relation, if any, will Lowell be to John when he marries Helene? It stands to reason he'll be Dolores' brothy-in-law, but will he be Barrymore's ditto by dint of a marriage certificate? Very befuddling all this. Very. Helene and Lowell started seeing the town together months ago. They're still crazy for each other despite the town. An indication of love, if ever there was one.

Helene Costello

Britons to Sing Of King's Recovery

LONDON, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Thousands of British families during Christmas will be singing a carol composed by Sir Edward Elgar, noted British composer and orchestral conductor, to celebrate the king's recovery from illness.

Entitled "Good Morrow," with the sub-title "A Simple Carol For His Majesty's Happy Recovery," some verses written by the Poet George Gascoigne (1540-78) have been set to four-part harmony by Sir Edward with stirring crescendos and rich harmonic effects.

New Castle Plant To Play Santa Claus

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 20.—The New Castle works of the Carnegie Steel Company will on Tuesday, December 24, give its annual treat to some 4,000 boys and girls. The distribution will take place at the auditorium of the Carnegie Steel Company. J. Clarence Miller, superintendent of Safety and Welfare, is in charge of the arrangements.

MOVIE REVUE OPENS IN GRAND

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Warner Brothers have spread an extravagant panorama of well known players and dancing girls on the movie screen. They have dressed them up in all kinds of fancy makeup. They have pepped them up with a lot of music, dance and comedy gags. They have surrounded them with a lot of elaborate scenery. They have painted them—almost in entirety—with the Technicolor brush. And the result is "Show of Shows," which is the latest movie revue to come to our town. It opened yesterday in the Grand.

There is everything in the film from Shakespeare to Rin-Tin-Tin. Seventy-seven "stars" are advertised as being in the cast. In the strict use of the word, there's not more than a dozen or so. But there are oodles of featured players of both stage and screen. Also there are ensembles of dancing girls that include hundreds in their ranks.

'TIS AN EXHIBITION

The "Show of Shows" is more like a six-ring circus, with Old Man Extravagance running wild, than a picture. And, though it is a big show, there is too much "show" about it to make it a good show. In fact, it is more like an exhibition—an exhibition of how much can be crowded onto the screen at one time when the producers go on a spending orgy.

The production comprises about 16 episodes, a number of which are done on a stupendous scenic scale. Highlights include John Barrymore's fling at Shakespeare as the Duke of Gloucester in a bit from "Henry VI." There is a pirate number, featuring movie villains; and a sister act, presenting eight teams of movie sisters. The Floradora girls—and the boys—also get some belated notoriety.

AMONG THE PLAYERS

Prominent players include Frank Fay, who does the M. C. antics; Winnie Lightner, in the bathtub song; Beatrice Lillie, Ted Lewis, Irene Bordoni, Chester Morris, Richard Barthelmess and so on and so forth until the count of the aforementioned 77 is attained.

The film has impressive moments—and some of boredom. And all told, it consumes about two hours of time.

Thoughtful consideration brings the conclusion that though "Show of Shows" is startling in its elaborateness, it isn't going to knock anyone from his seat. And it is proof that the movie-makers still must learn that it takes more than extravagant scenes, costumes and the reckless use of box-office names to make a show of shows.

Native Son

James Meighan, who will appear with Ethel Barrymore in "The Kingdom of God" in the Alvin next week, was born in Pittsburgh. He is a nephew of Thomas Meighan, the screen star.

THREE STAGES BUSY NEXT WEEK

G. Martinez Sierra, author of the play, "The Kingdom of God," which Ethel Barrymore will act in the Alvin next week, wrote many of his plays for his wife, Catalina Barcena, who first acted "The Kingdom of God" in Barcelona in 1915. It was not until 1922 that this drama reached the London stage with Gilliam Scaife in the leading role. Miss Barrymore produced the play in Syracuse, N. Y., on October 4, 1928, and since then it has had more performances in America than in any other country.

W. C. Fields, star of Earl Carroll's "Vanities," coming to the Nixon next week, is said to enjoy the distinction of being the highest salaried comedian on the stage. Mr. Carroll pays him an amount sufficient to overcome the call of the Movietone from Hollywood, which reached out for Mr. Fields after the run of "Vanities" in New York.

Tomorrow afternoon, on the stage in the Pitt, following the matinee of "Sis Hopkins," there will be a Christmas party for the children in the audience.

Amnesia Victim Brought to Home

CLARKSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 20.—Virginia Kubas, 16, who was found last Sunday in a Pennsylvania Railroad station at Cleveland, evidently suffering from amnesia, has been brought to her home here and is under a doctor's care. The girl was identified by means of letters and photographs found in her suitcase.

'Light Horse Harry' Visiting in Sharon

Recites

tile lad. Joseph has been plugging along at pictures with more or less indifferent success. DeMille tried to make a leading man of him, and Joseph is anything but. Along came the talkies and the actor who won Broadway with his performances of "Lilliom" was threatened with recognition. He corraled personal plaudits for his performance in "Show Boat." But the gambler role wasn't exactly up to his histrionic alley.

Joseph hails from Germany, though he speaks English minus an accent. It was decided to version "They Knew What They Wanted," featuring Vilma Banky, in German. Schildkraut was borrowed from Universal to portray the featured role of the farm hand. It is reported, now, that he will remain at M. G. M. for another German offering, a German version of "Twelve Miles Out," which starred Jack [illegible],

CREDIT FRAUD SUSPECTS HELD

Suspicion of a ring to defraud North Side furniture merchants was expressed by Magistrate A. D. Brandon today after hearing Bessie Demano, 30, of 66 Fountain street, charged with having furniture delivered to as many as six addresses on the credit plan, then disappearing with the furniture.

Three electric washing machines, living room and other furniture, radio and other household supplies were sent her by North Side dealers after she had made small deposits, they testified. When collectors attempted to get payments and visited addresses where the furniture had been delivered, the woman had moved, they said.

Admitting the charges, Mrs. Demano said she had sold some of the furniture to keep her five children from hunger. Patrolman Harry Williams told the court her children had been wards of Juvenile Court for a long time. Jack Demano, 31, her husband, who was also arrested, and the woman were held over on suspicious person charges.

BUCS HOPE TO TOP LEAFS

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Morgan Defends Again.
Retains Title Longest.
Pitt First to Fill Bowl.
Many Pick Panthers.
Bezdek Urges Changes.
Greenleaf Regains Title.

STATE'S SIXTH CHAMP IF BASS WINS

SOMETIMES the most satisfactory class leaders in the boxing game occupy the least prominent positions in the group of ring champions. That applies to Tod Morgan, Seattle battler, who will defend his junior-lightweight crown against Benny Bass, of Philadelphia, in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden in New York tonight. It's only a synthetic title that Morgan holds, and he hasn't been given as much of the spotlight as those topping the regular divisions, yet in a sense he deports himself more like a real champion than any other man in the lot, acting as Tommy Loughran did when the latter headed the light-heavyweight brigade.

Tod Morgan

In the first place, Morgan has held his championship longer than any other fighter now wearing a crown. He won the honors in his class by a technical knockout over Mike Ballerino in the tenth round of a bout in Los Angeles on December 2, 1925. None of the other Queensberry titleholders of the present day has equaled that reign of four years.

THE closest approach is credited to Sammy Mandell, who took the lightweight scepter from Rocky Kansas on July 3, 1926. It was not until September 21 and December 3 of the same year that Mushy Callahan unseated Pinkey Mitchell as junior-welterweight boss, and Mickey Walker supplanted Tiger Flowers as the middleweight leader. These three are the oldest of the other champions.

But what makes Morgan stand out beyond the rest to an even greater extent is the fact that, unlike them, he has never dodged a worthy challenger nor refused to risk his diadem. He has taken them all on as fast as they came—Joe Glick twice, Eddie Martin twice, Santiago Zorilla twice, Carl Duane, Baby Sall, Kid Sullivan, Joey Sangor, Vic Foley, Johnny Dundee and others.

TOD'S record as the longest-reigning champion is all the more creditable in view of the fact that he has taken many more chances than any of the others, meeting all challengers instead of side-stepping the dangerous ones.

Morgan, whose proper name, by the way, is Bert Pilkington, and who is Scotch-American, has proved himself a champion in the true sense of the word, and will go out with a proud record if he loses his title to Bass tonight.

Benny Bass

THE chances appear to be against such an outcome, however. Morgan doesn't number an overly hard punch among his fistic assets, but he is a master boxer who excels Bass in cleverness, and his skill seems likely to win over his opponent's superior hitting ability. Bass is stepping out of his class to get this title shot. He couldn't get it in the featherweight division from Andre Routis or Battling Battalino, after losing to Tony Canzoneri in an earlier championship bout, so he invaded the 130-pound ranks.

BENNY will have to knock Morgan out to win, but he has the wallop to do it with if he can slip it over, though the odds are against his being able to do so. A victory for Bass would give Pennsylvania its sixth ring champion, Frank Klaus, George Chip, Harry Greb, Tommy Loughran and Pete Latzo having preceded him.

Bass himself was proclaimed world featherweight champion by the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission when he beat Red Chapman, but the New York commission ordered a match between Benny and Canzeneri to decide the championship and the Philadelphian lost.

COAST reports that the Pasadena Rose Bowl has been sold out for the Pitt-Southern California game on New Year's Day without a public sale of tickets means that this attraction will be the first to fill the enlarged stadium.

Notre Dame and Stanford sold out the old bowl on New Year's Day, 1925, but since then new concrete stands at the south end have increased the capacity to 70,000.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S victory over Carnegie Tech has acted as a spur to interest on the coast, and given the followers of the Trojans hope that Howard Jones' gridders will be able to repeat at the expense of Pitt. Many outside football men, however, including one prominent coach who knows the Eastern game, as well as having seen the Trojans play, are picking the Panthers to win, though anticipating a hard-fought game.

Hugo Bezdek

WHAT most football followers consider one of the finest bits of strategy in the game—the kicking of the ball out of bounds a few yards from the enemy's goal line, instead of punting it over the end stripe and permitting the opposing side to bring it out to the 20-yard mark, would be ruled out entirely if Hugo Bezdek had his way.

Speaking at the Lehigh football dinner, the Penn State coach expressed the opinion that two of the present gridiron regulations should be amended, from his observations during the 1929 season. One of them is that requiring the ball to be put in play at the point where it is kicked out of bounds.

BEZDEK objects to the punt out of bounds when made within 25 yards of the goal line, as unfair to the defending team. To make clear his meaning, he cites a defensive team making a gallant stand on its own 25-yard line and forcing the offensive side to kick.

Sending the spheroid out of bounds on the two or three-yard line is no feat of significance, he contends, and yet it jeoparadizes the receiving team by forcing it to kick from behind its own goal line.

SOME remedy for this ought to be worked out by the rules committee, "Bez" thinks. The other rules which he believes should be amended is that covering the intercepted forward pass. The player intercepting an enemy pass now has the right to run with it, with the result that touchdowns are sometimes scored. The mentor of the Lions considers this a penalty too severe for the passing team to suffer, and suggests that it be modified to loss of the ball at the point where the pass is intercepted.

Reynolds Is Victor Over Hack Gorman

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 20.—Jack Reynolds, world welterweight wrestling champion, won his match with Hack Gorman, of West Virginia, in a pink-tea contest here last night in which all rough stuff was barred without the rough stuff. Gorman was no match for the clever Reynolds.

Fred Grubineir, Iowa heavyweight, won over Hans Baur, Columbus, when he broke two of Baur's ribs in the first fall.

$4,000 Pasadena Open Tourney Begins

PASADENA, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—More than 120 of the nation's best professional golfers and nearly an equal number of amateurs started play here today bent on wresting from Craig Wood, Bloomfield, N. J., professional, the $4,000 Pasadena open golf title.

A majority of the big shots—Walter Hagen, Leo Diegel, Johnny Farrell, Tony Manero, Horton Smith, Bobby Cruickshank, Tommy Armour—and numerous others will seek championship money.

WEAK SCHEDULE IS CAUSE FOR OUTBREAK

By JESS CARVER
Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—Mr. Howard Jones, the earnest and ambitious coach of Southern California, is not finding his pathway strewn with roses at present. In fact, the boys out here are busily engaged in taking pot shots at Mr. Jones in particular and Southern Cal in general, calling the Trojans all sorts of names because they do not play a tougher schedule.

It is pretty bad when flaring-eyed alumni begin writting in about the team and the schedule, and if one can believe the public prints, that is just what they are doing. It is being made so tough for Mr. Jones that he is about ready to bust loose on someone, and will probably take it out on his team when he calls it out to start practice for the Pitt game New Year's Day.

The idea will be to have the team pass the good work along to poor Pitt.

PLAY EASY SCHEDULE

Considering the wealth of material here at U. S. C., the Trojans should be censured somewhat for the comparatively easy schedule they play. Teams of the caliber of Occidental, Nevada, Idaho and U. C. L. A., couldn't compete on even terms with teams like Thiel, Westminster, Waynesburg and St. Vincent's in Pittsburgh. From all I hear, they must be terrible.

Of course, you'll have to give the Trojans credit, for they came through in fine fashion against more strenuous opposition when it was afforded, beating Washington State, Oregon Aggies and Stanford. Notre Dame and California licked 'em, but a satisfactory comeback was staged against Carnegie last week.

The easy schedule may be partly responsible for the looseness of Trojan play in the first half of their games. It takes the team two full periods to get warmed up—and when, after those two periods, they do get going, their tremendous preponderance of strength in the way of material enables them to crush weaker and less plentifully reserved opposition. And when the team happens to run into a team that can go as well during the second half as the first, why, it is just too bad for the Trojans.

An excited alumnus stirred up a fuss by writing in a piece for one of the papers, suggesting that Coach Jones give his team a full 30 minutes of scrimmage prior to every game, so that the club would be set to play serious football right from the start. This has been suggested on an occasion or two back East, but it evidently was a new idea out here, for believe it or not (Mr. Ripley) a lot of folks took the darn thing seriously.

Sunbeams

Dutch Krieder and Beans Reardon were introduced under the glare of the spotlight at a certain Los Angeles spot last night—and Don Brown took their bows. Pittsburgh is well represented out here.

George Gray, the big motor car guy, joined the Steel City troops yesterday.

Mrs. Beans Reardon went Christmas shopping for the Pittsburghers yesterday—when she presented her bill, they all knew there was a Santa Claus—hope Uncle Dan likes the tie she bought for me.

William Haines, Jack Oakie, Al Jolson and Tom Kennedy have been very nice to the visitors.

Wally Burns and family are remaining over for the Pitt game, so is Dan Casey and Merle Mesta, the old dears.

The Eastern squad of 22 players, headed by Coaches Andy Kerr, of Colgate and Dick Hanley, of Northwestern, turned out for a light practice in the afternoon. The workout consisted of kicking and passing the ball to unlimber muscles stiffened by train travel.

Twenty-one members of the Western team had checked, with YESTERDAY'S ANSWER: THE GREATEST KICK—In a game with Colorado University, in 1920, Davis of the University of Utah, was kicked in the head and suffered a temporary attack of amnesia. He finished the game, ran the team and scored the only touchdown of his career. This amnesia lasted for three days, and on recovery he was unable to remember anything subsequent to the time he was hit.

PANKA BOXES WILLIAMS AT MOOSE

By HARRY KECK.
Sports Editor

George Panka, of Homestead, and Harry Williams, Negro, of Rankin, heavyweights, entertain in the 10-round windup at the Moose Temple, downtown, tonight, the second heavyweight main event to be held there. The other one, recently, between Young Jack Dempsey and Johnny Ryan, was stopped by the referee, who ruled the men were not trying. Better action is to be anticipated in tonight's event, for Williams is a fast-moving boxer, while Panka continually bores in and punches with both hands.

Featherweights, Jack DeNeri, Cleveland jumping-jack, and Frankie Buff, elongated New Kensingtonite, are in the semi-final. Georgie Chambers, hard-socking middleweight, boxes Young Penno, of McKees Rocks, in the second bout, and Young Ketchel, of Steubenville, mixes with Jackie Wilson, pleasing Negro bantamweight, of the Hill, in the opening bout.

Between Rounds

The Motor Square card has been completed for Christmas afternoon. Tiger Joe Randall boxes Jimmy Belmont in the 10-round main bout, Young Rudy and Young Joe Walcott are in the semi-final of eight rounds and Dominick Profio boxes Roy Taggert and Johnny Smackey meets Andy Andrucci in the six-round prelims.

The Motor Square Club is dickering with Bushy Graham to take the place of Pete Zivic against Jackie Rodgers in the main bout New Year's afternoon. If negotiations fail, the bout will stand as arranged.

Paul Cavalier and Harold Mays have been matched for the 10-round semi-final to the Johnny Risko-Tuffy Griffiths fight in Madison Square Garden, New York, Friday night of next week.

AMATEURS TO BOX

Tony Marino, Johnny Warner, Joe Gaudy and Joey Speigle will represent Pittsburgh in an intercity amateur tournament at the New York Athletic Club next Monday night.

Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, boxes Young Guido, of Sharon, and Battling Gizzy meets Louie Severo in an eight-round double windup in Oil City tonight.

Three 10-round bouts and two six-rounders make up a Christmas fund card in Erie tonight.

Joe Trippe, of Rochester, N. Y., and Larry Madge, of Cleveland, have been signed to box the 10-round main bout at McKeesport next Thursday night.

Mandell to Box McLarnin Again

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, will face Jimmy McLarnin here in a return bout February 4, it was announced today by Matchmaker Nate Lewis, of the Chicago Stadium. They are to fight at 143 pounds, Mandell's lightweight crown not being involved. It was at this weight that McLarnin whipped Mandell in their last fight.

ADAMS TO PLAY SECOND FOR CARDS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The suggestion in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to the effect that Sparky Adams had a chance to become the regular second-sacker for the St. Louis Cardinals is borne out in the latest news from that sector of baseball.

Sparky Adams

The tip that the departed Buccaneer will be the keystone tender for the Redbirds is furnished by Roy Stockton, of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Summing up the situation in St. Louis, Stockton says:

"Frankie Frisch will have a chance to return to his favorite position next spring when the Cardinals start training at Bradentown, Fla. Frankie always insisted that third base, the so-called 'hot corner' was a snap compared to second base.

"'You have to shift on every pitch when you play second,' Frisch explained. 'Then you have to be ready to break for second if the steal is attempted, or the other way if the batter tries to push one to right field. Then you chase back on every short fly. Of course, you get a few bruises when hot grounders break through your hands, but then your legs last longer and that's what determines the length of your career. I believe I'll add a couple of extra years in the big leagues if I can play third instead of second.'

"Cardinal plans call for Frisch to shift to third base with Sparky Adams, of the Pirates, playing second."

In the event that Manager Street puts Sparky near the top of the batting order, look out for a lot of tallies on the part of the little fellow. He will get on the sacks often and he will have to do some sprinting to keep out of the road of Frisch, Bottomley, Hafey, et cetera.

Art the Great After Quarter Million

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—While staid and orthodox pugilists today were planning a rally behind the Bud Taylor-Earl Mastro fight next Friday night, C. Arthur (Whatman) Shires was indulging in a bit of philosophy and finance.

"I'm not the best baseball player in the world and I am a bum fighter, but I know what the people want. They want something different and I am going to give it to them," Shires declared.

"You can call me crazy, but before I leave Chicago I am going to have a quarter of a million stowed away," boasted the reticent first baseman who has made good as a clown ring gladiator.

GRIMES HERE FOR VISIT

On his way back to Wisconsin from the New York meetings, Burleigh Grimes arrived in Pittsburgh today and this afternoon he conferred with Pirate officials. The star pitcher and his employers are believed to have discussed salary matters.

Grimes is one of the Pittsburgh stars unsigned for next season. While in New York he gave out a statement to the effect that he would demand something like $25,000 as his salary for 1930.

The pitcher expects to leave tonight or tomorrow for his Wisconsin home where he will spend Christmas.

Donchess Rumors Are Stilled by Pitt

Rumors in circulation yesterday to the effect that Joe Donchess, all-America end, would not be able to make the trip to the coast with the Panther footballers because of scholastic difficulties were stilled today when it was announced definitely by Pitt officials that Donchess would be a member of the party leaving here on Christmas Day.

PIRATES PLAY TORONTO SIX TOMORROW

By CARL W. SHATTO

The Pirates carried a big cargo of Christmas spirit and were eager to outdo Santa Claus in the matter of giving in a big way when they left for Toronto last night.

The Bucs plan to make the Toronto Leafs the recipients of their first gift. They are to meet the Leafs in a National League game in the Ontario metropolis tomorrow night, and they hope to reach into their bag (of tricks) and give their hosts a defeat.

On Sunday the Pirates are to continue on to Detroit, and they aim to have a duplicate of the Toronto present to hand out to the Cougars when they meet them for the first time this season Sunday night.

RETURN NEXT THURSDAY

At the conclusion of the Detroit party, many of the members of the Pittsburgh squad will journey to their homes in Canada to spend Christmas with friends and relatives. Next Thursday will find the local tourists back in Pittsburgh to welcome the Detroiters in a return engagement at Duquesne Garden.

Defeats for foemen are not the only things on the list of gifts which the locals would like to hand out. Manager Frederickson would like to give away a badly wrenched knee which has kept him on crutches for the last 10 days. Herb Drury would be glad to pass on a fracture of the hand which has kept him on the sidelines for about a month, and Johnny MacKinnon would like to present somebody with a sprained ankle which has kept him inactive for more than a week.

Hib Milks and Roger Smith yesterday received gifts which they would like to exchange. Both were suffering from bad colds when they headed north last night, and Smith, who also is nursing a couple of broken ribs, spent most of yesterday in bed.

MacKINNON ON MEND

Before leaving last night, Frederickson said that MacKinnon would be in uniform tomorrow night, and that he probably would get back into the lineup in either the Toronto or Detroit engagements. Frederickson and Drury are not likely to see action for about two more weeks.

The National League chiefs recently took action to increase the player limit from 13 to 15 men, the contention being that any club needed more than 13 men to play through a game at the killing pace which the new forward pass law brought with it to hockey. This change interests the Bucs very little, for their aim right now is to get as many as 13 able-bodied men on the ice. Nine men, playing brilliantly and working overtime, have carried the locals to one win and one draw in their last three starts. The flood of injuries has served to convince local fans that the Bucs have an abundance of spirit and courage, but Frederickson fears that his overworked fighters will "break" under the strain unless given relief soon.

The Bucs will be shown little sympathy in Toronto. The Leafs were handed a 10-5 walloping when they appeared here earlier

RING ADVISORY BOARD URGED

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 20.—The boxing commission wrangle in this city, precipitated by Chairman Frank Wiener's assertion in a speech that the sport has deteriorated into a racket, has reached such a stage that rumors of Wiener's resignation from the board before the first of the year are coming from several sources and a suggestion has been made that an advisory committee of responsible business men be appointed by the governor to straighten out the tangled mess and try to put boxing back on its feet.

J. Howard Berry, former Penn fotoball and all-round star, who several times has been mentioned as a likely successor to Wiener, made the suggestion in declaring that he is not a candidate for the post. He said, however, he would be glad to serve, gratis, on an advisory board of the description he outlined. He pointed out that he was one of many fight fans who have lost their interest in boxing because of the manner in which the commissioners have permitted the situation to get out of their hands. With promoters, managers, boxers and the commissioners themselves wrangling continually, this is the worst season in the history of boxing in Philadelphia under commission control. Most of the big shows have lost money, whereas in the past they were turning away crowds regularly.

It is understood that Berry's suggestion has been forwarded to Gov. Fisher for his consideration.

Girls' basketball squad of Fifth Avenue High School, which defeated the team of Langley High, Wednesday, 102 to 4, setting some sort of a record. Helen Kornekow, forward, was the star of the high-scoring battle, caging 90 of her team's points, with 44 goals and two foul shots. Miss Adamaitis, the other forward, scored the remaining six field goals. Langley scored its points on two field goals. Miss Letitia C. Shannon is coach of the steller sextet.

GROVERS MEET PITT HERE

Doc Carlson's undefeated Pitt floor quintet hopes to make an impressive showing when they tackle Grove City College in the Stadium Pavillion tomorrow night. Indiana, Northwestern, Iowa and Muskingum have met defeat at the hands of the Panthers thus far.

Coach Bob Thorne, of the Grovers, with a splendid team, hopes to give the local passers a real game of it.

On the gridiron, Coach Jock Sutherland put his Golden Panthers through a dummy scrimmage against U. S. C. plays yesterday. Charley Bowser, Jock's assistant, did the scouting. The Pittites soon will set sail for the coast.

With the home opener against the Adrian College five only a week away, and Capt. Ganzy Benedict, star forward, still confined to the hospital the outlook for Coach Davies Duquesne basketeers is far from bright. Davies is looking forward to Capt. Benedict getting back in the game to put the cagers in a winning stride since the present combination has not been clicking properly.

Brud Stevens, guard, and probably the smallest player in this part of the country, has been acting-captain since Benedict's injury in an automobile accident one week ago. Sammy Pratt is now working with the basketball squad. Pratt was one of a number of gridders who appeared for floor practice last Monday following the accident to Benedict. He is playing a guard position.

The Carnegie Tech floormen are to be opposed by the Hill Top Y. M. C. A. passers in a workout at the Tartan gym tonight. Coach Ralph Hogan has given his men a vacation, but a big majority of the Skibo basketballers reside in or near Pittsburgh and it has been decided that informal practice sessions will be held during the holidays. The Tech quint expects to be put to a severe test by the Youngstown Y two days after Christmas and Hogan is confident that these drills will put his men in top form for the battle with the Ohioans.

Prof Tells How To Buy Strong Grid Teams

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Dec. 20.—(INS.)—Take $100,000. Get rid of it in this manner:

1. Maintenance of 30 men in prep schools, $15,000.
2. Maintenance of 50 men in college, $50,000.
3. Salary of coach, $12,000.
4. Salary of assistant coaches, $18,000.
5. Equipment of 150 men, $5,000.

And what do you get?

A football team, according to Prof. Maurice A. Blake, chairman of the council of athletics of Rutgers University. The "$100,000" angle was brought out by Prof. Rogers in a defense of the council which, according to charges by alumni and undergraduates, is not aware of modern methods of procuring consistently successful football teams.

Prof. Blake, let it be said, favors no such method of securing linemen and halfbacks.

COUNTY LEAGUE GAMES CLOSE

Elizabeth and Franchina captured their Allegheny County League battles last night, the former keeping its home record untarnished with a 34-32 victory over the Allentown club and the latter coming through with a 38-36 win over the Homestead Ackerman quint at Columbus Temple.

The Franchinas played without their star center, Tom Foley, in nosing out Homestead, Hen Tracy showing his most brilliant form to snare 11 field goals. Likewise Moon Klinzing, of the losers, netted five two-plyers.

Allentown got away to a leading start in the first period, but trailed, 18 to 13, at half time. Elizabeth barely managed to win, although it led by six points in the closing moments of the contest, when Allebach and Twyman registered goals.

The South Side Falcons bowed before the Y. M. H. A. quint, 42 to 25, in the West Penn League last night, while Manchester Community came through with a 38-37 win over Irene Kaufmann Settlement in the Central League.

Pittsburgh Railways set down Equitable Gas, 41 to 16, in the Philadelphia Company circuit. The P. & L. E., led by Dalt Lecar, defeated the K. of P. at Monessen, 32-27. The lineups:

Back in the running for the first-half championship of the Allegheny County League as a result of their convincing victory over the Elizabeth Independents while the Morry-Fintex quintet suffered a surprise defeat at the hands of the Duquesne Lafayettes, the Goldensons will attempt to shorten the gap between first and second places tonight when they meet the Allentown club on the Allentown floor. The Goldensons and Allentown have been rivals for many years and they never fail to provide their followers with a thrilling exhibition that brings out the best in both teams.

A. S. Rogers.

Dad Rogers, sponsor of the Allentown club, still is frothing at the mouth over the one-point defeat handed his passers by the Morry-Fintex combine and he will be out for revenge at the expense of the Goldensons tonight.

If the Goldensons succeed in taking a fall out of Allentown tonight the South Siders will be in an excellent position to oust the Fintex quintet from the top. Next Monday night at Duquesne University the two leaders lock horns in what should prove the greatest attraction of the season.

Yans Wallace, former star of the Morrys and coach of the Goldensons, while pleased with the showing of his players so far this season, still sees room for improvement and he is working his squad overtime in an effort to eradicate the flaws. Eddie Seigle's fine work in recent games, coupled with the brilliant form shown by Monk Ketchel, has the fans on the South Side excited over the Goldensons.

The Catholic Lyceum League will start its third week of operations tonight with St. Joseph at St. Wendelin, St. John at St. Henry and Catholic Men's Club at St. Casimir.

The Irene Kaufmann Settlement House faces one of its hardest tests of the season tonight when it meets the Forresters on the I. K. S. floor. This game is the only one scheduled in the Central Pittsburgh League.

NATIONAL TILTS KEEP LOCALS BUSY

By TOM BIRKS.

Real action is promised in tomorrow's soccer battles, headed by the National amateur cup tie game at the Homewood playgrounds between the Pierpoint Motors and the Pittsburgh Celtics. Two games are scheduled in the District League.

It would appear that the Pierpoints, with their extensive program in the National amateur and open tourneys, are holding up the parade in the league. The Motors are sadly behind, and this aggregation might find themselves placed in the same position the Heidelberg club was some years ago.

BEHIND SCHEDULE

Heidelberg, through its success in the cup ties, found itself behind in the league schedule. All of the other clubs had practically completed their cards except the Heidelberg games. Then, when when Heidelberg came to play these clubs with a chance to win in the loop, other managers could not raise teams, and all sorts of obstacles were placed in the way of the Green and Gold before the trophy was awarded.

Now the Motors are four games behind in the playing schedule, which also means four weeks. And the club is still interested in the two major National competitions. When the District League games will be played remains a question.

FANS INTERESTED

Fans are interested in tomorrow's battle with the Celtics. There is little doubt but that the Pierpoints, Celtics and Gallatins are the outstanding clubs in the district, with little to choose between them. The game starts at 2:30, and the largest crowd of the season is expected.

District League games will find Lewis at Crafton and National Tube meeting the Union Switch and Signal at Swissvale.

The semi-finals of the Cameron Cup competition for scholastic teams will be played December 25 and January 1. South Hills will meet Munhall High in the senior competition on December 25, while New Year's Day finds Heidelberg and Bridgeville locking horns.

McEwan, Oregon Grid Coach, Is Fired

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—The executive council of the University of Oregon last night adopted recommendations of the athletic committee that the contract of Capt. John J. McEwan, head football coach, be terminated immediately.

The council also decided to open negotiations with McEwan for a salary settlement. McEwan's contract does not expire until the close of the 1930 football season.

Tom Stoddard, student body president, said the move, which was not expected, was made in the "interest of athletic policy."

Capt. McEwan, who took over the football reins here in 1926, recently announced his resignation to newspapers here.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Captain John J. McEwan, ousted head coach of the University of Oregon football team, issued a statement today asserting his only trouble at Oregon was disagreement with the University president on football substitutions at critical moments. McEwan charged that this interference with his conduct of the team led to strained relations.

Jourdet to Sign As Penn Coach, Said

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 20.—(INS.)—The name of Lon Jourdet, former Penn star, jumped to the forefront of those mentioned for the vacant University of Pennsylvania's football coaching post today as reports were circulated that the name of the new coach would be announced before nightfall.

Jourdet has been mentioned for the post numerous times, but opposition to his appointment always developed. Now, however, it is said since the opposition has been unable to pick a candidate that Jourdet's chances are much brighter. He coached the ends this year. Lud Wray, line coach, and Si Pauxtis, P. M. C. coach, also are being mentioned for the post.

GREENLEAF WINS

RALPH EASILY REGAINS CUE CROWN

DETROIT, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Ralph Greenleaf, of New York, regained the world pocket billiard championship here last night by defeating Erwin Rudolph, of Chicago, 125 to 69, in 18 innings in a post-tournament game.

The championship match was a tensely contested game throughout, both contestants playing on the defensive most of the time, making it a battle of safeties.

Greenleaf miscued twice and fouled once, while Rudolph made four costly misses. The new champion's high run was 44, and Rudolph's 23.

The victory was worth about $8,000 to Greenleaf.

The first prize was $1,200 plus a percentage in the gate, which would bring it to about $2,000. The world champion also gets a $6,000 year contract from the National Billiards Association.

Rudolph won $1,000, also a percentage in the gate, and a $3,000 a year contract.

Greenleaf held the championship from 1919 until May, 1926, when it passed to Frank Taberski. He regained it the following fall, but lost it to Rudolph in a challenge match in New York in January, 1927. He won it back in 1928 in Chicago, but lost it to Taberski again in December of that year.

Taberski, the defending champion, finished third.

ARMY SPECIAL IN KANSAS

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Traveling behind schedule, but expecting to obtain a brief workout this afternoon at Hutchison, Kan., Army's football squad passed through here this morning bound for Palo Alto, Cal., to meet Stanford December 28.

Plans for a stop at Syracuse, Kan., today were canceled because the special train carrying the Army players and accompanying delegation was running late due to delays east of here in yesterday's blizzard.

The squad members were in good spirits despite the fact they were awakened at 3:30 a. m. at Galesburg, Ill., so the parents of Cadets Carlmark and Huglin could meet their sons and teammates. The parents had waited at the Galesburg station since 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Harvard Report Shows Big Surplus

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Sports at Harvard closed the year ending June 30, 1929, with a surplus of $217,171, the report of Henry L. Shattuck, treasurer of Harvard College, revealed.

The Athletic Association during the 12 months ending last June 30 took in $1,070,617, of which $618,892 was contributed by varsity football. Receipts increased approximately $56,000 over those for the preceding year, and expenses were reduced approximately $52,000.

Except for football, all the sports conducted at Harvard showed a deficit, the largest being contributed by rowing, which cost $39,705 and brought in only $2,387. Track was a close second, costing $47,336 and netting only $12,398. Baseball and hockey each cost approximately $5,000 more than they returned to the H. A. A. coffers.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Philadelphia—Leon Lucas defeated Fred Caldori, 8 rounds; William Washington defeated Tommy Cooney, 8 rounds.

At Miami, Fla.—Bob Goodwin knocked out (technical) Jimmy DeCapua, 10 rounds; Ginger Jernigan and Izzy Kaplan drew, 8 rounds.

E. PITTSBURGH BANQUET HELD

Members of the school board and others prominent in the business life of East Pittsburgh last night gathered with the football squad of East Pittsburgh High School to do honor to the gridders.

The occasion was a fine banquet served by the Domestic Science Department of the school. Miss Anita Fickles, in charge of the class, was the recipient of a gift from the grid players in recognition of the fine feast.

Johnny Coleman

Buff Donnelli, captain and halfback, and Sam Pratt, end, of the victorious Duke club of this year, were two of the guests of the evening. The two stars of the Layden team gave the high school performers some appreciated advice.

Coach Johnny Coleman, former Duke and St. Bonaventure athlete, who tutored the East Pittsburgh eleven, gave out the letters to his squad. The team loses some of its stellar performers.

Toastmaster Dr. J. A. Kennedy, of Swissvale, enlivened the evening with his clever deliveries. He was introduced by C. F. Young, supervising principal of the high school. Others who gave addresses were George V. Beech, Thomas Hampton, H. G. Beamer, principal of the high school; John Pavlick, R. M. Jones, L. L. Swaney, and Charles J. Doyle, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

CLAIRTON HIGH TEAM FETED

Clairton High School last night celebrated its winning of the W. P. I. A. L. football championship with a banquet in the cafeteria of the school, attended by several hundred students, alumni, parents, townspeople and invited guests.

Coach George Woodman was lauded by virtually all of the speakers for his success in turning out winning teams. During the last three seasons Clairton has won 27 games and tied one, a scoreless deadlock with Donora in 1928. Five hundred and twenty-two points have been scored against 31 by opponents over this period.

The Rev. William W. McKinney, of Ambridge, who also is a well-known football official, was the speaker of the evening and delivered a fine sports address, in which he took occasion to second the views of the Very Rev. M. A. Hehir, president of Duquesne University, anent the Carnegie Foundation report on athletics, as expressed by the latter at the Dukes' banquet in the William Penn Hotel last Tuesday evening, to wit, that the report did not reveal anything not already known and that its attack on the football phase of college athletics was unwarranted.

Dr. A. W. Colcord proved an able toastmaster. Other speakers included H. J. Davis, general superintendent of the Carnegie Steel plant in Clairton; F. F. Marquard, assistant superintendent; B. M. Livesey, former Clairton coach; Mayor W. B. Farnsworth, Mayor-elect J. R. McVey, H. D. Teal, superintendent of schools of Clairton; William Bryson, principal of the senior high school; Capt. Joe Kalcevich, Captain-elect Kenneth Stilley, Judd Plotner, president of the Lions' Club, of Clairton, who presented a trophy to the team on behalf of the club; Coach Woodman, William J. Wyke, assistant coach; I. A. Nicholas, president of the school board; State Senator W. D. Mansfield, of McKeesport; T. W. Tingley, chairman of the athletic committee of the school board, and Harry Keck, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Tingley outlined plans for new seating arrangements and an improved playing field which will culminate in the construction of a full-fledged stadium for the school.

A turkey dinner was served, music was furnished by the Stokes Mendelssohn Orchestra and Irene Garrison Cramblett, soloist, entertained.

The following lettermen received sweaters:

BILL AMOS SPEAKS

Bill Amos, Wash.-Jeff. coach, was the principal speaker at a banquet for the Swissvale High School squad, held in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel, Wilkinsburg. Letters and other awards were given out. C. C. Kelso, superintendent of schools of Swissvale, was another speaker.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 20.—(AP.)—H. A. Stansbury, director of athletics at West Virginia University, announced yesterday he had declined an offer to meet the University of Iowa in football next year. Iowa offered West Virginia dates of October 11 or 18, but West Virginia was unable to accept. Long's Sport Comment

"I am writing to express my pleasure at learning that Gus Suhr has been purchased by the Pirates. I have been pulling for Gus to catch on with the Buccaneer brig, and now finally he has done so. In my opinion it was a very wise and shrewd move on the parts of Messrs. Dreyfuss and Ens.

"I will admit that they sacrificed a fine defensive player in Earl Sheely, but Suhr was needed to fill in a big gap on the offensive. At that Suhr is not lacking in a fielding way, and as for batting, his record of 62 doubles, six triples and 51 home runs, capped by a hitting average of .381, speaks for itself.

Gus Suhr

"SUHR will fit into the Pirates' plans and add color to the infield, which should be one of the classiest in either league. With an infield composed of Suhr, Grantham, Bartell and Traynor, an outfield made up of the Waners and Comorosky, a catching staff including Hemsley and Bool, and a pitching staff consisting of Grimes, Brame, Kremer, Petty, Meine, Swetonic, French and possibly two or three rookies, the Bucs should be real contenders.

"It may be rash to make predictions so early, but here goes: The Pirates will cop the 1930 pennant; Suhr will hit at least 30 home runs, and Grimes, Kremer and Brame will win 45 to 50 games among them. Just wait and see how close I come."

IN view of the remarkable form he had displayed during the tournament, Ralph Greenleaf's recapture of the world pocket billiard championship by his 125-to-69 victory over Erwin Rudolph at Detroit last night, in the play-off of the tie for first place, was in line with the expectations of the great majority of cue followers. For when right, Greenleaf is without an equal at the pocket game, and that he was right in this tourney was attested by the amazing new world records he set. First, after scratching on his opening shot, he ran out a game in two innings and pocketed 126 balls without a miss, defeating his opponent, Frank Taberski, then still champion, by the unprecedented score of 125 to 0.

IN his next game against Pasquale Natalie he ran 27 before he missed, a continuous run of 153. It was clear that that kind of form would be too much for Rudloph or any other modern player. Greenleaf's only defeat in the tourney was suffered at the hands of Marcel Camp, 125 to 112.

Strangely enough, Camp also defeated Taberski, the old champion and joint favorite with Greenleaf to win the title, and then lost four of his five other games in the tournament. This is the third time Greenleaf has won the pocket championship. He captured it first in 1919 and held it until defeated by Taberski in the league race of 1924-25. He regained it in 1926, only to lose it to Rudolph soon afterward in a challenge match.

19 BIG SYSTEMS IN I. C. C. RAIL MERGER PLAN

Forecast of Main Features Of Consolidations Given; Five Trunk Lines in East

The following forecast of the Interstate Commerce Commission's report on railroad consolidations, issuance of which is expected momentarily, appeared today in the Wall Street Journal:

(Copyright, 1929, by Dow, Jones & Co.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The Interstate Commerce Commission has completed its official railroad consolidation plan. Official publication is expected in a few days. Main features of the plan are:

Allocation of the railway properties of Continental United States among 19 major systems comprising five trunk lines in the East, two in New England, three in the South and nine in the West, exclusive of the Canadian-controlled Soo Line and the Grand Trunk Western and Vermont Central, which will be treated as separate units, making a total of 21 system allocations.

2—Definite assignment of short line railroads to the respective systems.

3—General treatment of the terminal situation as necessarily arises in providing for joint use of terminal facilities in large and congested metropolitan areas.

GROUPING BASES

Roads which the plan will use as system grouping bases are understood to be as follows:

In the East: Pennsylvania, New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio and Wabash.

In New England: New Haven and Boston and Maine, excluding the Canadian-controlled Grand Trunk, Western and Vermont Central, which will be treated as a separate unit, and Boston and Albany branch of the New York Central.

In the South: Southern Railway, Atlantic Coast Line and Illinois Central.

In the West: The Great Northern and Northern Pacific considered as a system, with Burlington excluded; the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific; Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Missouri Pacific; Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; Southern Pacific; Union Pacific; Chicago and Northwestern; with the Soo Line and other Canadian-controlled lines treated separately.

STRATEGIC LINES

Assignment of stragetic lines, which has been a matter of considerable speculation and discussion within the commission itself, is understood to be in this manner:

In the East, Baltimore and Ohio is expected to get Philadelphia and Reading, Central of New Jersey, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, and an interest in the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton, which Pennroad Corporation now controls.

Wabash is scheduled to receive Lehigh Valley, Pittsburgh and West Virginia, Western Maryland, Wheeling and Lake Erie, an interest in Detroit, Toledo and Ironton and Chesapeake and Ohio Railway of Indiana.

Chesapeake and Ohio, in addition to the Van Swearingen-controlled lines, will be augmented by addition of Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and Bessemer and Lake Erie.

New York Central additions include the Virginian and Rutland. Under this arrangement it will be seen that the New York Central and Pennsylvania remain practically in the shape in which they now exist.

NEW ENGLAND GROUPING

In New England: Boston and Maine stands to receive Delaware and Hudson, while the important New England bridge lines, the Lehigh and Hudson, both are destined to the New Haven group.

In the South: Seaboard Air Line and Norfolk and Western will go to the Wabash; the Mobile and Ohio and Chicago and Eastern Illinois to the Chicago and Northwestern; the Florida East Coast to the Southern, while the Baltimore and Ohio will receive an interest in Chicago, Louisville and Nashville. Gulf Mobile and Northern, Louisville and Nashville, Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis and the Clinchfield and Ohio will be aligned with the Atlantic Coast Line.

In the Southwest: Expectations are that the Illinois Central will get the St. Louis Southwestern, as well as Central of Georgia, which it controls, along with Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company of Texas. Missouri, Kansas and Texas is expected to go to the Burlington, while the Kansas City Southern is scheduled to go to the Union Pacific.

WESTERN PLAN

In the West: The outstanding allocation is the exclusion of the Burlington from the Northern group and its use as a system basis. The St. Louis and San Francisco is expected to go to Rock Island, which holds a substantial block of its stock, while the two U. S. Steel Corporation roads, Duluth and Iron Range and Duluth, Messabe and Northern, will be assigned to the Milwaukee system. Assignment of Western Pacific to Missouri Pacific is looked for, as also is the case with Denver and Rio Grande Western, Denver and Salt Lake and Kansas City, Oklahoma and Gulf. The Chicago Great Western will be assigned to Santa Fe, while Illinois Central will get Minneapolis and St. Louis.

The commission's plan will not definitely allocate terminal roads to any particular system, but reserve them for joint use of all the carriers.

Dividend Expected on Copperweld Steel

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

DIRECTORS of the Copperweld Steel Company are expected to place the stock on a dividend basis early next year. While the amount has not been definitely determined, it is considered likely that $2 a year will be paid.

Net profit for the year will probably be equivalent to between $3 and $4 a share on the common stock. All indications point to even better results for 1930. Production for the first quarter of the new year has been sold.

Sales are being steadily expanded by the development of additional uses for the products and by the perfection of entirely new materials. The company is making large expenditures each year to find new applications for Copperweld steel.

Develops New Product

THE company has just perfected a type of steel which it is using as a core for copperweld steel. The material has about 40 per cent greater tensile strength than steel formerly used and also is more satisfactory for the transmission of electricity.

Copperweld steel is a corrosion-proof material with a steel core covered by an outer layer of copper. In its production the company covers a steel ingot with molten copper by a patented process. The two metals become so perfectly welded that the copper and steel retain the same relative proportions of thickness no matter how much the material is rolled or drawn.

The outer coating of copper makes the material almost as lasting as solid copper with the advantage of a lower price and greater strength. This combination of properties is particularly valuable to power companies who use large amounts of copperweld wire for transmission lines.

Makes Reinforcements

ANOTHER new product being placed on the market is a rustproof wire mesh for use in the reinforcement of concrete. Copperweld wire is woven into a mat which cannot be harmed by water. The product will be valuable in concrete docks and abutments in both salt and fresh water. Government tests are being conducted to determine the value of the material for Mississippi River work.

The company recently was licensed by the Rustless Iron Corporation of America to convert rustless iron into wire products. The Rustless Iron Corporation is planning to build a plant in this district and a site near the Glassport plant of Copperweld Steel is under consideration.

Preferred Stock Retired

THE company has no funded debt or preferred stock. Early this year $1,500,000 of 6 per cent preferred was sold to retire the funded debt and to increase working capital. All of the preferred has since been converted into common. Each of the first 5,000 shares were convertible into four shares of common, the second 5,000 into three shares and the remainder into two shares. Before the conversion the company had 142,000 shares of common outstanding so that at present about 183,000 shares are outstanding.

Last August the work of moving the plant was completed. Ample space is available for the installation of additional equipment as needed.

In the past five years the company has doubled its business. The extent of the growth of the organization was apparent at the eighth annual banquet held on Wednesday night. The first banquet was attended by eight people. The last one by 200. Representatives attended from all parts of the world. The year just ending has been the greatest in the company's history.

Annalist Business Index Sharply Off

Based on preliminary data, the annalist index of business activity for November shows a decrease of 8.1 points, the largest month-to-month decline in the history of the index, which covers the entire post-war period. The preliminary index for November is 95.4, as compared with 103.5, the revised index for October, and 108.8, the figure which represents the peak of the current business cycle, reached last May.

MORE COTTON GINNED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The Bureau of Census reports 13,461,630 running bales of cotton, counting round bales as halves and excluding linters, ginned from the crop of 1929 prior to December 13, against ginnings to December 13, 1928, of 13,144,333, and in 1927 of 12,072,763 bales.

Corrected figure for ginnings this season prior to December 1 is 12,858,965 bales, making ginnings for the last census period, December 1 to 13, total 602,665 bales, compared with 584,79 bales in the corresponding period in 1928 and 334,425 in 1927.

Berlin Refuses To Take U. S. Loan

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—The German government has abandoned negotiations with Dillon, Read and Company, of New York, for an emergency loan of $100,000,000. Instead, through an agreement between coalition parties in the Reichstag and the cabinet, the loan is to be raised through the German "D" banks, the Darmstaedter, the Dresdner and the Deutsche-Diskonto. Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, has agreed to sanction the domestic loan.

It was understood that the "D" banks will advance the funds, which are needed to cover the year-end treasury deficit, and will then cover the loans through short term credits to be arranged with J. P. Morgan and Company.

It was also reported that Dr. Schacht's refusal to approve a loan from Dillon, Read and Company was due primarily to objections from the French government and also to contrary advice from S. Parker Gilbert, agent general of reparations under the Dawes plan.

Stock Exchange Topics

Gold Losses Reflected In Weekly Bank Statements.

LOSSES of $33,000,000 gold during the period in consequence of engagements by London, Paris and Berlin are reflected in the weekly bank statements which show reserve ratios down sharply both for the New York bank and the system as a whole. Total gold reserves of the system are now down $159,000,000 from the peak of November 20, last, and its ratio stands at 69.3 per cent against 71.6 per cent a week ago and 75.9 per cent the high of May 22. The raait of the local bank now stands at 65.5 per cent against a high of 86.6 per cent on May 29. This falling off naturally reflects in a measure the recent change of policy on the part of the reserve toward the money market. For several weeks past the tendency has been to release substantial amounts of credit, the total of such credit, reflecting in part, of course, the effect of the Treasury's overdraft, was increased by $118,000,000 during the week.

The net drop of $39,000,000 in brokers' loans proved in line with expectations, and therefore held little interest for the speculator. But the further heavy contraction of $105,000,000 in loans for "others" constituting non-bank funds aroused no end of discussion. Not so long ago when such loans stood close to $4,000,000,000, and comprised 55 per cent of the total of all loans, some people began to fret about the possibilities of sudden heavy withdrawals of such funds, but were assured against any such development. Now, however, with the loans for that account down to $1,804,000,000, it is certainly evident that such fears were well grounded.

ONE broker of long experience was moved to remark that the market just now is reflecting in no small measure the activities of a new crop of "cub bears." When asked what he meant, he explained that much of the selling now making itself felt in the market for the short account is coming from traders who until now have had little or no experience on the bear side. He reached this conclusion from personal observation, pointing out that a number of his own clients who had been following the bull side of the market before the break have since veered around to the opposite position. And the strange part of it, he finds, is that they appear to be doing quite well.

It will be recalled that when the market was breaking badly the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey offered assistance to any of its employe shareholders who might at the time have been in danger of being closed out. Naturally, in view of the scope of the speculation, it was believed quite a rush of applications for first aid must have been made. But only 129 of the 23,800 employe shareholders called for assistance, or the equivalent of ½ of 1 per cent of the total. And more interesting, perhaps, is the disclosure that some 90 per cent of such applications came from those employes at 26 Broadway, "indicating," says the "Lamp," the company publication, "that speculation was pretty closely confined to the immediate environs of Wall street.

THOUGH selling for tax purposes has cut something of a figure in the market recently, Wall street has reason to believe that the bulk of the pressure which has been forcing stocks backward has had its origin with the bear element. The situation in the "stock loan" crowd late yesterday and again today was interesting in that connection, with developments there tending to bear out the belief that the short interest in the market has expanded considerably within the past week. Not for some weeks past has the borrowing demand for stocks been as brisk as it is presently. A lengthy list of stocks including several of those which have been under greatest pressure this week, Fox Film "A," among them, are lending "flat," while many others are lending substantially under the money rate, indicating rather urgent demand to protect short positions.

Not only is Wabash common regarded as a sound investment at current levels in view of the fact that the share earnings will approximate $8 for the current year, but the Interstate Commerce Commission is expected to recommend a fifth trunk line east of the Mississippi to be set up with this road set-up as a nucleus. The manner in which Pennsylvania interests control about 49 per cent of the stock of this carrier and also a substantial minority interest have bid against one another for any offerings has given the common an unusual strength marketwise in recent weeks.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Beaten Down — Local Trading Quiet

STOCK MARKET HAMMERED LOWER

Large Blocks Dumped When Money Goes to 5. Rally Slightly at End

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Wall Street "Bears" took some of the pre-Christmas joy out of the hearts of the "Bulls" by whacking the stock market today, hammering prices all along the line down from a fraction to 10 points.

Liquidation became more general and large blocks of stocks were dumped on the market in the last hour after call money stiffened to 5 per cent. A rally on short covering at the close lifted a few stock prices slightly.

Stock prices opened irregular, quickly turned downward when further weakness developed in the Fox Film and International Combustion issues, rallied briskly around mid-day and then turned soft again in the early afternoon when several of the leaders established their low levels of the day.

BEAR SELLING FACTOR

"Bear" selling was an important factor in the decline. A series of unfavorable business and financial developments in the last week, including receiverships for the American Piano and International Combustion companies, a falling off in freight car loadings and steel output and predictions in many quarters that the current recession in business might run through the first quarter or first half of next year, provided speculators for the decline with plenty of ammunition in their campaign for lower prices.

Pools, having found it difficult to attract an outside following, temporarily have withdrawn from the market, while small investors seem content to stand on the sidelines and pick up stocks at lower levels.

NEWS IGNORED

The drop of $39,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans, carrying them to the lowest level in more than two years, was offset by the announcement of additional heavy gold shipments to Europe. Little attention apparently was paid to the publication of an unofficial summary of the Interstate Commerce Commission's revised railroad consolidation plan, and the declaration of extra dividends by the U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Freeport Texas and a few smaller companies.

Unconfirmed reports that holiday trade was falling below expectations brought about heavy selling in the merchandising group. May Department Stores broke more than 9 points to 45½, as contrasted with the low of 46, touched in the November break. Montgomery-Ward broke 6¾ to 47⅜, also a new low for the year, and Sears Roebuck dropped 5 points. Abraham & Straus and Spiegel May Stern also sold at new minimum prices for the year.

BREAKS WIDE

Columbian Carbon broke 9¾ points in the early trading, rallied 5 points and then fell 11¾ points below last night's close. General Electric, Johns Manville, R. H. Macy, Westinghouse Electric, Lackawanna, U. S. Freight, Boston and Maine, American Water Works, Western Union, Simmons Co., American and Foreign Power, American Tobacco A and B, Underwood Elliott Fisher and Vanadium Steel sold down 4 to 8 points.

Fox Film dropped 6 points to a new low at 19¼ and International Combustion recorded a new low at 4½.

More general liquidation followed the stiffening of call money to 5 per cent in the last hour and blocks of 10,000 shares and larger were sold. Many important shares touched their lowest prices in some time. U. S. Steel went to 159, Standard Oil of New Jersey 60 and Montgomery Ward 44. Columbian Carbon was down 16 points, American Machine and Foundry 14, Simmons 12, R. H. Macy 10, Sears Roebuck 9½ and Atchison and Western Union 7. The close was weak, despite a slight rally. Sales approximated 5,000,000 shares.

London Swindle Should Silence Railing at N. Y.

By B. C. FORBES

A HOLIER-THAN-THOU attitude has been taken by the British toward American finance, and especially towards events in Wall street. But financial London has been worse disgraced than financial New York, recent developments reveal.

BY FAR the worst financial swindle perpetrated in modern times has come to light in London.

Clarence Charles Hatry, clerk in an insurance broker's office at 25, blossomed into a large-scale promoter before he was 30, waxed bolder and more brazen, floated venture after venture, had his questionable stocks traded in on the London Stock Exchange, became an ostentatiously prodigious spender, entertained lavishly on his own yacht, acquired a racing stable, captured control of a London bank—and at 40 suffers the worst crash of the kind England has ever known.

The unsecured claims are put at $67,500,000 and total liabilities at about $100,000,000.

That exceeds in magnitude even the swindling of the notorious Jabez Balfour. The equally notorious Whitaker Wright, with his $27,500,000 swindle, was a piker in comparison with this latest British exploiter.

Our own Ponzi was a pygmy in comparison with Hatry. Ponzi fooled and fleeced only the uninitiated, only small fry. Hatry fooled and fleeced investors of all classes, bankers, banks. One of Hatry's tricks, it is charged, was the forging of share certificates. This recalls the worst episode of a like nature in this country in many a day, namely, the Julian oil evil-smelling case in Los Angeles. America's skirts, of course, are not entirely clean.

THE fact is that Wall Street has come through the severest stock market collapse in history extraordinarily creditably. There has been no alarming bank failure—nothing reminiscent of the Baring bank crisis in London in 1890. Not one important New York Stock Exchange firm has failed.

No corporation sponsored by top-notch men of affairs has been thrown into bankruptcy—although a few sizeable companies have become embarrassed. Nothing more than the customary swindling by fly-by-night promoters has come to the front. Notwithstanding the terrific extent of stock speculation during the boom and the unprecedented violence of the collapse, the losses sustained by customers through the failure of brokers have been negligible.

"Bootleg" lenders, as frequently predicted here, hastily withdrew funds for hundreds of millions when the collapse set in, but New York's bankers acted with magnificent courage and prevented even the slightest semblance of a money famine or money panic. Our financial history contains no worthier chapter than that recently written by New York's banks. Indeed, their conduct was in such contrast with that of other lenders, that an insistent demand is such to arise that all stock market lending be done by banks, whose business it is to do this legitimate banking business, and not by non-bankers over whom there is no control whatsoever.

FROM now on, London would do well to cease attempting to blacken New York.

Ore Consumption Falls in November

CLEVELAND, Dec. 20.—Lake Superior ore consumed by furnaces during November amounted to 4,700,925 tons as compared with 5,365,813 tons in October, or a decrease of 664,888 tons.

Ore consumed in November of last year total 4,897,404 tons. Total ore on hand at furnaces and Lake Erie docks as of December 1, 1929, amounted to 41,499,687 tons as compared with 40,080,106 tons a year ago. Number of furnaces in blast on last day of November totaled 155, a decrease of 25 from number in blast on last day of October.

Co-operatives Claim 40% of Grain Crop

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The Farmers' National Grain Corporation has been informed by co-operatives that nearly 40 per cent of the 1930 grain crop will be controlled by them. Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, however, said that a more conservative view should be taken and that the Farmers' National Grain Corporation, he thought, would control between 25 and 30 per cent.

The Central Corporation will engage in export trade, he said.

New Financing for Week Shows Gain

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—New financing during week ended December 20 aggregated $170,224,000 of which $157,774,000 was bonds and $12,450,000 stocks. Week's total is exclusive of $69,395,000 in United States government treasury bills. Last week's financing compares with $100,233,161 entirely of bonds in preceding week and $150,455,000 in 1928 week of which $94,503,000 was in bonds and $55,952,000 in stocks.

U. S. Steel Roads Merger Approved

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized the Duluth, Missabe and Northern Railway to acquire control, by lease, of the Duluth and Iron Range Railroad. Both lines of which are controlled by the United States Steel Corporation and are important ore carrying roads.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Pre-holiday dullness affected the bond market today and the list scarcely moved during the earlier trading. The trend, however, was slightly downward on the evaporation of buying interest. High grade rails, as a group, were virtually neglected for the first time this week and fractional losses averaging perhaps a quarter of a point resulted. The utilities likewise stagnated, and there was little activity in industrial listings.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column quoted states bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars:

That instead of paying off old loans people were forced to borrow more and more for margin requirements. The older loans are now long past due and we are forced to abandon efforts to collect them

Things I Never Knew Till Now

THAT if you call them "Rubio" instead of "Ortiz Rubio" or "Gil" instead of "Portes Gil" you insult those Mexican Presidents. Ortiz and Portes are their paternal names—the others are on their mothers' sides.

That radium, which is priceless, eventually turns to lead, which is cheap.

That you cannot prove that you are alive!

That the buttons on a man's sleeve were originally put there to button back his lacy cuffs when he ate.

That all things, living or dead, animate or inanimate, are made basically of the same substance—electricity.

NOTCE TO PROWLERS

THAT if you shoot a man at night through a window of a house and miss him, you are guilty of burglary.

That Kentucky trotters were evolved to beat the Sunday anti-race laws, which forbade galloping.

That the custom of walking the curb side of a lady was originated in Rome, where homes were built without cement; and the wind might drop a stone on a guy's head if he walked on the inside.

That the Kaiser and his frau were the only members of the royalty who didn't sleep in twin beds.

That in the heyday of Pompeii, dentists filled teeth with molten lead.

That a chap by the last name of Paynter is the art editor of the Columbia Jester, the collitch humor magazine.

FUTURE OFFICE BOY

THAT the world's youngest whistler is Cyril Dickson, of London. He is 11 months young. He cannot walk or talk, but when he awakens in the morning he starts whistling, high and shrill, and continues throughout the day. Neighbors must be crazy about him.

That straw is used for decoration in every orthodox Greek home on Christmas Day in memory of the stable of Bethlehem.

That human bones continue to grow until the 25th year.

That the checkrooms in New York playhouses belong to a ring of concessionaires and that business is so terrible in the theaters that the hat bandits are now selling soft drinks and ciggies ' the smoking parlors with the hope of getting an even break.

That they have machines down where the trains come in at the Penn Station that give you 5 minutes of movies for a nickel.

WHY PAREE IS GAY

That it rains almost daily during the winter in Paree.

That another person with the initials U. S. A. is Urban S. Aarnham, of Sixth street, Bayside, L. I.

That the Dis't Att'y for Orange County, N. Y., is named Lemon.

That onions peeled and held under the arms will produce a fever that will convince doctors. And that it was a favorite trick of lazy soldiers during the Huge Tiff.

That the cover of Western Story magazine reveals a man being stampeded by a herd of buffalo and he is aiming his rifle, the muzzle of which is sputtering fire, although the hammer is cocked.

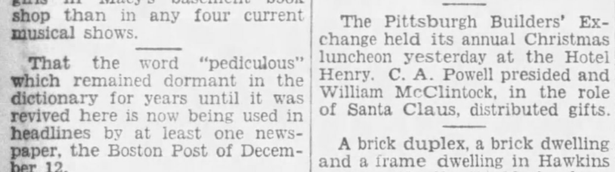
Twenty-sixth Ward — Rebecca Lacock, brick dwelling, Bepler street, $6,300.



TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

Gents are hardest to please at Christmas time. I have solved the problem by thinking up the ideal gift—A Ready Packed Trunk, which can be used for traveling or getting out of the house quickly. Each trunk, or Aunt Bella Treasure Chest, contains clippers for cutting of the hair, combination clothes and tooth brush, two pants suit, scarf stud, clean kerchief, an old straw hat, combination safety pin and fish hook, amusement dice and perhaps something that takes up space but is light and easy to carry, such as feathers.

Amendment Would Curb Senate's Abuse of Power

When the United States Senate denied to William S. Vare the seat in that body to which he was duly elected by the people of Pennsylvania, it was not the strength of conscience but the weakness of cowardice that prompted this indefensible action on the part of the Senate.

One of the easiest ways of promoting a reputation for virtue is to attack the character of somebody else.

And this is precisely what those Senators did who trampled upon the Constitution of the United States in refusing to admit Vare to take the seat to which the Constitution entitled him.

Those Senators knew well enough that Vare was entitled to take his seat. They thoroughly realized he possessed all the qualifications enumerated in the Constitution for membership in the Senate. They saw him bring "a credential consisting of a certificate of his due election from the executive of his state."

But when the question of excessive expenditures by Vare in the Pennsylvania primaries was raised, a majority of the Senate turned a deaf ear to the "still small voice of conscience" and succumbed to the cowardly fear of what the folks back home might think.

If a Senator voted to seat Vare in obedience to the mandate of the Constitution and in pursuance of the well-settled practice of the Senate, the folks back home might consider that he was casting a vote in favor of excessive expenditures in senatorial primary.

Therefore, among the very Senators whom the nation had a right to expect would maintain the rights of the states were found a number who ranged themselves on the other side, who voted for what they knew was wrong and what they knew was a violation of the rights of the states, who, instead of following the dictates of conscience, succumbed to the contemptible fear of cowardice.

Furthermore, if any Senator conscientiously voted against seating William S. Vare, the boss, because he was associated with a political machine, what possible excuse can that Senator have for voting to seat Joseph R. Grundy, the lobbyist, who is associated with a more powerful, and therefore more vicious political machine?

The truth is, however, that the Senate had no constitutional right, and therefore, no moral right to nullify the act of the sovereign state of Pennsylvania by refusing to seat either Vare, the boss, or Grundy, the lobbyist.

Because the moral obligation of the Senate in both cases was to discharge its constitutional duty and pass, not upon the personal fitness, but only upon the constitutional qualifications of both Vare and Grundy.

This is what the Senate did when it admitted Grundy, the lobbyist, to the seat to which he was constitutionally appointed. This is what the Senate failed to do when it denied to Vare the seat to which he was constitutionally elected.

And the failure of the Senate in the Vare case to perform its constitutional duty is a very definite and a very grave menace not only to the state of Pennsylvania but to the sovereignties of the several states.

By denying to Vare the seat to which the Constitution entitled him, the Senate has grossly abused its power in the premises and forfeited its right to remain the untrammeled judge of its membership.

As long as the Senate retains this unlimited power, a majority of the Senate can disqualify a duly elected Senator for any reason that it trumps up for the purpose of concealing its real motive.

For example, a Republican majority could disqualify a duly elected Senator because he was a Democrat or because he was a Progressive.

In fact, if such a majority decided to read a man out of the Republican party, they could at the same time read him out of the Senate.

This would be not only an injustice to the Senator in question, but an annulment of his constitutional rights as an American citizen.

The remedy for the Senate's abuse of power in the Vare case, therefore, lies in an amendment to the Constitution that will confine the judgment of the Senate in regard to membership to the determination solely of whether a Senator-elect possesses the qualifications enumerated in the Constitution.

By the terms of such an amendment the sovereignty of the several states would be protected against the violation of which the Senate was guilty when it denied to Vare the seat to which he was duly elected.

Citizenship Education Has Laudable Purpose

The purpose of the recently organized Committee of Education in Citizenship, membership of which embraces thinking men in educational, professional, clerical and other fields, is most laudable. The aim is first to institute training in citizenship in the schools, which is as it should be, since the schools already are giving training in citizenship. We assume the plan is to make the pupils realize there is special significance as well as the greatest of privilege in the assumption of citizenship, with the ultimate object of making the lessons remain uppermost after school days are over.

All of us who have attended school, if we reflect a little, can remember ideals that were held up to us while we acquired what were considered the practical three R's. The trouble is that many of us have forgotten what we did learn about citizenship in schools. Perhaps, our children, inspired by the contacts that may be made by the Committee of Education in Citizenship, may re-idealize us.

Anyway, why should not good citizenship be considered the most practical of all things, rather than a roseate ideal? Lincoln and his citizenship were an ideal revealed to all of us in school days. Yet Lincoln was a most practical man and his accomplishments were practical and for the benefit of mankind.

Good citizenship is a jewel. We do not have to go into dark mines or brave any dangers to acquire this gem. It is ours for the resolution to possess it individually. Let us hope that the Committee of Education in Citizenship will be a spur to resolution in "citizens" as well as school children.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

The Old Brass Rail

THE law not only splits a hair but it gives each half a permanent wave.

The revenue posse tracked the uncertain and staggering footprints of a franchised citizen of Staten Island and deposited him neatly and correctly in a government detention camp.

"Bugs" Baer

His mouthpiece prepared to defend him to the last drop. The D. A. insisted that the free and unequal citizen ran a speakeasy.

"It was a speakeasy," said the D. A. "It had a bar."

"Nope, not a bar," replied the mouthpiece, "a counter."

"Was there a brass rail before the counter?" asked the presiding judge, whose mind up to this time had been gathering wool for a Santa Claus beard.

"He was saturated with negatives. There was no brass rail before the counter."

"Then we will call it a counter," said the judge, whose reminiscences were authoritative and concise. "I fine the prisoner $150 for possessing intoxicating liquors."

Without the sounding of brass rails the clashing of pint cymbals, no fleabag or deadfall can hope to attain the illicit dignity of a bar.

Yet, we remember many old time glittering and polished webs which did not have brass rails to guide the faltering brogans and round heels of patrons errant.

If the judge had cared to pursue his technical studies a little deeper and wetter, he could have insisted on mirror landscaping, painted with stale beer and epsom salts.

Also a richly framed lithograph that could have been the Aurora Borealis in the moulting season or a soap manufacturer's idea of Custer's last fight.

In order to make it an official bar there should have been a tapestry of interwoven sawdust. In the real old bars the sawdust was so thick that customers had to use snow shovels to rescue a bum at the free lunch counter.

Nothing was said about the free lunch. If there were no pickles, no herring, no red beets, no onions and no bologna, then it was not a bar. If there was no towel swinging at half mast for the barflies to polish up their celluloid cuffs and no demitasse of cloves to sweeten up a swamped breath then the very essentials of neat and careful housekeeping were lacking.

Also a framed manuscript testifying that this was the first dollar bill taken in over the mahogany. And a barkeep with rheumatic wrists gleaned from spasmodic plungings into the trough. An old-time barkeep was a male laundress who was an artist in washing a glass without cleaning it.

There were many things essential to bardom that the judge overlooked in his hasty treatise. Some day we hope to meet the judge and compare diplomas.

WITH BANNERS FLYING

By Herbert Kaufman

IN Grover Cleveland's Administration, fifty million dollars was such a vital SUM to the Government that when J. P. Morgan organized a bankers' syndicate to underwrite Treasury bonds to that amount, the institutions which participated in the transaction were lauded in terms of national saviors.

In Herbert Hoover's Administration, such trifling items as a Congressional grant of TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY-THREE ODD MILLIONS for new Federal buildings, is such a casual fiscal gesture, that announcement of the appropriation is tucked away among inside pages, without exciting a single GRANDIOSE phrase.

Nor does type indulge in the least emphasis when allied debtors transfer to United States account approximately a hundred million to apply against war loans.

Nowadays, promoters like Hatry—whose house of marked-cards has just collapsed in London—defraud customers of ALMOST as much, and scarcely VIBRATE the structure of local finance.

BUT nothing is so indicative of the world's cash position as Stock Market reaction to the Senate's ratification of the Mellon-Berlanger Agreement, under the terms of which France admits indebtedness of $4,025,000,000, plus stipulated interest.

Ten years ago, tickers would have responded like seismographs to the affirming vote—but, with an income exceeding a HUNDRED BILLIONS annually, America's speculative pulse doesn't quicken an average point at the deal.

As in the past, individual fortunes will continue to remain at the mercy of economic drifts, industrial adjustments and managerial adeptness. No system will ever be perfected to keep a fool and his money together—or to prevent an incautious gambler from overbetting his cards.

Crop surpluses and shortages will affect agricultural prosperity so long as nature refuses to adopt schedules.

MERCHANTS who over-estimate their requirements and maintain reckless inventories; shops that don't study changing street signs or follow crowd wends, will regularly pass into creditors' hands; builders who bite off more than shoe-strings can chew, are due to render unto Caesar and his mortgages.

Over-production will keep writing red pages on unwary balance sheets and robots displace human labor, wherever further accuracy and lessened expense may be secured through the introduction of time and cost-saving automata.

Progress and competence WILL be served irrespective of PERSONAL consequences.

A certain percentage of business and trades must always retire before stronger and more alert competitors.

But minor factors cannot abort the favorable trends and auspicious conditions PERSISTENTLY pushing factory output and retail consumption to unprecedented peaks.

THE Hoover survey attests healthy fundamentals throughout commerce and fabrication.

The immediate future is admittedly spotted with clouds, but they are largely SEASONAL. Hay can't be made every month in twelve and different sections are bound to reflect the variations of commodity prices-current.

Bull and bear movements and the fluctuations of exchange have nothing to do with it.

Profits and loss are subject to the ebbs and flows of supply and demand. But sporadic group distress and purely regional depressions are not SUFFICIENT to halt the confident thrusts of the mightiest and heaviest capitalized concern on the face of the earth—the Associated Enterprises of the United States of America.

We're marching into 1930 with banners flying and war-chests ready, for ANY engagement, regardless of Wall Street sentiment and the bleat of shorn lambs. Enlist with the optimists and come along, TOO.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

THERE'S a new philosopher ambling through the world of books . . . a philosopher who may open many a jammed door for you, with his golden Negro laughter and his deep, Negro wisdom. His name is Black Ulysses and Howard W. Odum has written his new book, "WINGS ON MY FEET," about him.

Black Ulysses goes to the war . . . digs trenches . . . carries ammunition . . . sings and clowns . . . buries the dead . . . dreams of his razor fights, his mammy, his "high yaller" sweethearts and his "teasin' browns" . . . and thinks—

Thinks about this strange business of life and love and loneliness, hope and ambition, hate and fear and death . . .

Thinks how every man must face these things, sooner or later . . . and how little help he has in facing them, EXCEPT THE HELP HE GIVES HIMSELF . . .

Then, standing in the middle of it all, Black Ulysses shrugs his shoulders and laughs — "AIN'T NO TIME. AIN'T NO PLACE. AIN'T NOTHIN' BUT MYSELF AN' MY FEELIN'S. NOTHIN' BUT ME AN' WORLD AN' WAR."

"Nothin' but myself an' my feelin's" — Black Ulysses at the war or YOU in your kitchen or office . . . it's all the same partner. There's LIFE. There's YOU. And you've nothing but YOURSELF to tackle life with.

Just a tourist, on your way, that's all you are. You may own houses, stocks 'n' bonds . . . you may have family and friends . . . but, when it comes right down to brass tacks, you're just a hoofer, on a lone trail, passing from a camp you've forgotten to a camp you've never seen.

Homes are good . . . riches are good . . . love and friendship are good . . . but they're all just temporary equipment, like the shovels and hatchets Black Ulysses got from the Quartermaster. Get them and treasure them and use them, when you can. BUT DON'T BANK TOO MUCH ON THEM. For they can't perform any of the real business of living for you. They can't conquer fear for you, nor pain, nor laziness nor dishonesty . . . nor any other part of that WAR which goes on endlessly within you. That scrap is up to YOU . . . no one else is responsible for your success . . . no one is to blame if you fail . . . BUT YOURSELF.

Time doesn't count . . . place doesn't count . . . position and wealth don't count . . . there's nothin' but yourself and your feelings . . . nothin' but you an' the world an' WAR . . . and that invisible partner some men call God and some men never name . . . but all men feel, through their loneliness.

A cynical way to look at things . . . a sad way? That depends on you, stranger. If you haven't much spine it'll probably drive you hay wire. BUT IF YOU'VE GOT THE STUFF, IT'S THE BULLIEST WAY THERE IS TO LOOK AT LIFE, FOR IT PUTS THE WHOLE THING UP TO YOU.

You can take your choice. You can call it LONELINESS . . . . in which case, you'll probably just lie down and trail your ears and howl like a lost pup . . . . or you can call it FREEDOM and stand up and shout, as Black Ulysses did:

"NOTHIN' BUT MYSELF 'AN' MY FEELIN'S, BUT . . . .
I GOT RAINBOW TIED 'ROUND MY SHOULDER,
WINGS HITCHED TO MY FEET . . . ."

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

THE third section, the placental mammals, includes all the better known mammals alive today. They are distinquished from the marsupials by a number of points—their brains, for example, are better developed—but the essential difference lies in the way their young are produced.

H. S. Wells.

The placentals are thoroughgoing mammals, as their name implies they possess true placentas, and for this reason they are able to house and nourish the embryo in the uterus until it is pretty nearly able to run about by itself. The marsupials on the other hand develop no true placenta and so bring forth their young in a state of inconvenient immaturity; hence the need for the pouch.

We need not examine the great variety of placentals in any detail (there are 15 orders living today and many extinct ones); we will merely take note of some of the most interesting and important forms and refer the reader to the Zoological Gardens and the Museum of Natural History where their characteristics can be far more profitably studied.

The placental mammals are conveniently divided into four great cohorts based upon their way of life, and particularly upon the uses to which they put their hands, feet and teeth.

We may distinguish as a first cohort the great assembly known as Ungulates or hoofed mammals, a group of vegetarians having flattish-topped but knobbly or ridged molars for the grinding up of plant tissues, for the most part large beasts using their four limbs exclusively for supporting their bodies and for locomotion.

We may note as examples the three largest and most important orders—the Perrissodactyla (the horses and their close relatives, the asses and zebras, the tapirs and the rhinoceroses) which put most of their weight on the middle toe of each foot, the Artiodactyla (the pigs and hippopotami and the great cud-chewing assembly of camels, llamas, oxen, sheep, goats, antelopes, deer and giraffes) which divide their weight equally between the third and fourth toes, and the Proboscidea or elephants.

The second cohort is the Unguiculates or clawed mammals. To this cohort belongs, amongst other orders, the Rodentia or gnawing mammals (rabbits, rats, mice, squirrels, porcupines, beavers, jerboas); the Insectivora, or insect-eating mammals (hedgehogs, shrew-mice, moles); the Chiroptera, or bats; the Carnivora or beasts of prey (cats, dogs, bears, civets, weasels, badgers, hyenas, otters, seals, walruses), and the toothless Edentata (sloths, true anteaters, armadillos).

They are, on the whole, smaller than the ungulates, and they are an altogether more varied cohort. Their feet are not so exclusively used for carrying their weight as those of the hoofed mammals and they may be turned to a variety of other purposes. Many of the clawed mammals can grasp and hold things with their paws (which no ungulate can do) and many of them can climb.

In some the claws are strong and the hand is specialized for digging; the mole and the anteater illustrate this. In seals and walruses, which spend a large part of their lives in water, the hands and feet are paddles. And many of the unguiculates can fly.

The flying squirrels and the so-called flying lemur have parachute-like folds of skin between their arms and legs by means of which they can skim down from the trees on which they live; and the bats, having flying membranes between the enormously elongated fingers of their hands, can flutter and twist and turn as nimbly as any bird.

The clawed mammals are also more catholic in their diet than the hoofed mammals; as a general rule (and except for the rodents, which will eat anything), they do not consume leaves and stems as the flat-toothed ungulates do, but feed on other animals or on fruits and the juicier parts of plants.

The third cohort is the Primates, and includes the lemurs, the monkeys and apes, and ourselves. It is difficult to separate this cohort clearly from the ungulates, for the lemurs are in many respects like some of the insectivores and extinct carnivores.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Thoughts while strolling: A tea room called "The Meeting House." Who remembers when isolation homes were pest houses? Fake raincoat sales. An old fashioned quilt shop. Ralph Barton, a Kansas City (Mo.) boy, who made good in the city. Joe Urban's back resembles the back of a hack.

Most of the old Waldorf employes are now at the Hotel Governor Clinton. Those nervous fellows who are always twisting their necks in their collars. So many chauffeurs wearing horn-rimmed glasses. The snow-white 5th avenue bus with safety mottoes in gold. Frank Fay.

Boys who wear the wide-shouldered Ulsters. And puff S-shaped pipes. The new cageless banks—like a sombre, paneled wing in the Metropolitan Museum. Shawled old women who resemble Ruth Draper's imitations. Short ladies grown tall in long skirts. Rothstein's apartment house, the Fairfield, now the Franconia.

Winter panhandlers who wear several suits of heavy underwear. And go about without overcoats—for sympathy. Cockatoo ladies with white streaks in their hair. Those deferential assistant hotel managers who stand about—bowing from the waist. Louis Bromfield, the novelist.

W. R. Hearst, Jr., resembles his father. Foppish Japs with slight mustaches and beady bright eyes. Vaudeville scouts who talk of "catching an act." Immaculate flappers with upturned sickles of hair plastered on their cheeks. What's become of all the diamond bracelets? Dean Palmer.

Easy money boys of a few weeks ago began to look seedy. Purple tinted Chows. A Rockwell Kent lithograph attracts a window crowd. Lads who put on dinner jackets to stand about lobbies on first nights—but never see the show. Nothing so interesting as a cabinet display of theatrical photographs.

Harry Hirshfield is getting snow white too. Clare Luce swathed in black furs. And they say you can pick up a mink coat for a song these days. Sammy Shipman, the playwright. A dollar an hour punching bag studio. Don Marquis, from California. Ruddy and beaming!

When a theater ballyhoos a new production as a "Limited Engagement" it is another way of saying they do not expect it to linger long.

"Why," writes someone, "does any mention of a night boat to Albany on the stage always inspire a guilty snigger? I chuckle myself, although I was never on one."

I wish that was all I had to worry about.

* * *

Just now I am concerned about the statement of a distinguished scientific gentleman at a dinner last night that we have no absolute proof that what looks like a material object—say a chair—is anything more than a mental image. That makes you catch at your thumbs.

Those who remember Coogan's Bluff in Harlem as mostly shanties, dump heaps and roaming goats should see it today. Ramparted with skyscraping apartments, it is a fairyland of light at night. The Polo Grounds—so called because polo is never played there—occupies a vast acreage with its baseball amphitheater. Along the Harlem River stretches the famous Speedway with its stone parapet and constant procession of costly cars. In the river, once dotted with coal barges, there are now high-speed motorboats, yachts and collegiates in sculls are constantly rushing along. On pleasant Sundays the promenade is filled in the late afternoon with silk-hatted men and fashionably dressed women who may enjoy a three-mile straightaway walk without crossing a street intersection.

Come to think of it, there isn't much to an artichoke. But there is no vegetable you order providing so much genuine fun.

And if there is anything providing a gustatory tang like a bowl of hot chili on a wintry night, I have never found it. Indeed it doesn't always have to be hot. I have often enjoyed it off my vest, cold.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

EMPLOYERS, do not ridicule the employe who comes to you with suggestions which he thinks would improve the service of your establishment.

His ideas may be impracticable, may even seem a bit silly to you. But don't tell him so, though you may think it. He is interested in his work in the establishment or he would not be considering matters in the way of improvement to the plant.

Too many employers fail to give merited hearings to employes who try to take a constructive interest in the practical working of a business. They give the impression of not having time to listen to suggestions. They not only fail to display interest, but many even walk away while the man is talking or proceed with particular work as if he no longer existed.

Naturally the employe who receives such treatment feels that the suggestions are not wanted and he ceases to propose betterments.

He does mechanically what his job demands.

He loses interest in the success of the institution and becomes an automaton with a pay envelope perspective.

Then he ceases to be of full value to the concern.
